TWO NURSES SLAIN BY GUN EXPLOSION OUTSIDE NEW YORK

LINER CARRIED BASE HOSPITAL NO. L

New York, May 21.—In an accident during practice firing at sea yesterday of a gun aboard an armed American merchantman bound for Europe, two American Red Cross nurses have been killed and a third wounded, marking virtually the first American casualty of the war.

The two killed were Mrs. Edith Ayres and Miss Helen Burnett Wood, of Chicago, and the wounded is said to be Miss Emma Matsen, of Chicago, members of base hospital number 1, bound for duty in France.

The ship which sailed returned today, her flag at half mast, with the two bodies and the wounded nurse, who was taken in a tug to the New York navy yard hospital. Official announcement of the cause of the accident has been withheld by both army and navy authorities here.

One version obtained when the steamship reached quarantine was that the shell from the gun had exploded about 175 feet distant just as it was striking the water and that pieces of the shell ricochetted back and struck the nurses. Another was that the accident was caused by a breech explosion of a defective shell as the gun was fired.

Another was that the shell exploded as it was being loaded. As soon as the ship had reported at quarantine she came up the bay and anchored. It was announced that no one would be allowed aboard the vessel and her owners said that they knew nothing whatever of the causes or circumstances

ROBERT KLAEHN WILL RECEIVE COMMISSION

Robert Klaehn, jr., of this city, who is taking training at Fort Benjamin Harrison for the officers' reserve corps, in a letter to his father states that he has notice that he will receive a commission as second lieutenant.

He states further that the training which is being given there for the men is strenuous and severe and many of the boys are harboring strained and stiff muscles as a result. The latest drill that the men had was a nine-mile hike. The doctors at the camp are busy vaccinating the men and innoculating them against typhoid fever.

Mr. Klaehn states that Maurice Niezer, Fred Eggiman and Jim Rose, all of this city, are in his company.

Alarming Reports of Disloyalty Have Reached Federal Commissioner.

SECRET SERVICE MEN HAVE BEEN ASKED FOR

Band of Pro-Germans Said to Have Raised $500 Fund for Fatherland.

United States Commissioner T. J. Logan has appealed to federal authorities at Indianapolis to furnish secret service men for the Fort Wayne district in order that the exact status of what is represented to him to be a strong pro-German movement, may be ascertained.

If all reports brought to Commissioner Logan within the past week are true, there are citizens of Fort Wayne who are guilty of plotting against the government. Proof of such action would mean conviction for treason. The penalty is death.

Five men called at the federal commissioner's office Saturday afternoon to expose what appears to be a bold effort to assist the forces of our national enemy. These men reported to the United States commissioner that several citizens of German descent in Fort Wayne, had banded together to raise a war fund to aid Germany.

The band of Teuton sympathizers have already collected $500, Commissioner Logan was told, and the anti-American citizens were now planning a method whereby they might be able to get the money to the distressed fatherland.

The men who reported the case said that they had learned that the Fort Wayne men were only carrying out a part of an organized plot to furnish Germany with war funds. Many

WHAT IS GOING ON AT FT. HARRISON

[Staff Correspondence.]

Fort Benjamin Harrison, near Indianapolis, Ind., May 21—I am breaking butterless bread today with 5,000 future Funstons.

I am looking over the chaps you and I will have to salute when we answer the selective service call.

Forty thousand in all are being broken in, in various parts of the country, and 1,000 of this 40,000 will be wearing soldiers' straps within a month.

There's the keenest competition going on to be among the first thousand—at odds of 39 to 1.

Only two other camps of the officers' reserve corps approach this one in size. Those are the camps at Plattsburg, N. Y., and at Fort Sheridan, near Chicago. The three are "double camps."

There are "single camps" at Sacketts Harbor, N. Y.; Fort Niagara, near Buffalo; Fort Myer, Virginia; Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., which is near Chattanooga; Fort McPherson, at Atlanta; Fort Roots, at Little Rock; Fort Snelling, near St. Paul; Fort Riley, near Junction City, Kan.; Leon Springs, close to San Antonio, Texas, and the Presidio of San Francisco.

BOTH HAIG AND PETAIN THRUST AT GERMAN LINE

ITALIANS ALSO CONTINUE TO ADVANCE

Generals Haig and Petain are again pushing ahead with their offensive in northern France and today both report new gains.

After driving into the Hindenburg line along a mile front yesterday morning in the sector northwest of Bullecourt they resumed their attacks last evening and captured a support trench behind the position just taken.

BRITISH OFFICIAL REPORT.

London, May 21.—British troops during last evening captured a support trench behind the Hindenburg line, it was announced this morning by the war office.

The statement reads: "Our operations in the Hindenburg line, between Bullecourt and Fontaine-les-Croisilles, were continued with success during the night. Our troops, which had carried a front trench in the Hindenburg line yesterday morning, and had repelled several counter attacks, renewed the attack in the evening and after hand to hand fighting, captured a support trench also.

FRENCH WIN TRENCHES.

Paris, May 21.—Several lines of German trenches in the Champagne, near Moronvillers, were captured last night by the French, the war office announces.

A German attack near Froidmont farm was checked before the enemy was able to reach our lines. The enemy undertook no further attack after the complete check of his general assault, undertaken yesterday.

"There were brief, but violent artillery actions between Mitte and the Aisne and northwest of Rheims. In the region of Cheverux we made progress and took prisoners.

"In the Champagne yesterday evening we carried out on two sectors of the heights near Moronvillers an operation which resulted in an important and brilliant success. Our troops captured several lines of German trenches on the slopes north of Carnillet at the Casque and at the Teton. Furthermore all the important obser

MANY OFFICERS TO BE GIVEN SERVICE ON GENERAL STAFF

Washington, May 21.—A board of general officers of the army headed by Brigadier General Kernan, acting assistant chief of staff, was in session today selecting fifty majors and captains of the line to be designated for duty on the general staff. The army bill signed by the president last week removes restriction upon the number of staff officers who may be kept in Washington and the full strength of three general officers and eighty-eight others will be maintained hereafter.

Additional staff officers are necessary in connection with the organization of the canonments to begin in July when the national guard is assembled in divisional units. There will be 32 camps altogether and an officer of the general staff will be assigned to each. It is regarded as probable also that a number of staff officers will be sent to the front in France, possibly with Gen. Pershing's force, to return after a few weeks and aid in the compilation of instruction manuals for troops which will incorporate modern developments of modern warfare.

BRITAIN'S WAR MISSION NEARS CLOSE OF STAY

Washington, D. C., May 21.—The British war mission entered today its fifth and final week in this country. With the practical conclusion of the negotiations over trade matters the decision to send an American army to Europe and the transfer of naval negotiations to London, practically all the major issues which brought the visitors here have been settled.

What remains now is the detailed working out of policies by experts. Much of this, specially as to embargoes, rationing, foot control, ship construction and the like, demand on the powers, to be conferred by congress in legislation now pending. A number of experts in the British mission will remain in Washington indefinitely to discuss further details with American officials.

VON RINTELEN WILL KNOW HIS FATE THIS DAY

New York, May 21.—Sentence will be pronounced by Judge Cushman in the federal court here this afternoon on Captain Franz Rintenlin, of the Germany navy; David Lamar, the "Wolf of Wall Street," and Henry B. Martin, who was secretary of Labor's National Peace council. The trio were found guilty late last night for conspiring to tie up the nation's munitions plants by fomenting strikes and by promoting German propaganda by means of Labor's National Peace council.

The jury, which had been out more than 29 hours, disagreed on the four other defendants—former Representative Frank Buchanan, of Chicago, and first president of the council; former Representative H. Robert Fowler, of Elizabethtown, Ill., counsel to the organization; Jacob L. Taylor, a labor leader of Orange, N. J., who introduced Buchanan as president, and Herman Schultels, of East Orange, N. J., who tried to be named as assistant counsel to the organization.

Summary of the Day's War News

GERMANY SEEKS TO LURE SPAIN WITH PRETTIES

Amsterdam, May 21.—According to a Berlin dispatch the German undersecretary for foreign affairs told a Spanish newspaper man that Germany's reply to Spain's note on the sinking of the Spanish steamer Patricio was handed the Spanish ambassador on Saturday. The character of the note was intimated by the undersecretary in declaring that Germany was actuated by a desire for the friendliest feeling to exist between Germany and Spain. The official said that the sinking of Spanish ships should be blamed on England because that country had delayed the passage of vessels. He said Germany wished Spain to be strong and was prepared to encourage her developments after the war by every possible means. He added that plans had been made to organize steamship lines between Hamburg and Spanish ports and that Germany had also organized a company to buy Spain's grain crop.

Washington, May 21.—Announcement was made today that the British official mission will finally leave Washington next week for a brief visit to Chicago and then visit Toronto, Montreal, and Ottawa. In Chicago the arrangements for the mission's entertainment will be in the hands of Mayor Thompson and will include a formal luncheon.

Shipping problems were discussed today first by Secretary Balfour with members of the mission and later with Chairman Denman and Major General Goethals, of the shipping board. British trade experts in conference with American officials have worked out accurately the amount of tonnage necessary to continue the lifeflow to the allies and the shipping board has a detailed program for meeting the need.

The British are understood to have supplied a priority schedule of the order of importance of the various exports with the minimum amounts necessary. At the same time they have supplied the shipping board with full figures of their total tonnage for the new construction and rate of depletion. Officials have stated frequently recently that the rate of destruction is most dangerous though not yet fatal.

Mr. Balfour today also saw J. P. Morgan and it is understood they discussed the future relations of Morgan & Co. to the British government. Just as the former have given up placing loans now that the government is doing that work, it is probable that they will also give up the purchase of munitions and other supplies when the detailed arrangements for a central official buying committee are completed.

Christopher Phillips, of the board of trade, will remain in this country after the mission goes. It is probable also that Lord Eustace Percy, Judge Ames, Judge Rees, of the aviation corps, and Geoffrey Butler, of the foreign office, will also stay on, with possibly others.

Twenty-First to Thirty-First Birthdays Age Limits for Select Service Army.

The word "inclusive" in the army select service law, which says, "all male persons between the ages of 21 and 30, both inclusive, shall be subject to registration," means all men BETWEEN THEIR TWENTY-FIRST AND THIRTY-FIRST BIRTHDAYS ON THE DATE OF REGISTRATION.

This is especially pointed out by authorities at Washington because inquiries showed many men who had passed their thirtieth birthday had the impression they would not be required to register.

All men must register, under penalty of one year imprisonment, except "officers and enlisted men of the regular army, the navy and the national guard and naval militia WHILE IN THE SERVICE OF THE UNITED STATES."

Exemptions are made after registration.

NORTH FRANCE TOTAL CHAOS

LANDMARKS ARE ENTIRELY GONE

Paris, May 6.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Such preliminary measures as have been taken for the reconstruction of the devastated regions in France have developed many difficulties, the greatest of which, particularly in the region of the Somme and the Oise recently evacuated by the Germans, is to establish the boundary lines of property from which not only the buildings have disappeared, but from which every landmark has been torn.

Deeds of records and all other papers that would aid in reconstituting titles to property, which plans of towns and public buildings have been burned with municipal and diplomatical archives in a great many towns and villages. Brooks and rivers from which bearings might be taken have been diverted from their courses. Where partition walls stood between two places are in many places the gaping craters of mines that blew away all traces of property lines.

Bitter Lawsuits Ahead.

The small land holder is much attached to the soil and jealous of the slightest parcel of land upon which his labor has been expended. He will fight to the last ditch for what he considers his landed rights. Consequently it is feared that there are innumerable lawsuits in prospect.

Property boundaries also have been modified since the war began by public work executed for the purposes of the army. Many new railroad lines constructed for strategical purposes will be found so useful that they will become permanent.

"The geographic reconstruction of the entire region of the battle of Arras, the battle of the Somme, the battle of St. Quentin and the battel of Lens," said M. Accrambray, deputy for the department of the Aisne, to a correspondent of the Associated Press, "as well as of other regions along the front in zones that have been battered for nearly three years by heavy artillery will be a long, minute, laborious task, developing countless contests and it is feared, interminable litigation."

"We can only hope that the Germans will be made to disgorge the booty they carried away from these regions and that in it will be found documents and records that will help us in this complicated labor."

Will Adhere to Local Styles.

Public sentiment seems to have settled down to the decision that in the rebuilding of the destroyed cities and villages the architectural traditions of each region shall be respected so far as style and material of construction are concerned, with only such concessions to modernization as are requisite for perfect hygiene.

There will probably be no more narrow streets and there will be more air and light, that is to say more windows and doors to let in more sunshine, but that is as far as it has been possible to lead public opinion toward modern ideas of construction. How to accomplish these reforms without modifying the originality and particular characteristics of each individual town is being studied by architects. The municipal council of the town of Clermont-en-Argonne, which was entirely burned by the Germans in their retreat from the Marne, have organized a competition among architects for the preparation of plans for re-building the town as far as possible in its original style, but with wider streets and new squares and parks. One thing the architects are ordered not to touch is the broad, deep, old fireplace, around which families will gather on winter evenings for years to come to listen to stories of the invasion and the battles of the great war.

CHICAGO TEACHERS FEDERATION QUITS

After Much Contention It Has Withdrawn from Organized Labor.

Chicago, May 21.—The Chicago Teachers' federation, the center of some dissension in the public school system in the last two years, has severed its connection with organized labor, it was announced by the Chicago Federation of Labor today. John Fitzpatrick, president of the labor federation, said that the action was necessary because of the ruling of Jacob Loeb, president of the board of education, probing teacher membership in labor unions. He added that since the supreme court had held that boards of education in Illinois have the right to refuse to employ as a teacher any one who is, or is not, a member of the labor union, the withdrawal of the teachers' organization was the only way to keep it intact.

LICKING 'EM INTO SHAPE

There's wealth as well as erudition among those present. I saw today the son of an Indiana motor magnate helping an overalled negro tote a mortarboard; and the scion of a hotel family that charges 10 cents for butter ate bread today without any butter—as did 5,000 others.

Few tents are up; the men are housed in permanent barracks or in "cantonments"—long wooden sheds. One section of the military reservation is all cantonments under construction. Take away the green grass and it would look as Columbus, N. M., did, shortly after the Villa raid.

The rat-tat-tat of hammers can hardly be distinguished from the bang-ety-bang of rifles on the target range.

Lads who use to rise lazily at 7 or 7:30 now spring out of their cots at the first blast of the 5:30 bugle.

All day they march and drill and study and sweat, and perspiration is just as sticky under the Indiana sun as it is down by the Rio Grande.

I saw one man collapse from the heat. Standing at attention, he fell forward suddenly, without bending, and the four students nearest picked him up. Nobody else paid any attention. They get used to little things like that.

A quarter of the rookies have not received complete uniforms; a sprinkling of civilian clothes in the drilling ranks show this.

The men drill as privates in the army do; they've got to learn to be soldiers before they can be officers. They carry rifles and wear bayonets. Khaki columns are tramping all the nearby roads in the early forenoon.

Colonel Edwin F. Glenn, a grizzled veteran, is commander; Major Hanson E. Ely is chief instructor.

Major Ernest L. Ruffner, chief medical officer, was having all comers vaccinated today, and lecturing the embryo officers on care of their feet.

Under Major T. Victor Keene, chief sanitary officer, other sprigs of the money tree were acting as village whitewings—work they wouldn't do elsewhere to earn a million or enter a college frat.

"When in doubt, salute," is a camp motto; students will salute almost anybody they don't know until they learn to tell an honest-to-goodness officer when they see one.

No evidence of snobbishness or caddishness crops out; $10,000-a-year men fraternize with ex-regulars fresh from the factory.

Eighty per cent of the Indiana men and a somewhat smaller proportion of the others are college students or graduates.

wealthy men in the United States are engaged in the treasonous act, according to the story.

The United States commissioner has ordered the men who reported the case to obtain more information on the plot subject. If sufficient grounds are produced Commissioner Logan will not hesitate to bring action, he states. The plot, if really under way, would be considered treason and the men engaged in the scheme to aid our enemies would be placed on trial for their lives.

Verbal Assaults Reported.

Reports of pro-German acts and statements havs been growing more and more numerous of late, says Commissioner Logan. Several cases of flag desecration have been more than hinted at. The federal officer has made an attempt to investigate, but has been unable to locate direct evidence of such conduct, he states.

The fact that complaints have been coming in numbers, however, warrants the belief that such a hostile spirit must be abroad, Commissioner Logan says. He has written to Indianapolis asking that secret service men be furnished to make thorough investigation of cases reported to him.

"Disloyalty must be weeded out," says Commissioner Logan. "This is no time for our boasted American tolerance. Treason must not be abroad in this dark hour. We must all show that we are Americans. The government needs every man's help and no citizen's opposition will be tolerated."

"The situation is indeed a grave one. We must commit no act of injustice to any of our citizens. No action will be taken until there is ample proof of guilt. Many words are hastily spoken. Tongues must be guarded. Conviction on a charge of verbal assault against the government carries a heavy penalty. Conviction of treason means death."

Commissioner Logan wrote a letter to a well known Fort Wayne citizen on Saturday afternoon in which he warned the man that his conduct had been reported as being one of hostility to our government and the president.

GERMAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

Berlin, May 21.—The Germans on the Arras front yesterday maintained their positions except in one demolished trench which was evacuated according to plan during the British attack Sunday on an eight and one-half mile front, says the official statement issued today by the German army headquarters staff. The German announcement says the French yesterday obtained a foothold at Mont Carnillet and on Montkeil. Yesterday the Germans brought down fourteen entente airplanes on the western front.

ON THE MACEDONIAN FRONT.

Sofia, Sunday, May 20.—(Via London, May 21.)—The repulse of further entente attacks on the Macedonian front is announced by the war office. The official communication follows: "After long artillery preparation the enemy launched several violent attacks east of Dobropolye. They broke down under our machine guns and rifle fire. Enemy parties which succeeded in approaching our lines were annihilated with hand grenades. Heavy losses were sustained by the enemy.

ITALIANS ADVANCE AGAIN.

Rome, May 21.—(Via London, 6:55 p. m.)—Italian troops yesterday took a hill between Palliova and Britovo in their offensive on the Julian front and also extended their positions on the Vodice says the official statement issued today by the Italian war department.

GERMAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

Berlin, May 21.—(Via London.)—An engagement between German and French torpedo boats off the coast of Flanders is reported in an official announcement by the admiralty. The announcement says: "On the morning of the 20th off the coast of Flanders a short outpost engagement took place between German and French torpedo boats. The enemy boats were repeatedly hit by our artillery and our vessels returned without losses or damages.

The French official statement issued yesterday reported that a flotilla of German destroyers had been driven back to its base by a patrol of four French torpedo boats. The statement said that one of the French vessels had suffered some damage.

BACK TO OLDEN DAYS.

London, May 6.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—More and more the men in the trenches are becoming to resemble their armor clad forebears. The latest innovation is the chain mail veil draped from the steel helmets. The invention is that of a London specialist and it has proved its value. The steel veil hangs from a rod across the helmet in front and protects the eyes and face while not interfering enough with the sight to impair the soldier's efficiency.

GERMANY BOWS TO SWEDEN.

Copenhagen, via London, May 21, 9:30 a. m.—The German minister at Stockholm is reported in news dispatches to have visited the Swedish foreign minister and expressed deepest regret at the sinking of the Swedish steamers Vesterland, Viken and Aspen.

The Aspen, Vesterland and Viken were sunk in the gulf of Bothnia, several members of the crews losing their lives. The vessels were laden with grain and released from British ports by the British government under a reciprocal agreement. The news of their destruction caused intense indignation in Sweden.

FORT WAYNE YOUNG MAN DIES IN SOUTH

Trafford Wilson Had Gone to Asheville, N. C., to Benefit Health.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Wilson, 1134 West Berry street, received a message Sunday night informing them of the death of their son, Trafford McCrea Wilson, which occurred at Asheville, North Carolina. The young man had gone there a month ago for his health, and although he had been in ill health for some time, news of his death was entirely unexpected.

Trafford Wilson was 24 years old, and had lived in Fort Wayne all his life. He received his education in the Fort Wayne schools, graduating from the high school. He then attended the University of Michigan and Indiana university. He was well known here, especially among the younger people, and news of his death comes as a severe shock to his many friends.

Surviving besides the parents is a sister, Miss Eleanor Wilson, who has been attending Elmhurst school. The remains will be brought to this city for burial.

Funeral announcements will be made later. Friends are kindly asked to omit flowers.

COHN.

Mrs. Ida Alice Cohn, wife of Simon J. Cohn, died Sunday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock at the family residence, 3701 Webster street, after an illness of four years from cancer. The deceased was fifty-four years old. She was born in Perry township and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bowser, late pioneer residents of Allen county. Surviving are the husband, three sisters, Mrs. Elnora Morrison, of Evansville, Wis.; Mrs. Elizabeth Ryan, of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. M. C. Ryan, of Pierceton, Ind.; two brothers, George W. Bowser and Sylvester Bowser, of this city. The parents, six sisters and three brothers preceded her in death. Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, Rev. French officiating. Interment at Lindenwood.

BRANDT.

Mrs. Caroline Brandt, widow of Fred Brandt, died Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Schroeder, in Marion township, five miles north of Fort Wayne. The deceased was 87 years old and was born in Niederwehrn, Germany. She came to Allen county at the age of 33 years. Mrs. Brandt had been an invalid for the past two years. Besides the daughter, she is survived by eight grandchildren and six great grandchildren. Funeral services Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the residence of the daughter and at 2 o'clock at Trinity Lutheran church on the Decatur road.

BROWN.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Mary A. Brown, formerly of Fort Wayne, which occurred at Mt. Vernon, Ohio, last Friday. She was 92 years old. Mrs. Brown was the mother of Harvey H. Brown, who formerly lived on East Washington boulevard and was employed as foreman in the Bass foundry. She was the sister of the late Thomas R. Pickard. Mrs. G. R. Bell and Ralph Brown, grandchildren, have gone to attend the funeral.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Gallmeyer.—Funeral services for William Gallmeyer will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 at the residence in Adams township, and at 2:30 at the St. Martini church, Rev. Stocks officiating. Interment in the church cemetery.

IRELAND ASKED TO FRAME SELF CONSTITUTION

London, May 21—4:10 p.m.—It was announced by Premier Lloyd George in the house of commons today that the government proposed to summon immediately a convention of representative Irishmen in Ireland to submit to the British parliament a constitution for the future government of Ireland.

The convention, said the premier, would be representative of the local governing bodies, the churches, the trade unions and commercial and educational interests, and would include Sinn Feiners. The delegates would be chosen by the respective bodies. John Redmond, the nationalist leader, speaking after the premier had made his announcement, said that for the first time in her history Ireland has been asked virtually to settle a problem for herself.

"I take it for granted," he added, "that all sections of Irishmen feel it their duty to come in."

skull from which death resulted shortly afterward at St. Joseph hospital. The accident occurred Sunday afternoon at the family residence, 617 Lawton Place. Stier was engaged in putting up screens at the time.

The deceased was fifty years and ten months old and had lived in Fort Wayne all his life. He had been employed for years in local department stores, and had held his present position with Teppers about a year and a half. Surviving are the widow, formerly Miss Tillie Traub; two children, Paul and Charlotte; four sisters, Miss Sophia Stier, Mrs. Katherine Fitzgibbons, Mrs. Mary Beadell and Mrs. Elizabeth Schuckman; two brothers, Jacob and George Stier, all of this city. Funeral announcements later. Friends are asked to omit flowers.

MISSOURI RATE LAW UPHELD BY SUPREME COURT

Washington, May 21.—Provisions of Missouri statutes of 1909, prohibiting railroads from fixing higher freight rates for a short than a long haul, whether such rate discrimination is reasonable or unjust, were today sustained as constitutional by the supreme court.

NO PARADE FOR THE ELKS.

Boston, May 21.—The parade, which is usually a prominent feature of national conventions of the Order of Elks, will be omitted at the gathering here in July, Edward Righter, grand exalted ruler, has written to the convention committee, endorsing its decision that the parade be dispensed with and saying all display should be avoided and attention centered on determining the most patriotic service the order can perform.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

Warren, Ind., May 21.—Citizens of Warren, which was once the lively center of the Indiana oil field, have taken the first step in their effort to secure a "come-back" of the long departed oil boom. Milton Anderson, well known oil well driller, has started operations of drilling for oil at the eastern border of the town. He is using a string of tools belonging to W. P. Fredricks, whose name was once prominent in Indiana oil fields.

People of Warren entertain high hopes for the outcome of the drilling venture. They believe there are several untapped pockets of oil near the town. If the well now being drilled proves a success there will be other efforts to renew the Warren field. The present high price of oil makes the speculating worth the while, oil men say. An effort will also be made to renew several of the old oil wells which have been abandoned because the supply had run low.

SHULL COMPLETES SENTENCE.

Portland, Ind., May 21.—Guy Shull, Bryant druggist, who recently pleaded guilty to a charge of conducting a blind tiger at Bryant, on Saturday completed a sixty day jail sentence imposed on him by Judge McGriff, along with the fine of $50 and costs. The fine and costs totaling $67.25 had not been paid up to noon Saturday and Shull was still a prisoner. S. J. Renner, also of Bryant, was in jail under a similar charge. Shull was released shortly after the noon hour.

BERNE BOY HURT.

Berne, Ind., May 21.—Omen Amstutz, aged 15, son of John Amstutz, living a mile and a half south of Berne, was thrown from his wheel when he collided with a car driven by George Jones, of Blue Creek township. The boy was taken to the office of Dr. Jones, where examination showed bruises about the arm and knee. No bones were broken and his injuries are not serious.

MRS. WILLIAM KERFOOT DEAD.

Bluffton, Ind., May 21.—Mrs. William Kerfoot, of 203 West Washington street, passed away Saturday after a short illness from inflammatory rheumatism. Her death came as a shock not only to the family, but to the entire community. While it was known to many that she was very sick, few ever believed that her sickness would be fatal.

CANCER FROM INFECTED TOOTH.

Huntington, Ind., May 21.—S. W. Randall, a barber, has a cancer on his jaw as the result of an infected tooth which first began hurting him last September. Specialists say he can live only a short time, as the sore has eaten away most of the side of his face, and is approaching the jugular vein.

HONORED AT OXFORD.

Oxford, Ohio, May 21.—Two northern Indiana girls were honored by the junior class of the Western College for Women. Miss Helen Schaab, of Auburn, was elected president and Miss Mary Frysinger, of Decatur, was chosen treasurer.

POSTPONE IMPROVEMENTS.

Hartford City, Ind., May 21.—Plans for increasing the capacity of the American window glass factory have been abandoned for the year. Inability of contractors to obtain shipment of necessary materials is responsible.

BUILDING AN ADDITION.

Huntington, Ind., May 21.—The Huntington Steel Foundry company is building a 40x80 foot two-story addition to its plant. The addition will be used as a pattern shop and storage room.

DEATH OF LITTLE CHILD.

Monroe, Ind., May 21.—The three-and-a-half-year-old son of Robert Sprunger, a merchant of this place, is dead of measles. The child had been an invalid from birth.

PATRIOTIC WOMAN.

Huntington, Ind., May 21.—Mrs. John Nicholson has given two sons to the United States navy, and now wishes to aid the country by giving the use of an acre of ground for garden purposes.

MUCH DAMAGE IS DONE IN WHITLEY COUNTY

[Special to The Sentinel.]

Columbia City, Ind., May 21.—Lightning wrought an enormous toll during the electrical storm that struck Whitley county Saturday evening between 8 and 10 o'clock. The greatest damage was done on the Harry Weaver farm, two miles southeast of Pierceton, and just across the Whitley county line. Lightning struck one of two barns, and in a few minutes both barns, standing close together, were in flames, as well as a corncrib. All three buildings burned to the ground. In one barn were lost twenty-six head of hogs, a young calf, and a considerable amount of oak lumber and oat straw, while in the other barn a large number of farm implements, several tons of hay, four sets of harness, two brood mares, a colt and sundry other articles were destroyed. A cow, standing between the barns, which stood safely west of the Weaver home, was killed by the lightning bolt, while two straw stacks were leveled. The total loss will reach $7,500, with about $4,000 insurance on buildings and contents. The Weaver family was away from home at the time.

The barn on the west farm of John Lewis, northwest of Collins, was struck by nightning Saturday evening, between 8 and 9 o'clock, and burned to the ground, together with contents consisting largely of farm implements. A granary filled with corn and oats was also badly damaged. The total loss is $2,500, with about $1,000 insurance.

Columbia City Short Items.

Sheriff James Bodley has turned over to Mayor Frank L. Myers a letter from State Fire Marshal Friedly, calling attention to the recent proclamation of Governor Goodrich, asking that city and town councils pass ordinances forbidding the use of explosives and other Fourth of July ordnance this year, for the various precautionary and economic reasons assigned. The mayor will present the matter at the next council meeting.

Miss Nina Jellison, daughter of T. E. Ellison, of South Whitley, and Claude Keller, son of Nelson Keller, of Cleveland township, were wedded Saturday evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Booker of the Baptist church at South Whitley officiating. The young couple will reside on a farm in Cleveland township. The bride formerly taught school at Larwill.

The county and township officers of the Ladies' Auxiliary met with the president, Mrs. John Beeson, in the court house in this city Saturday afternoon and made plans for the annual exhibit, held every November in the Commercial club rooms in this city, in connection with the corn show.

Those Who Will Have Charge of the Lot Sale Inspect Property.

In a score of automobiles, the realty men of the city formed a little parade of their own shortly after noon today when they made a spin to Brook View, the new Wildwood development, for the purpose of becoming thoroughly acquainted with the big tract and the details of the sale of the lots there beginning Wednesday, June 20. Practically all of the members of the Fort Wayne Realty board will unite in a campaign for a quick closing of the sale of Brook View, which has already attracted such wide attention. Upon reaching the sub-division this afternoon, the men gave their first attention to a thorough understanding of the location of all boulevards and streets in order to get clear in their minds the great variety of sites to be offered, and also to be prepared to give every manner of information which the buyer may desire.

If the weather permits, this will be a week of telling activity in Brook View. Delays which have retarded operations for some time are now removed and now the actual work of street building and the installation of all modern improvements will be pushed to a finish. Many interested people took advantage of the fine weather Sunday to see Brook View, and the enthusiastic comment of those who have visited the new sub-division is helping wonderfully in the scheme of publicity which such an important enterprise demands.

Begin To Purify Your Winter-Blood

But Not So Well As This Sulpherb Tablet—Sugar Coated.

Through the winter the blood accumulates poisons because you do not perspire enough, because you do not live in the open air, and because you eat more meat, mush and other rich foods. Every spring we feel sluggish, constipated, liver and kidney ills beset us, colds and chronic coughs, pimples, boils and carbuncles, all evidence of impure, thick, sluggish blood.

Sulpherb Tablets (not sulphur tablets) are composed of extracts of roots and herbs, combined with sulphur and cream of tartar—and no better physic, blood-tonic and blood cleanser has ever been developed. Every spring thousands who already know their value take them to purify the system of Winter Poisons. Now is the time to begin, so you won't be attacked by serious ailments when Spring and Summer come. Sold by all druggists 50c per sealed tube with full directions.

WAR BONDS NO ENCUMBRANCE.

If you invest in war bonds they will not in any wise nor to any extent be an encumbrance. Indeed, these securities will be quite the same as so much cash for they can be converted into cash without trouble and without discount. No stronger or more convenient collateral can be had than the bonds of the national government.

Should a holder of war bonds desire to make some other investment he will not be inconvenienced at all by the fact of his investment in the federal securities because he will be able either to do with them anything that can be done with money or forthwith to convert them into money. The man who thinks he cannot invest in a war bond because he has it in design to begin shortly to buy a home need not hesitate on that account to come to the aid of the government. When he gets ready to proceed with his purchase his war bond will go just as far as his cash could go. The fact of having such an investment and for the first time appreciating that money can be saved will be the start of hundreds and thousands of American citizens upon the road to the ownership of homes. There is no doubt about that. All over the land men and women who have been thriftless and fully of mind that there was no use in trying to save anything because their savings must be so little as to be of no consequence, will be moved by patriotic spirit to strive for the purchase of a small war bond and will understand for the first time how it is possible for anyone with a steady income to hold fast to a bit of it. From such beginnings a great volume of thrift will ensue and thousands of homes will be acquired.

That is the personal and selfish side of the investment in a war bond. There is a higher aspect of the case. The government is in war. It needs billions of dollars. Some of the vast sums that must be used can be obtained by taxation. But for the money needed now the government cannot wait upon taxation. To lay its hands at once upon two billions of cash the treasury is issuing certificates. The navy is being increased. Vast armies are being raised. A mighty merchant marine is to be created. America's allies must be financed. Prodigious stores of food, munitions and arms must be purchased. The government needs money—billions of money—and at once. The only way it can be procured at once is by giving its notes to the people. That is why the issue of liberty bonds has been made and why the people of the nation are asked to buy them.

This is a war for the people—the people everywhere. It is the great and decisive battle for the establishment, maintenance and security of popular rights—the Armageddon of democracy. Until ambitious and ruthless military autocracy is struck down democracy cannot be safe anywhere. That it may be made safe throughout the world, as President Wilson has said, the United States has entered the greatest war of all the world's history. We cannot bear our part in the war, we cannot win the triumph we must have to make our national future secure unless we give the government the money it needs.

Buy a liberty loan bond. If you can buy a thousand-dollar bond, do it. If you can see your way to the purchase of one for but $50, do that. The patriotism of your action will not be determined by the amount of your bond investment, but by the extent of your means. Help your government in its time of critical stress and help yourself to an easy means of getting a start in the world, if you never have made out to save anything. If you have means, then your duty of patriotism is clear and can give you no rest until it is discharged.

FORT WAYNE STANDS UP.

Fort Wayne is setting an example it is to be hoped the balance of the country will note and emulate. In nothing that relates to the patriotic duty of national defense has this city so far been wanting. It has led in recruiting. It was the first to offer to the government a military ambulance. It has sent scores of its young men to the officers' reserve corps training camp. It has enlisted well upon five thousand women for Red Cross service. A fitting climax to all this voluntary service is reached in the enlistment, organization and financing of a complete Red Cross unit for service in the field. This unit—embracing surgeons, medical men, nurses, attendants and a clerical staff—is ready to go. It awaits orders.

The men and women who have enlisted in this Red Cross unit are such as would find fulsomeness distasteful. They have not enlisted in this cause for the praise it may elicit or for any meretricious honors it may bestow. Patriotic duty, service to humanity and high and unselfish professional devotion have been the impulses moving them to voluntary service in the war. That said, as it may be said of them in good truth, and the acknowledgment might seem complete. But it is not here improper to add that it may be doubted if any similar unit will be recruited throughout the entire country that in its personnel will embrace to such a degree men of uncommon qualities of character, professional distinction and scientific attainments as the gentlemen of whom is comprised the medical and surgical contingent of the Fort Wayne Red Cross unit. The nurses who have enlisted for this service are the pick of the profession in this center, that has acquired a wide and well-deserved fame for the character and quality of the nurses that are graduated from its hospital schools and take experience under its physicians and surgeons. This all is said as moderately as may be, if said at all, and it does but a poor measure of justice to the professional men and professional women who are to carry their science and their skill and their ripe experience to the battle fronts of the old world.

This war, as have all our wars, will enlist the volunteered service of the best there is in the professions of medicine and surgery. The medical profession of the United States has never in this respect failed to greatly honor itself and it will not be wanting in this tremendous crisis either in patriotic spirit or courageous response. It is something in which Fort Wayne and the state of Indiana will take a common pride that her professional men and women of the healing art have answered so promptly and so completely the call whose coming was not even awaited.

Those whose patriotic generosity was so freely and promptly extended to assume the financial burdens entailed by this fine emprise of mercy needs but be known to be acknowledged by all whose spirit can give apreciative answer to the good honors that are brought upon this city and state.

THE COLONEL MUSTERS OUT.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt has issued orders disbanding his volunteer divisions. That is to say Colonel Roosevelt has formally released from any obligation that they may have assumed all the men who had enlisted or promised to enlist in his forces.

It is not without a suggestion that he does not wholly acquiesce in the judgment which elects that General Pershing and a division of regulars shall be the first American troops to plant our flag on the trenches in Europe, but allowing for all, the colonel accepts the situation with a notable degree of good grace. During the period that it had seemed this government might not be able for many months to dispatch an expedition to Europe Colonel Roosevelt's proposal to raise several divisions of volunteers for immediate service found no little favor in the country. That it was not at any time regarded with approval by our own military men and that it was in no wise encouraged by the British and French military experts now over here have been undisguisd.

It was upon expert judgment of military authorities both at home and abroad that President Wilson declined for the president to avail the government of Colonel Roosevelt's sword and the services of his volunteers. It is regarded as necessary on many accounts that America send to the front in the beginning the best troops that can be spared and that these shall be followed by men carefully selected and as thoroughly trained as can be possible. This is not President Wilson's judgment. It is the judgment of the British and French military leaders who know what the war is and what is required to meet its conditions.

Colonel Roosevelt should not repine and he is too good a fighter to sulk in his tent. Before this business is well through with there no doubt will be high opportunity for his services abroad.

The little group of obstructionists in the United States senate just simply can't let go of themselves. The army bill would yet be chewed to a pulp if it were a material thing into which LaFollette and the squad of his patriotic confreres could set their teeth.

Liberty loan bonds are issued in denominations all the way from $50 up to $100,000. In case the biggest of these isn't big enough, buy two of them. Uncle Sam will be as obliging as you can wish and will meet you half way and better.

KILL FOOD GAMBLING AND WE CAN FEED WORLD, SAYS TRUST BUSTER

Herbert A. Emerson, is one of the greatest American authorities on food speculation and known as "trust buster." He was largely responsible for prosecution and conviction of wealthy members of New York's "poultry trust." He now is helping Special Attorney Robert W. Childs prosecute food gamblers in Chicago.

BY HERBERT A. EMERSON.

Present food prices are not justified by the law of supply and demand, but have been reached only through systematic and well contrived plans by food extortioners, manipulators, speculators, market-riggers and traders.

The board of trade is simply an instrument used by unscrupulous dealers.

Here early in fall these large grain operators begin to buy and store wheat and other grains as they are threshed.

The farmer is paid on the basis of the August, September and October markets on the board of trade in Chicago.

By December 1, from 70 to 80 per cent of all grains is in the hands of speculators. It is past history and will be history for years to come, if the government does not intervene, that at this seasen the speculators begin to trade in May options, especially in the small grains, to a very large extent.

For many years it has been the intent of these buyers and holders of enormous stocks of grain to force the price as high as possible on the surplus stocks which they are carrying.

Thus we find that the big part of the grain has been taken from the farmers at a very moderate price as was done in the summer and fall of 1916, and then we find that the price in the spring of 1917 is elevated to a tremendous point and the excuse used is that there was a short crop and that the export demand had caused this great rise in price.

From the present outlook, for the next two or three years we must anticipate very large exports of all kinds of foodstuffs.

But with the very best effort made in the matter of production the United States can produce not only all she wants for her own consumption, but she can produce more than double the amount of surplus that there are shipping facilities to carry abroad.

On account of the extreme price that has been paid for a certain part of the surplus to go abroad, we find that the people of the United States are being charged for all the grain that is consumed at home on a basis of the very highest point reached for grain to go abroad.

In the meat industry we find a similar condition. During the big packing season of this year hogs sold at from $10 to $12 per hundred in the Chicago market, and then, after the hams and bacon were put away and the lard had been accumulated in cold storage warehouses, when the ordinary run of hogs had become so small all the pork killed could be consumed as fresh pork, the meat packers began to bid up the price until it reached the extreme of $17 for live hogs in the Chicago market.

Without necessity and with no excuse except that of extorting a big profit from the poor consumers of the new and old worlds, these same packers have elevated the price of all their meat products in storage to a level with the extreme price paid during April and May for the few hogs shipped from the farms at that time.

TAXING THE SURPLUS.

(South Bend Tribune.)

If an editor had initiated the following suggestion he might have met with more or less protest. But as it happens the originator of the idea is a banker and a man who himself will be subject to the working out of the plan. He is J. S. Bache, a New Yorker, and his suggestion is that the surpluses of industrial concerns should be taxed by the government to raise war revenues.

This suggestion might at least open a productive field even though its working out may not be so practical as the banker-sponsor thinks. The field includes the undivided surplus earnings of the big corporations, particularly, which have not yet found their way to the stockholders but are lying unused in the treasuries of the companies. Practically no form of taxation reaches these undivided earnings under present conditions. Their total is millions.

Mr. Bache's idea is to compel the immediate distribution of these wartime profits to the stockholders and then follow up the distribution with the income tax collection system. No new law, aside from the one compelling the distribution of the earnings, is contemplated. No doubt such a plan would please stockholders of corporations which have made it a habit for years to pay dividends of only 6 per cent and spend the surplus buying lands, mines and other things from favored insiders on boards of directors. Could it be possible that Mr. Bache had something like this in mind? Even so the scheme would be a popular revenue producer.

POSSIBILITIES OF BAD VERSE.

(New Republic.)

No one has yet written any adequate appreciation of the possibilities of bad verse. The verse, I mean, that is composed at the crises of life, on the mountain tops of exultation and in the joyless valleys by persons unskilled and ordinary unpoetic. The verse that is hidden away in vases and bureau drawers, never to be shown, and always produced in some moment of vanity. Only a true poet could write a just appreciation of bad verse; and from his pen the words would come too much tainted with the implication of ironry. The quality of bad verse is not strained It is written to suit no magazine's policy. It is rewarded with no check. It is a brave denying of reality; a prayer that is its own answer. It is, to use Maeterlinck's phrase, "a making or invoking of wings" by creatures that creep on their bellies.

The new uniforms for the Rifles have arrived. Fifty-six suits were received. There are forty-six members of the company.

The contractors are building a 12-inch coping around the court house. The yard will present a much improved appearance.

Huntington county is excited over the alleged appearance in diverse places of a huge Canada lynx. The animal is said to be the size of a full-grown Shepherd dog.

The second annual meeting of the Allen County Loan and Savings association was held in its rooms in the White block last evening. The following officers were elected: President, Edward White; vice president, Gottlieb Haller; secretary, T. C. Rogers; treasurer, Charles W. Orr; attorney, Owen N. Heaton; directors, Edward White, Addison B. Nickey, Marz Frank, Charles W. Orr, David C. Fisher, Gottlieb Haller, Julius Nathan, Thomas M. Glenn, Thomas Jackson, Fremont L. Jones, Frank H. Poole.

Fort Wayne has been honored again. Yesterday the Indiana Union Literary clubs, in session at Lafayette, selected this city as the site for their fourth annual convention next spring.

George Ralston and Will Schaab, of Auburn, made a trip to Fort Wayne yesterday in a canoe via Cedar Creek and the St. Joe river. The distance traveled was fifty-four miles, and the run was made in nine hours.

It is probable that in a short time Fort Wayne will be the home of an institution for the cure of the liquor habit. Dr. Hetrick, of this city, has taken an interest in a vegetable treatment now much used in the east.

How You Can Own Liberty Bonds By Easy Payments

For the benefit of everyone, the $2,000,000,000 liberty loan has been divided into bonds as low as $50, two per cent. to be paid on application, which must be before June 15, 18 per cent. on June 28; 20 per cent. July 30; 30 per cent. August 15, and 30 per cent. August 30.

The following table shows how the payments are to be made for the bonds from $50 to $100,000. The last column gives the amount a subscriber to each given amount could put aside each week to pay for his bonds, beginning May 19, and continuing through the 15 Saturdays to August 25, inclusive.

Amount of Bond.	On application. Before June 15, 2 per cent.	June 28 18 per cent.	July 30 20 per cent.	Aug. 15 30 per cent.	Aug. 30. 30 per cent.	Weekly allowance, May 19.-Aug. 25.

Uncle Harry Talks About The News From Russia

"Won't you explain the trouble in Russia?" asked Jimmy.

"You told us all about the revolution and how the czar was overthrown; but lots of things have been happening in Russia since then, haven't they?" added Joe.

"Indeed there have been a good many things happening in Russia lately," said Uncle Harry. "Almost every day something important happens in Russia, and I hope you are reading the dispatches from Petrograd and London and Berlin."

"I've been reading the news from Russia, Uncle Harry, but it isn't clear to me," said Helen. "There are several things I wish you'd explain and then maybe I can understand the Russian news."

"What, for instance?" asked Uncle Harry.

"Tell us about the—what is it, the council of workingmen?" said Jimmy.

"The council of workmen's and soldiers' deputies," said Uncle Harry, "is a committee of men chosen by the members of the Russian trade unions and the soldiers in the Russian army, since the revolution, and instructed to represent workmen and soldiers at Petrograd."

"Do you mean that these representatives of the workmen and soldiers attend the duma?" asked Helen.

"No, the council of workmen and soldiers is an entirely separate organization from the duma," said Uncle Harry.

"Well, then, what's the provisional government?" asked Jimmy, "and who's the man named Milyukoff?"

"The provisional government is a group of men that has been managing the Russian government since the revolution," explained Uncle Harry. "The men were selected by the members of the duma at the time the czar abdicated and they fill positions very similar to the offices in President Wilson's cabinet—secretary of state, secretary of war, attorney general, etc.

"How long will they stay in office?" asked Joe.

"The original plan was to have them stay in office until a popular election can be held, when the Russian people will elect men, and perhaps women, to attend a convention and decide just what form of government Russia is going to adopt."

"But who is the man Jimmy asked about?" said Joe. "I've seen his name in the paper almost every day. And there's another name I see almost every day, Ke-r——"

"You mean Kerenski," said Uncle Harry. "He is a prominent Russian socialist, and a lawyer, and was selected by the duma to fill the office of minister of justice, which is similar to the United States attorney general. Kerenski represents the socialists of Russia and is also regarded as the representative of the workmen and a considerable proportion of the soldiers, many of whom are also socialists.

"Milyukoff is the foreign minister in the provisional government. He is a very prominent Russian, and represents the progressives of Russia. He was exiled from Russia for many years by the late czar and spent considerable time in the United States, and part of the time while he was here he was a professor in one of the big American universities."

"Milyukoff and Kerenski are against each other, aren't they?" said Joe.

"I wouldn't put it just that way," said Uncle Harry, "for both these men worked for the overthrow of the czar and the old Russian government, and both are anxious to help their new nation. But they differ in opinions as to how they can get the best results. From what I can learn from the news from Russia, Kerenski and the workmen and soldiers he represents, want to make sure that none of the agreements made by the czar with the allies will work to their disadvantage; they insist that the new Russian government shall be democratic and in no sense a monarchy; and they are also opposed to Russia fighting for the annexation of any foreign territory, and that is generally understood to mean Constantinople, which was one of the things for which the Russian government, under the czar, was believed to be working.

"On the other hand, Foreign Minister Milyukoff, and his followers, fear that the Russian people in their zeal to reform evils left by the czar's government right within their own country, may make a separate peace with Germany; they also believe that Germany, working through secret agents, is trying to bring about a separate peace between Germany and Russia, which they fear may cause a Russian civil war, and the dispatches from Russia have certainly indicated that there is that danger unless the two groups represented and led by Milyukoff and Kerenski settle their differences as to how the temporary Russian government is to be managed, and join forces in a united front against Germany."

Uncle Harry paused a moment, and then said: "Folks, we must be patient with Russia. The people of that great country have overthrown the czar and his autocratic and tyranical government, and they have before them the tremendous job of building a new government. It took our own country a long time to win its independence and it required many years of hard patient work, and finally a civil war had to be fought for four long years, before the United States of America were firmly established. So it is to be expected that things will run along a little roughly in Russia for a while, anyway. But the Russian people are a lot smarter and more capable than many of us have imagined, and before many years, I believe, the Russian nation will have settled all its troubles and difficulties and be one of the really great nations of the world."

Editor's Note—Uncle Harry will be glad to answer inquiries, either in this column or by mail, provided letters are signed with the full name and address of the persons writing. The correspondents' names will not appear in the articles.

PERSONNEL OF RED CROSS UNIT COMPLETE

Call to Battle Fields of Western Frontier is Hourly Expected.

A Red Cross hospital unit will presumably be the first organization of Fort Wayne to reach the battlefields of France and Belgium. The call is hourly expected by members of the unit.

The organization of this unit is complete, as stated in The Sentinel some days ago, and all are ready to make their sacrifice and leave all that is near and dear to them behind in order that they may serve their flag and their fellowmen.

The doctors in the unit and their rank are as follows: Miles F. Porter, sr., major and director; Allen Hamilton, captain and assistant director; Henry O. Bruggeman, captain and chief of surgical staff; Kent K. Wheelock, surgeon-captain; John H. Gilpin, first lieutenant and surgeon-anesthetist; B. W. Rhamy, first lieutenant and surgeon-pathologist; Dean Metcalf, first lieutenant-surgeon; Charles G. Beall, chief of medical staff and captain; Charles R. Dancer, physician-captain; Garrett Van Sweringen, physician-first lieutenant; Miles F. Porter, jr., physician-first lieutenant, and B. M. Edlavitch, bacteriologist, physician-first lieutenant.

Nurses, Clerks and Orderlies.

The unit is backed by the local Red Cross chapter and will be sent to the front fully equipped from supplies made here and financed by a fund of $6,250 raised among twenty-five local business firms and individuals by a committee appointed a couple of weeks ago for that purpose.

TWO OLD VETERANS WILL HOIST THE FLAG

Henry Dawkins and James Bell, two of the oldest residents of New Haven and vicinity and both veterans of the civil war, will hoist the beautiful flag to the top of an eighty foot pole in New Haven next Saturday afternoon when a great patriotic demonstration will be staged at the place. A parade will be given in which the school children will take a prominent part. They have been drilling under the direction of Captain George L. Byroade, of this city.

Rev. John R. Quinlan, Professor Louis Dorn and Avery M. Groves, all of Fort Wayne, will be the speakers. Captain T. F. Ryan, U. S. A., will also give a brief address.

Why?

When you do not relish your food it is well to inquire the reason why. Your stomach may be debilitated, your liver torpid, your bowels constipated, or you may be eating too much. Many people eat more than they should, particularly those of middle age or older, and those of sedentary habits. If your lack of appetite or relish for your food arises from either of these causes, correct your habits and take a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets. They will do you good, give you a better appetite and make you feel better.—Advertisement.

MENAGERIE FEATURES HAGENBECK-WALLACE

But So Does the Circus of Over 400 Artists Who Are in It.

One of the things in which the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus has always excelled is in its menagerie. Hagenbeck was the first person who ever succeeded in breaking and subduing wild animals for a public performance. He startled the capitals of Europe half a century ago with his intelligent, yet man-eating beasts. At each world's fair that has been held in the United States in the past forty years the Hagenbeck wild animals have always furnished the stellar attraction.

So much interest was aroused at the St. Louis world's fair in 1904 that the Hagenbeck shows were combined with the great Wallace circus. At first the idea looked impossible, because of their size. Each show had already reached a state that it required the efforts of only the most skilled circus officials to handle. The greatest problem was the one involved in the transportation. A train, one mile in length, was built and divided into three sections. In this way the obstacle of moving the great institution from city to city was solved.

Yet, each year since the consolidation of the shows the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus has grown. The Hagenbeck farm, in French Lick Springs, Ind., is the world's biggest animal quarters. As fast as rare and costly specimens are captured by the Hagenbeck hunters, scattered throughout the world, they are sent to the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus.

But the Hagenbeck animals form only one department of the combined shows. The great Wallace circus still excels as the "Highest class circus in the world." The performance is given in three rings and two elevated stages. More than 400 noted artists that represent almost every country on the globe will be seen with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus in Fort Wayne on Friday, June 1.

Take Care of Yourself.

If you want a clear head and good digestion you must not let your bowels become clogged with poisonous waste from the body, as is always the case when you become constipated. Proper food, an abundance of water and plenty of outdoor exercise should keep your bowels regular. When that fails you should take Chamberlain's Tablets. They cause a gentle movement of the bowels and are easy and pleasant to take.—Advertisement.

AT THE PALACE

A PLAUSIBLE ABSURDITY.

Lulu McConnell and Grant Simpson in Rich Comedy.

"At Home," the plausible little absurdity in which Lulu McConnell and Grant Simpson are appearing at the New Palace, is the richest comedy in years, telling a laughable story of a vaudeville family consisting of wife, husband and husband's brother in their private life, trying to make both ends meet between engagements. They get a notice that they are to get some time and rehearse their vaudeville sketch, a sort of playlet within a playlet. It is all immensely funny, but the real comedy centers around Miss McConnell's eccentricities. Her burlesqueness on the ultra modern schools of dancing, her fake grand opera and her worldly wise observations are howlingly funny, as she is consummately natural in it all.

Constance and Irene Farber, the two sisters whose comedy, singing and dancing numbers have been so enthusiastically received here in previous engagements, are repeating their former triumphs. The Farber girls are wearing some new and novel gowns this season and have a group of 1918 song hits. C. Francis Reisner, the Kentucky Kernel, is, as his moniker might indicate, considerable of a nut, his eccentric chatter registering through its very absurdity. Sonnie Dinkins, Arthur Barr and Billy Everett are presenting a couple of minutes in minstrelsy in a livery barn, with an interlocutor and two blackface, erstwhile hostlers, as end men. It's a lively bit of comedy. Laypo and Bejiman, two thrillers in aerial comedy acrobatics, open the show with a startling bundle of tricks. They will play out the first four days of the week unlerr some undertaker gets a job on one or both of them.

"From his first week Junior had been given part bottle-feedings. Every effort known to science was employed to encourage the flow of breast-milk, but it gradually decreased until the baby could nurse only half an ounce at a time. It has disappeared without causing any discomfort to his mother.

While he was still at the hospital, Junior passed through the experimental stages of artificial feeding. Various formulas were tried, including top milk with plain water, whole milk with plain water, and finally top milk with barley-water, lime-water and sugar of milk. When Junior came home on November 20th, he was taking twenty ounces of bottle-feeding in twenty-four hours, in the following proportions: 6 ounces top milk, 1 ounce sugar of milk, 1 ounce lime-water and 12 ounces barley-water. On November 28th Junior indicated that the formula should be strengthened by whimpering after emptying his bottle, fretting until he fell asleep and sucking his fists. The doctor increased the strength of the formula as follows: Top milk, 7 ounces; sugar of milk, 1 ounce; lime-water, 1 ounce; barley-water, 11 ounces.

On December 1st, 8 ounces of top milk were used to 10 ounces of barley-water, and on December 8th breast-milk was withdrawn and the formula was changed thus: 10 ounces of top milk to 15 ounces of barley-water, 1 ounce sugar of milk and 1 ounce of lime-water.

While Junior was being completely weaned from the breast the doctor desired to test the advisability of using plain water instead of barley-water in preparing the formula. Plain water was substituted in making up the feedings for twenty-four hours. Immediately the bowel movements became harder. On the second day of the experiment, they showed curds and a little mucus and Junior began to suck his fists and the sleeve of his nightie, showing that he was not satisfied. On the fourth morning, acting on the doctor's advice, his mother returned to the use of barley-water. Within twenty-four hours the passages became normal, and Junior fell asleep after his feedings without a whimper. This experiment should prove to every mother that calm observation of the baby's condition, ordinary common sense and patience make it possible for any mother and family doctor to work out a formula which will agree with a baby."

Garbage Question is Often a Puzzling One

When housewife throws the leavings from her dinner table into the garbage pail she does it probably without a thought. The routine of planning, preparing, serving and eating a meal and clearing up after it is a fixed habit. The housekeeper has always considered herself a careful manager—though she abhors frugality—so why fuss about the garbage.

It would not be a very pleasant outing, but it would be a mighty vivid object lesson to corral at random a party of women and march them down to the city garbage dump.

The line of heaped-up wagons waiting to add their load of table waste to the great mass on the dump must come from somewhere, you know. The conscientious woman will begin to wonder about her own kitchen refuse.

"It might be well, too, to talk as I did the other day with the foreman of a garbage dump.

"Since food prices have been so high," he says, "I have seen great changes in the garbage on this dump. The quantity is decreasing day after day, and there is a whole lot less good food in the mass than there used to be.

"The waste in some districts in this town is something fierce. The drivers say it is not as bad as it was, but sure it's worse than it ought to be, now that there is danger that we won't have food enough to feed us all."

The waste to guard against particularly now is the waste in green vegetables. You can find uses for the tops of onions, radishes, beets and celery. Don't throw away the hard ends of your asparagus—they will make delicious soup. Do you cook cauliflower leaves? Creamed with the white parts they are fine. Pea pods make good soup.

GRAY IS AS POPULAR AS EVER THIS SPRING

Gray seems as popular as ever this season and the new grays have a pinkish tinge that is entrancing. There is asparagus gray, too, a greenish gray just off the white. Oyster gray and silver gray are two other lovely shades for gowns of distinction.

Red is undoubtedly a spring color this year and the brightest shades are combined with white. Tulip red is a gorgeous shade, and there are coral and geranium reds and deep tones of claret, garnet and Venetian red.

Some of these are trimmed with steel bead embroidery and the effect is very rich, though one would hardly like to see too many such costumes on a warm spring day.

Popular Pattern for Sports Skirt

Tennis courts will be made gay this summer with the brilliant colors and huge patterned cottons and wash silks which go to the making of the most popular sports skirts. When such striking fabrics are employed, separate skirts are necessarily cut on very simple lines.

ORIENTAL RUGS

and Tapestry are handled in a scientific manner by an expert from the Orient who has made a careful study of the weaving and cleaning of these wonderful rugs and we are now in a position to handle the finest rugs in a manner that restores them to their original beauty in colors. This is an entirely new method and is known only by the foreigners who weave and design these oriental fabrics. In mending these rugs we match the shades in the designs exactly so that the mended places cannot be detected from their original weaving.

NO PARADE FOR THE ELKS.

Boston, May 21.—The parade, which is usually a prominent feature of national conventions of the Order of Elks, will be omitted at the gathering here in July, Edward Righter, grand exalted ruler, has written to the convention committee, endorsing its decision that the parade be dispensed with and saying all display should be avoided and attention centered on determining the most patriotic service the order can perform.

Freckles and Blotches Are Easily Peeled Off

If you are bothered with any cutaneous blemish, it's a poor plan to use paint, powder or anything else to cover it up. Too often this only emphasizes the defect. Besides, it's much easier to remove the disfigurement with ordinary mercolized wax. Applied nightly, the wax will gradually remove freckles, pimples, moth patches, liver spots, sallowness, red blotches or any surface eruption. The affected cuticle is absorbed, a little each day, until the clear, soft, youthful and beautiful skin beneath is brought wholly to view. Ask the druggist for one ounce of mercolized wax and use this like you use cold cream. Remove in morning with soap and water. Many who have tried this simple, harmless treatment report astonishing results.

If troubled with wrinkles or furrows, a wash lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel, will prove wonderfully effective. There is nothing better for drawing in a baggy skin and improving the facial contour. It acts instantly and will not irritate even the most sensitive skin.—Adver-

ONE MAN IS BADLY HURT

One man was seriously injured and many others escaped only by a miracle when a large steel tower fell through the roof of a three story building at the S. F. Bowser & Co. plant Monday morning, shortly before 10 o'clock.

The injured man was Joseph McNamara, 614 West Jefferson street. He was badly cut about the head and right hand and sustained a fracture of the elbow. He was taken to the Lutheran hospital.

The large steel tower was being used in the construction of a new building about 100 feet from the building through which it fell. A heavy steel guy wire was attached to the tower and when the tension on the wire became too strong, the tower gave way, the end of it falling through the roof of the building. Witnesses say that McNamara was not in the building at the time, but was walking between the building and a small shed beside it, where tools of the construction company were kept. He was struck by bricks and other debris falling from the roof.

Men working in the building through which the tower fell escaped injury only by a miracle. Witnesses say they heard the cable snap and then saw the large tower sway for a moment in the air before it fell. The end of it crashed through the roof of the building, tearing a large hole. Machinery in the building was damaged somewhaht by the falling debris, but none of the occupants were struck. The force of the blow was enough to split the tower in the middle, although it was made of heavy steel.

FLAG RAISING AT LISBON.

Kendallville, Ind., May 21.—A large flag was raised at Lisbon Sunday, which was made the occasion for a big patriotic demonstration. Addresses were delivered by Judge Luke Wrigley, of the Whitley-Noble county circuit courts, Attorney Fred L. Bodenhafer, a native Lisbon boy, and Avery M. Groves, of Fort Wayne.

SUSTAINS FRACTURED ANKLE.

When the chain of the porch seat broke Sunday, allowing the seat to fall to the floor, Mrs. J. J. Bryie, who was sitting in it, sustained a badly fractured ankle and some minor injuries to body and limbs. The accident happened at 1918 Weisser Park avenue, the home of the Byrie family.

DID NOT HAVE TIME TO PREPARE DELIVERIES

Walter Cole, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, because he collected funds for a tire filling chemical and then did not deliver the goods, made a stubborn fight when the case was called on the police court docket Monday morning. He claimed that he had been unable to prepare the goods for delivery when he was arrested at Danville, Ill. He said he intended to send the chemical to all customers. Judge Kerr took the case under advisement until Tuesday.

Amzie Black, charged with wife desertion, was given until Monday to show his good intentions towards supporting his helpmeet.

MACHINES FOR LADY VOTERS

BALLOTS FOR THE DELEGATE ELECTION

New Devices Have Been Installed—Voters Must Register.

For some time it was the belief of election officials that my fair lady, who will vote next fall at the city election, would not get to use the voting machines, but would be forced to use the ballots. William Fruechtenicht, however, now makes the annnouncement that the ladies will get to use the machines.

The county has enough voting machines to supply every voting precinct in the city with the exception of one. An effort will be made to have the voting machine company lend the county three more machines on promise that they will be purchased the next year.

At the election for delegates to the constitutional convention the ladies must use the ballots, however.

All the voting machines are having a new device attached to them. When the voter enters the booth he must first vote a party ticket, after which, if he desires to, he can vote a split ticket.

Another plea is made for the voters of the city to register immediately at the city hall for the fall election. The registration for the delegate election next September does not open until June 22. Every man in the county who wants to vote for these delegates must register at the court house any time within sixty days after June 22.

Division No. 2, Ladies' Auxiliary to A. O. H., will conduct an apron sale and social evening on Tuesday night, in St. Patrick's lyceum.

JAMES WHITE.

James White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex B. White, received notice Monday morning that he had successfully passed both the physical and mental examinations for West Point taken seven weeks ago in Washington. He is ordered to report at West Point on June 14.

Mr. White is now at Fort Benjamin Harrison in the training camp for the officers' reserve corps. When he enlisted in this service it was with the understanding that in the event of his passing the West Point examination he would be released. He enlisted with the officers' reserve corps as a matter of protection should he have failed for West Point admission, being determined to give his services to his country. Young White is a graduate of the Fort Wayne high school and also has had military training at Culver. His friends predict for him a brilliant future. He had taken some preparatory work in Washington before taking the examination for admission to West Point.

ARMY RANKS ALMOST FULL

NEW LAW DOUBLES PAY OF PRIVATES

The regular army is rapidly reaching its full war quota. The cavalry branch of the service will be filled before the week-end, in the opinion of Captain Thomas Ryan, in charge of the Fort Wayne recruiting station. The infantry branch should be filled before another month has gone, Captain Ryan thinks.

Indiana is now within 200 of her war quota. The Hoosier state should reach its war strength before the end of this week.

The Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth regiments of United States regular infantry are to be trained at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Captain Ryan thinks this an excellent opportunity for Indiana youths to join one or the other of the two regiments, as they will both be made up largely of Hoosier lads.

Increase Pay.

The pay of privates in the regular army has been doubled by the new army salary increase bill. A private will now get $30 a month besides his clothing and provisions. The pay of non-commissioned officers will be increased on a sliding scale.

A new federal law enables foreigners who have not yet received their first papers to enlist in the regular army ranks.

Should Give Address.

Young men who enlist are requested to give their full home address when they sign up at the Fort Wayne station. Credit to their home counties may make a difference in the number of conscripts demanded of the county they represent.

War Period Indefinite.

Captain Thomas Ryan, who returned to duty from Washington, D. C., on Monday, was unable to gain any impression about the possible period of the world war. National army officers are taking the care in drilling that would warrant the impression that they are not expecting "a breakfast bite," however, Captain Ryan states.

SUPREME COURT RULES ON COMPENSATION LAW

New York Case Decision is Construed by Highest Judicial Body.

Washington, May 21.—The New York workmen's compensation law, recently upheld as constitutional by the supreme court, was construed today by the court as not applicable to workmen injured on ships, while in New York navigable waters. The general federal maritime laws, the court decided, are exclusive and paramount. The Ohio workmen's compensation and employers' liability laws, the supreme court decided, are applicable to workmen injured on ships while in Ohio navigable waters.

The New York law by today's decision was construed as not applicable to railroad workmen injured while actually in interstate commerce. As to such the federal employers' liability act was held paramount and exclusive. The supreme court reversed New York state compensation awards to James Weifield, a New York Central track laborer.

The New Jersey workmen's compensation law of 1911, a non-compulsory statute, was decided by the supreme court to be unconstitutional and inoperative to railroad employes injured while engaged in interstate commerce. Justices Brandeis and Clarke dissented.

GUARD REGIMENTS MUST MEET NEW LAW

Washington, May 21.—Warning against attempts in any state to organize new units of the national guard which do not accord with the organization plan for the guard approved by President Wilson was given today by the war department. As it stands the guard is deficient in artillery, signal engineer and other special service troops in proportion to the number of infantry regiments. Specific instructions have been given to the adjutants general as to the units of each arm of the service for which the state will be responsible and in this connection the department's statement says: "Notwithstanding such action, some states have undertaken the organization of units which cannot be utilized in the formation of complete higher national units. While it is much to be desired to take full advantage of the patriotic interest stirring in the country such advantage can only come through coordination and regulation in co-operation with the general and basic plan."

The department requests that persons interested in raising new national guard units confer with the adjutant general of their state in order to determine what branch of the service should be augmented.

FIGHTING AGAINST RETURN TO INDIANA

James W. Lee, charged with victimizing the Old National bank by cashing two fraudulent checks last October, does not wan to come back here for trial. He was arrested recently in Illinois, and is fighting against requisition. He has obtained the services of two able law firms of Springfield, Ill.

Lee is now being held in Chicago. He will have a hearing before the courts on May 25, and action of Governor Lowden will be announced on May 29. Detective-Sergeant Walter Immel, who has been on the case, and who went for Lee last Friday, will return to Chicago for the man on the last date, if Lee is to be given over to Indiana authorities.

BIG CAMPAIGN STARTS TODAY

Y. M. C. A. Workers Begin Work to Raise District's Quota.

HOPE TO SECURE AMOUNT THIS WEEK

Effort of Association is Praised in Letter from Captain Ryan.

Monday morning the state campaign for the Y. M. C. A. war fund was started. Throughout the state members of the committee of one hundred and their assistants got into the harness for a week of raising money with which the association will carry on its work throughout the camps of the United States army.

Each night reports will be received in Fort Wayne from the seven counties and this district and the next morning summaries from the entire state will be received so that the workers and the public may be kept informed as to the progress. Fort Wayne district, number 3, expects to make one of the best showings in the state.

Before the campaign was started Captain Thomas F. Ryan, recruiting officer of the army here, wrote the following letter to E. W. Peirce, secretary of the Fort Wayne association:

"It gives me great pleasure to say a word of commendation of the work your association is doing in the army. I know from my personal experience, not only on the border, but also in the Philippines, that the work is of the very highest order and is greatly appreciated by both the men and the officers of the United States army.

"Especially is this true of the work done at Columbus, N. M., for it gave the soldiers a place to write their letters and the materials with which to write. It also gave them access to all of the leading periodicals, newspapers, magazines, etc., and a place where they could participate in harmless games.

"It gives me pleasure to recommend this branch of your service to the people."

RUNS CAR INTO BRIDGE RAILING INJURING TWO

Mrs. Frank Jones and Children and Miss Danner in an Accident.

Mrs. Frank H. Jones, two sons, Robert and Russell, and two daughters, Doloro and Margaret, and Miss Bernice Danner, daughter of Hiram Danner, corner Roy and C., H. & D. railroad, narrowly escaped Sunday night shortly before 9 o'clock when the car in which they were riding, ran into the railing of a bridge one mile south of Ossian.

Miss Doloro-Jones was the most seriously hurt, her injuries consisting of a badly bruised arm and cuts about the cheek. She will be confined to her home for several days. Robert Jones sustained a badly sprained ankle. All the other occupants of the car were slightly bruised, but escaped more fortunately than did Miss Doloro and her brother, Robert.

The night was extremely dark and the rain was pouring in torrents. The driver of the car had the windshield up. The bright light of a car coming in the opposite direction, completely blinded him, causing him to guide his car directly in the railing of the bridge. The occupants were all thrown into a heap in the front seat. The car was badly damaged.

A few minutes after the accident a Fort Wayne physician whose name Mrs. Jones in her excitement did not learn, came along and gave first aid. Miss Doloro was carried into the home of W. W. Hoopengardner nearby. All were later brought to their homes in this city by the doctor and another machine which came along soon after the accident had occurred.

Mrs. Jones and children and Miss Danner had been spending the day with relatives at Liberty Center and were on their way home when the mishap took place.

A similar accident occurred at this same bridge last week when two cars, one from Muncie and another from Warren, collided, badly damaging both cars, and slightly injuring the occupants.

WILL WORK TOGETHER

RED CROSS WEEK PLANNED FOR JUNE

Fort Wayne Will Have Representative at Meeting in Washington.

Upon recommendation of Arthur F. Bentley, in charge of Red Cross work in Indiana, the counties of Adams, Noble and Lagrange will operate through and under the jurisdiction of the Fort Wayne chapter.

"I recommend that jurisdiction of Fort Wayne chapter, of the American Red Cross be extended to include Adams, Noble and Lagrange counties for the following reasons: Fort Wayne is very efficiently organized and is carrying on a great deal of chapter work and attracting people from the surrounding counties. The people of Decatur and Adams county requested some time ago that they be annexed to Fort Wayne. The people of Kendallville and Albion have expressed themselves similarly and I think Ligonier will be more satisfied to be a branch of Fort Wayne than of Kendallville, as it would have to be otherwise. As for Lagrange county, this county has a population of 15,000 and its largest town has about 1,700. It has good railroad connections towards Fort Wayne and Fort Wayne chapter has already received a number of memberships from its people. I am recommending the union of these counties with Fort Wayne chapter on the following terms:

"1. That officers of Fort Wayne chapter see to it that efficient branches of their chapter are maintained in the principal towns of these counties.

"2. That these branches be equipped both to finance themselves and to carry on their own work under the direction of Fort Wayne chapter.

"3. That it is understood that if at any time for any reasons whatsoever, the central committee desires to attach these counties and erect separate chapters there, it shall have full power resumed to do so."

Mr. Miller received word Monday that a conference would be held in Washington, D. C., on May 25 to make arrangements for a Red Cross week to be held throughout the country sometime in June. The Fort Wayne chapter will be represented at this meeting.

ASKS TO HAVE AUTO LICENSE REVOKED

Speeders on Decatur Road on Thursday Night to Be Punished.

County Road Superintendent William Tonkel and the county commissioners have written to the secretary of state at Indianapolis asking that the licenses of two automobile drivers be revoked. On Thursday evening two automobiles, one a small red roadster, staged an Indianapolis speedway contest on the Decatur road.

However, they were not traveling fast enough so that a county official could not get the numbers. Their numbers were written down and handed to the county commissioners. The racing automobiles frightened a horse and threw a mother and her three small children into the ditch. Luckily none was severely injured.

Sunday morning a crew of motorcyclists traveled out on the Leo road and decided to hold a speed contest. They elected a starter, judges and all other officials. They even delegated a few of their party to the crossroads to stop all other traffic while the race was being run. Everything would have gone off in grand style had it not been for the fact that William Tonkel resided near by and saw the entire affair. He gave chase and succeeded in getting a few of the numbers.

Monday morning Clarence Delagrange, 240 Randolph street; Herman Deher, of 1630 South Calhoun street, and William Meyers, of 1628 South Lafayette street, appeared before the county commissioners and were told that a repetition of the offense would cause their licenses to be revoked.

20 YEAR LIMITED DIVORCE.

Emilie Lichtsinn Sues William A. Lichtsinn for Separation.

Asking for a twenty year legal separation, custody of a five-year-old child and support money, Emilie Lichtsinn has sued William A. Lichtsinn for divorce. The defendant is a partner in the saloon and grocery business of Lichtsinn & Peters. The plaintiff states that there has been constant strife in the house and that the defendant has been guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment. She asks $25 a month for the support and education of the child, one hundred dollars monthly for her support, and $200 for attorney fees.

GRAVEL IN PLACE OF STONE.

Gravel from Allen county pits will be used on the county roads instead of stone. The gravel can be secured at a great saving and the commissioners have decided that they will use the product of the county in preference to imported crushed stones. The gravel found at Wesley Chapel is of a fine grade.

Case is Dismissed.

Marriage Licenses.

Clifford Kirkpatrick, electrician, to Margaret Weidler.

Alvin F. Bullermann, assistant paymaster, to Fern Eggiman.

Board of Works Will Decide on Request to Lengthen Street.

A petition filed in 1912, and which asks for the lengthening of Franklin street to High street, will be acted upon by the board of works Monday afternoon. There were forty-three names on the petition when presented five years ago. Several of the citizens have changed their residence since that time. Three of the number are dead.

Several citizens called attention of the works board members to the neglected petition last week. The request for lengthening the street was unearthed. The board members visited the region to be affected, in an automobile, Saturday afternoon.

It is expected that the board will decide to lengthen the street only to St. Clair street at this time. A bridge has already been built across the canal, just north of St. Clair street. There would be little difficulty in bringing Franklin street down across two lots, board members say.

People living in the neighborhood state that they will not complain if Franklin street is not taken to High street at this time. The lengthening of the drive across another square would necessitate the moving of several houses and much expense to the city.

The board will also act on the petition for placing sidewalks on both sides of Franklin street, from Third to Huffman, and on the east side of St. Mary's avenue from Pape avenue to Third street.

More Than 900 Registered.

More than 900 citizens have registered for voting in the coming city election. Of that number 225 signed up on Saturday. Male and female voters have registered in about even numbers so far.

Harkenrider Appointed.

Charles Harkenrider, 225 East Main street, has been appointed to take the place of building clerk, which was made vacant by the promotion of Andrew App to assistant city engineer. Harkenrider began his duties in the board of works office on Monday morning.

Brown Off Duty.

First Trip.

Mayor W. J. Hosey returned to Fort Wayne Monday noon from his first visit to his Rome City cottage this year. He went to Rome City Saturday afternoon. His family will stay at the resort during the remainder of the week.

Birth Record.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. John Johnloz, 1431 Huestis avenue—a girl.

To Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. McComb, 1229 Weffel street—a boy.

Building Permits.

Building permits were issued to the Federal Secruities and Investment company to build a frame house, 1726 St. Mary's avenue, $2,800, and William L. Griebel to build residence, 2937 John street, $1,800, and to the Indiana Engineers Construction company to erect addition to the Wayne Oil Tank works, $3,500.

Start Concreting Alleys.

The Grace Construction company workmen have started their task of paving twenty alleys in the city. Grading work is under way this week. Laying of concrete, with which all the driveways are to be improved, will be started in two weeks.

BAN JOHNSON'S LEAGUE TO BUY LIBERTY BONDS

Chicago, Ill., May 21.—The American league has decided upon the immediate subscription of $100,000 for liberty bonds, President Johnson announced. Eight of the clubs will subscribe $12,500 each.

President Johnson also announced that the league would donate the proceeds of the game to be played in New York, June 10, to the first American engineering corps to be sent to France. He estimated that the receipts would be between $10,000 and $12,000. Either St. Louis or Boston will oppose the New York club on that day.

Miss Emma Armstrong, of West Berry street, spent the week-end in Chicago with relatives.

FEDERAL GRIP ON THE MINES

SOFT COAL PRICES WITHOUT REASON

Shortage of Fuel So Serious as to Point to Government Control.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—The bituminous coal shortage is blamed on the railroads in a report today by the federal trade commission. Producers by taking advantage of the lack of cars, are charged with responsibility, however, for prevailing high prices.

"There is no scarcity of coal in the ground," the report says.

"There is sufficient coal in the bituminous coal mines now being operated, not only to supply the present demand, but also to supply a greatly increased demand. The unprecedented demand for this fuel in the past six months, together with the difficulties of rail and water transportation not only have absorbed the coal as fast as it could be shipped from the mines but have led also to almost complete exhaustion of the coal stored at tidewater points and at the docks on the great lakes.

"The country faces a serious state of affairs in obtaining a commodity which is basic to practically every form of its military and industrial activity."

"Under war-time conditions," says the report, "it may become the duty of the government to take steps similar to those found necessary by belligerent countries and not only to regulate the distribution of coal from the mouth of the mine to the ultimate consumer by allotting the quantity of the product which the different classes of consumers shall be allowed to purchase, but also to establish the prices to be paid by different classes of consumers. * * * * At a time like present excessive profits should not be permitted to be extorted from the public by producers and distributors of any prime necessity of life."

Of prices now charged for coal the report says:

"Figures submitted to the commission * * * show that most of the present prices now charged * * * are far in excess of the cost as shown by the operators' books. Many of the operators frankly take the position that they are trying to get for their coal the highest prices possible under the present demand and are refraining even at prices greatly increased over last year, from contracting their output to the extent of their usual custom.

They defend this action by claiming that under the operation of the law of supply and demand they have for many years past been getting little more for their coal than the bare cost of production; that the mining of bituminous coal during that period has been a most unprofitable industry and that this is their chance to recoup themselves for the losses of several years. Accordingly, they are demanding prices at the mine today which run from 50 per cent to several hundred per cent over the cost of their output."

PREACHERS URGED TO SCORE LAZY LOAFERS

Tired Folks Claimed to Be Greatest Hindrance in Food Drive.

Lazy loafers will be bitterly denounced by Frank Hilgemann, chairman of the food relief committee of Fort Wayne, before the City Ministerial association late Monday afternoon. The religious leaders will be asked again to preach the gospel of potato planting by Mr. Hilgemann.

"It is the tired people I want to get at," says Hilgemann. "Many of them are 'tired' farmers who could be of value and yet they stand around and make fun of the loyal city bred folks who are doing the best they can to be of service by planting."

Five hundred copies of pamphlets on "Home Gardening" have been received by the relief committee and are being given out to the public.

City teams worked all day Sunday. More than 300 lots have been plowed. More teams may be added this week.

ERECT NEW STACK.

Traction Company Making Changes in Power House.

Work has been started on the erection of a new stack, fifteen feet in diameter and two hundred and fifty feet in height, at the power house of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, on Spy Run avenue. When completed the stack will be the largest in the city.

Several important changes are also being made in the equipment. A 1,350-horse power boiler of the latest type has been purchased and will be installed. It is equipped with force draft and underfeed stokers and will practically eliminate all smoke.

PLAN TO KNIT CLOTHES.

BIG INNING SCORES WIN FOR THE CHIEFS

Dayton, O., May 21.—A big eighth inning paved the way for a Fort Wayne win over the Vets here yesterday after the Chiefs had dropped everything but the uniforms to the local club in the first two games of the series. By stacking up four runs in that one inning Vandagrift and his outfit were able to cop from Dayton 7 to 4.

The big inning was started with a free trip for Kelly, followed by Powers beating out a bunt, and Rooney's single. Brown then got a sacrifice fly and Kelly went home, missing the plate. Brennegan failed to tag him and Kelly went back, touched the pan and was safe. Batsch followed with an infield hit and the bases were full. After Peterson had gone out on bunt strikes Siegfried came through with a double to right field, scoring three men. Vandagrift closed the inning by flying out.

Fort Wayne looked good all the way through the game, with Peterson hurling a high class brand of baseball all the way. He was backed by good fielding and hitting in the pinches which won the game.

The scoring started in the second when, with two out and Peterson, Siegfried and Gleich on the bases, Kelley got a left field single, scoring the first two. Powers whiffed for the third out. In the sixth inning Powers was handed a walk and went to second on Brown's sacrifice to Hobbs. Brown then made one of his doubles to the left field fence and Powers went in.

With one down in the sixth Dayton became dangerous, and tied the score by means of a pass, a single, a double over Gleich's head, which scored two, and another single which brought in Spencer, perpetrator of the double. Storch was caught between bases and after Hobbs had made first, Stewart whiffed. In the last half of the ninth, after two were down, the Vets came through with one run when Stewart singled to right and swiped second and scored on Brennegan's single. Miller then walked and Hanna hit to Vandagrift, ending the game.

Fort Wayne returns to the second city of Hoosierdom today for a sojourn of nine days. Grand Rapids is first in line for a three-game series and will be followed by Muskegon and South Bend. South Bend will be there next Sunday, and league officials expect one of the largest crowds of the season when the two old rivals of the league meet for the first time in many moons.

LINCOLN LIFE OUTFIT CLEANS SILVER EDGES

Insurance Men Take South Bend Club Into Camp in Baseball Battle.

South Bend's pride in the way of semi-pro baseball clubs was given a shock here yesterday when Mart Cleary's Lincoln Lifes took the Silver Edges over the route to a 3 to 5 win. A large crowd of fans witnessed the game, which was fast all the way, and which had more the appearance of big league stuff than of semi-pro. The win over the Benders give the insurance men a nice boost in their scrap for the state title.

At no time during the game were the policy venders out of danger, and the top brand of playing was the rule until the very last out. For three innings and a half the scoring stood at nil and the playing was of the highest order. When the runs began to come in they were singly and in pairs and there was no hint of a blowup on either side.

Bobby Smith was right all the way through eigh tinnings in which he worked, and would have finished the game had he not wrenched his arm. Oestermeyer occupied the mound in the last frame and handed out nary a bingle. Dunton did great stick work for the insurance men. Score:

CREAM OF TROTTING STOCK WILL GO UNDER HAMMER AT BILLINGS SALE

"Well, gentlemen, how much am I bid?"

On June 6 some of the greatest harness racing stock will go under the hammer when, with two exceptions, the horses of C. K. G. Billings are sold at auction at Madison Square garden.

The Harvester cost Billings $65,000 before he became champion in 1910. Large sums have been refused for William.

In addition Billings will sell fifty-nine brood mares carefully selected from the greatest racing stock, fourteen of them being in the 2:10 list.

Many of the mares have been foaled to The Harvester and a large number of blue blooded colts will be placed on the market.

The stock is kept on the great Curlsneck farm near Richmond, on which Billings has expended more than $500,000.

This estate will be turned over to the government for army purposes.

ALEXANDER NOT TO TRY FOR SHUTOUTS

Grover Alexander, who holds the record for the greatest number of shutouts ever won in a season, says he will never pitch another shutout game. At least he makes that odd statement in an article in the June Baseball Magazine, of course, with a few reservations. Among other things, Alec, who is the highest salaried man in the National league, puts over the following fast balls and in-shoots:

"A pitcher is strong for a shutout. I won't deny that I rather like to put over a goose egg score on the enemy myself. There is a certain satisfaction in getting the third strike on a dangerous batter. There is still more satisfaction in retiring the side when three men are on the bases. But the thing a pitcher likes more than anything else next to a no-hit game is a shutout.

"Last year I was pretty fortunate in my shutout score. I guess I was too liberal with the whitewash. At least I managed to write 16 zero signs on the opposition score board. That looks like a good many at this distance. I am not sure that I will ever do the stunt again. I would say it was quite an undertaking, standing as I do at the beginning of a season and looking ahead. There are too many sluggers in this league, too many strong teams to make that stunt any bed of roses for a pitcher. And yet it would have looked just as impossible to me last year if I had cared to indulge in any day dreams, and considered the chances of scoring sixteen shutouts.

"Baseball, of course, is a game of skill. But there is enough luck in it to upset all guesses. No, I hadn't banked on anything wonderful last year. I felt all right and intended to do my best. But I had no pipe dreams about any little thing like a broken record when I entered the grand old game last April.

"Perhaps that explains my good luck. The chances are, if I had tried to accomplish anything out of the ordinary I wouldn't have done so well. In fact, I will lay this down as a rule I have learned from my experience in the grand old game. The fellow who does the best is the fellow who goes on the firing line without any intention of doing anything unusual. He is merely determined to do his best and lets it go at that. If he tries to let out a few reels he will get nervous and fall all over himself. Keep your head, use your head and plug away. That is about all that can be said on the subject.

"To show how little I worked for a record last year I will say that I didn't even know what the previous record was. Coombs, they tell me, pitched thirteen shutouts one season with the Athletics and was high man. Last year I managed to better that mark by three. But it wasn't premeditated. I didn't realize I was breaking any record at the time.

"Now that I have that record anybody can take it away from me if they want to and can get it. I shall never try to improve upon that mark. A pitcher when he has one of his best days, can breeze through a game in almost unhittable form and perhaps not suffer in the least. He doesn't seem to have to exert himself. But if he is going to pitch many shutouts through a season he will have to work for them and that is death on his arm. When I was a young pitcher I used to put all the stuff I had on every ball I put over the plate. But I learned better. If I hadn't the probability is I wouldn't be in the game today.

"A wise pitcher saves his arm. He makes that one of his main objects in life. Of course there are plenty of times when he can't do this. Sometimes he has to put every ounce of stuff he has on that little old ball. But he wouldn't be able to call up the necessary strength to do this if he hadn't made it his policy to save his strength.

"I had to use a lot of energy in order to get those shutouts. But in most cases I had no choice. The games were tight. I couldn't afford to allow the opposition any leeway. I had to pitch full speed all the way through in order to be sure of winning.

"But that's all ancient history now. I haven't any ambitions this year except to do my best work and earn the salary club is paying me. A shutout doesn't dent the records any more than a game won by the score of 6 to 5. That was my initial performance this season. It was a victory and that is the only thing that counts. A victory is a victory and whether it was a goose egg or not doesn't make any difference. I will let any club in the league have five runs any day I am pitching if they will let me have six. It's a good bargain. If the other seven clubs in the league will agree to it I will agree not to pitch another shutout as long as I live."

DISTRICT TRACK MEET TAKEN BY HUNTINGTON

Huntington, Ind., May 21.—Huntington high school won the district track meet here Saturday, getting a total of 37 points. Other schools finished as follows: Kendallville, 24; Columbia City, 14; Angola, 9; Fort Wayne, 8; Washington Center, 5; Laketon, 1; Wabash, 0; Bluffton, 0. Wabash had but one man in competition and Bluffton, discouraged by an overwhelming defeat of the previous week, failed to have a team at the meet.

Four Huntington men, Kacy, Johnson, Wygant, Morgan and Grayston, will go to Lafayette to the state meet next Saturday. There is a fine chance for this quintet of athletes to take first honors since over sixty schools will be represented, and not many points are needed to land in that position.

Warriner and Watt were the only scorers for Fort Wayne, the former getting first place in the half-mile which was run in 2:17. Watt took third place in the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash and broad jump. Summary:

100 yard dash—First, Johnson, Huntington; second, Orstadt, Kendallville; third, Watt, Fort Wayne. Time—10 2-5 seconds.

440 yard dash—First, Grayston, Huntington; second, McNabb, Columbia City; third, Ogden, Laketon. Time—55 2-5 seconds.

220 yard hurdle—First, Johnson, Huntington; second, Gipson, Kendallville; third, Whitinger, Angola. Time—28 2-5 seconds.

880 yard run—First, Warriner, Fort Wayne; second, Kacey, Huntington; third, Boyers, Angola. Time—2 minutes 14 seconds.

Running high jump—First (tied), R. Moses, Kendallville, and Baker, Washington Center. On the toss of a coin the gold medal went to Baker for first place Third, Wygent. Height—5 feet 6 inches.

Shotput—First, Lober, Columbia City; second, Gipson, Kendallville; third, R. Moses, Kendallville. Distance—39 feet 4 inches.

Pole vault—First (tied), Clark, of Angola, and Gipson, of Kendallville. On the toss of a coin Clark got the gold medal for first place. Tihrd, J. Moyer, Washington Center. Height— 9feet 9¼ inches.

Broad jump—First, Pence, of Columbia City; second, Gipson, Kendallville; third, Wyatt, Fort Wayne. Distance—19 feet, 8¾ inches.

LOTS OF OPPOSITION FOR MASON TOMORROW

Frankie Mason is going to meet all kinds of opposition tomorrow night when he steps into the ring to clean out the Zulu Kid. The latter is set up along the toughest sort of lines for a bantam and he is out to make additions to his string of wins.

The local boy is working hard right up to the final minute and is in better condition than was ever the case before. Saturday he tipped the scale at 107 pounds, five pounds below the requirements. He will not be lonesome on the condition stuff, however, as word from Brooklyn is to the effect tha tthe easterner is trained right up to th eminute and will be in first-class condition Tuesday.

The remainder of the card for the show is of the highest order. In the opening two rivals, Battling Hess and Artie Wellsbacher, will mix, while in the semi-windup Young Brown, who took Holzhauer over the road in the last meeting, will scrap Eddie Austin, of Chicago.

WEEGHMAN AT OPENER.

Chicago, May 21.—Charles H. Weeghman, Cub president, will toss out the first ball in the opening Central league game at Richmond, Ind., this afternoon. Mr. Weeghman is a native of Richmond, and used his influence, also some capital, in placing that town in the Central circuit. This will be a gala day in the "old home town" and the Cub prexy expects to play a prominent part in the big doings.

WHY I TOOK UP TRAPSHOOTING.

(By Charles H. Newcomb, for National Sports Syndicate.)

(Mr. Newcomb is in business in Philadelphia. He won the Pennsylvania state trapshooting championship and the national amateur championship in 1915. He is also a member of the world's record squad that broke 497 out of 500 targets at Maplewood in 1916. He is a student of the game and one of the best trapshots in the United states).

Why did I take up trapshooting? Primarily because it seemed to fit into my business, at the time I took it up, better than other forms of recreation that I considered.

After dropping athletic work I wanted some form of outdoor recreation, and as club shoots were always held on Saturday afternoons and holidays, I adopted trapshooting. Furthermore, the fascination of trying to reduce the little clay "blue rocks" to dust increased every time I tried.

It probably is difficult for one who is not a trapshooter to realize this, but all trapshooters know that this idea of reducing the elusive clap targets to dust develops to such a degree that it would seem as if we were simply breaking them for spite. It is this fascination that holds me in the game.

The one element around which the whole success of the sport of trapshooting is centered, and the one thing that holds us all after once thoroughly initiated, is the sportmanship of the game, and those connected with it. There is no question but that there is more true sportsmanship exhibited daily in this sport than in any other in the world, and it is this feeling that is now responsible for the wonderful increase in this, the sport of all sports, for a red-blooded man, during the past year or two.

The rules governing trapshooting are few, but decisive, and to the point. We do not see every few weeks where some trapshooter is before the governing association for transgressing the amateur ruling as in other lines. The rule is so clear that there can be no misunderstanding as to what constitutes a professional or an amateur. He is either one or the other, and shoots as such. This is another reason why trapshooters are so enthusiastic about the sport. They have a fascinating game, where they meet good clean sportsmen and good fellows, and it makes a combination hard to beat.

In trapshooting, like in all other games that are worth while, a high degree of efficiency cannot be reached except through diligent practice, and application which makes the winning of a big event or tournament worth the effort. Take for instance the national amateur championship. To be eligible to compete in this event it is first necessary for the shooter to win the championship of his state. This is a great feat in itself.

CHARLES H. NEWCOMB.

Beginners are always welcome at trapshooting clubs. The regulars are only too glad to give all the assistance they can to every new convert. While the veterans can give the beginners some of the basic principles of trapshooting, it is a case of continual application, combined with bull dog tenacity that brings results for this as well as other games is very discouraging at times.

Keeping everlastingly at it, however, will bring success, and with victory past trials are forgotten. It is a sport worthy of the effort.

HOLDS HER ALLIES IN SUBJECTION

Peace Proposals Are in Fact Moves in Her War Scheme.

The following important review of Germany's aspirations in the world war is issued from the office of the Associated Press in Washington by authority. It furnishes the most explicit statement that has been uttered bearing upon the propaganda of conquest directed by the imperial government at Berlin and makes clear the dream of a great Germany that led the kaiser to begin the war.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, May 21.—Germany's next peace declaration, expected to suggest a program of territorial renunciation on the east and the west, is regarded here as largely answered beforehand by information revealing for the first time the full scope of the imperial government's aspirations for conquest in the south.

This information discloses as one of the primary aims of the war a plan for consolidation of an impregnable military and economic unit stretching from the North sea to the Mediterranean, cutting Europe permanently in half, controlling the Dardanelles, the Aegan and the Baltic, and eventually forming the backbone of a Prussian world empire.

In the light of German history, the plan shows how implicity the kaiser has followed out the blood and iron politico-economic methods of Bismarck for developing of Prussian power. Considered in view of the present war map, it shows that the major portion of the kaiser's war program has been accomplished, regardless of what disposition is made of conquered territory in France, Belgium and Russia.

Greater War Seen.

A full realization of this situation which will form a sinister background for consideration of whatever renunciation proposals the imperial chancellor may make, adds a new force to the repeated declarations of allied statesmen that the German peace maneuvers are in reality war moves, and that a premature truce only would give Germany a resting period in which to further Prussianize and prepare for a greater world war the territory to the southeast, which she has conquered under the guise of a friendly alliance.

Although officials have refrained from definite public expressions of what the United States might demand as a peace guarantee, these possibilities recall with recurring emphasis President Wilson's declaration that America might fight until "the world is made safe for democracy."

They bring into relief Foreign Minister Balfour's warning that hard fighting still must win the war, the conviction of the American army general staff that the country must prepare for at least three years of war and the fact that predictions of an early peace have been discredited as visionary in virtually every allied capital.

Policy Now Explained.

How minutely defined is the German plan and how accurately it is being carried out have become fully apparent only with the opening up, during the last few weeks, of several new avenues of information.

The return of American diplomatic agents from the central empires, the visit of the British and French war mission, detailed confidential reports of the recent frank expressions in the reichstag and in the German press, and the deductions of alert American agents abroad watching the newest peace moves have supplied the explanation of more than one hitherto obscured feature of the German policy.

In her southeastern conquests, it now is apparent, Germany has followed almost in toto the long-established plan of the pan-German league, whose propaganda has been regarded outside of Germany as the harmless activity of extremists, too radical to be taken seriously.

Coupled with this plan, as an instrument of economic consolidation, the German officials have used, with only slight modifications, the system of customs union expansion which aided Prussia in other years to extend her dominion over the other German states now making up the empire.

Lines Are Held Today.

As early as 1911 the pan-German league is said to have circulated a definite propaganda of conquest, with printed appeals containing maps of a greater Germany whose sway from Hamburg to Constantinople and then southeastward through Asiatic Turkey was marked out by boundaries virtually coincident with the military lines held today under German officers, by the troops of Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey.

Adhesion of the German government itself to such a plan was not suspected by the other powers, although the propagandists were permitted to continue their activities unhindered and to spread their appeals in a country of strict press supervision through the pan-German Gazette and other radical publications.

How closely the German government did adhere to the plan in reality has been demonstrated clearly, it is considered now, by the course of the war.

Bismarck as Example.

Following in the footsteps of Bismarck, who used the Franco-Prussian war alliance to bring Baden, Bavaria and Wurtemburg into the German confederacy and then into the German empire, Emperor William chose war as the means of establishing the broad pathway to the southeast which was essential for realization of the dream of a great Germany.

The subjugation of Austria-Hungary, which would have presented a difficult task under ordinary conditions, became in these circumstances comparatively simple. A polygot combination of states having little in common and apparently held together only by the decaying genius of the aged Emperor Franz Joseph, the dual monarchy was regarded everywhere as on the verge of dissolution. Her helplessness before Russia's armies became apparent early in the war, and the eagerness with which Germany seized the opportunity thus presented is pointed to as emphasizing the farsightedness of the German plans.

Hold Austria-Hungary.

Austria-Hungary's submission now is declared to be complete, both in a military and economic sense. The German officers commanding her armies, abetted by political and industrial agents scattered through the country by Germany, evidently are holding the Austrian and Hungarian population in a union which neither the hardships of war, the death of the emperor nor the inspiration of outside influences such as the Russian revolution, can break.

Bulgaria's declaration of war on the side of Germany was actuated by a German diplomatic coup which in itself is regarded now as a further evidence that a clear road through to the Dardanelles was considered in Berlin as a primary and imperative purpose of the war.

It is pointed out that the only concrete cause for action set forth in the Bulgarian war proclamation is that "the central powers have promised us parts of Serbia, creating an Austro-Bulgarian border line." Creation of such a junction, now well established by the Austro-German-Bulgarian armies, breaks down a hitherto formidable barrier to German expansion southeastward.

Turkey Under Control.

In the case of Turkey, German domination is believed here to be even more complete than in Austria-Hungary and Bulgaria. Not only have German officers led in defending Turkish territory and in eradicating inharmonious elements such as the Armenians and Syrians but it has been learned that German industrial organizers have taken a firm grip on Turkish industry, and a large delegation of German professors has been sent to spread German kultur among the population.

These developments throw a new light on many events before the war. Among them is the long unexplained declaration of Emperor William at Damascus in 1898 that all Mohammedans might confidently regard the German emperor as "their friend forever." There also is a complete understanding now of Germany's eagerness to secure in 1899 a concession for the Bagdad railroad, an artery of communication now indespensable to the German operations.

All Obstacles Overcome.

Fitting in squarely with an actuating desire for conquest to the southeast is the general German military policy during the entire war. It is noted that even at the expense of recessions on the eastern and western fronts, Germany has taken pains to overrun quickly Serbia, Montenegro and Rumania, and to keep in check all allied attempts to strike at the southeastern pathway from the Dardanelles or Saloniki. Not until the present British advances in Asiatic Turkey has there been any serious danger to any part of the greater stretch from the Baltic to the Persian gulf.

In consolidating this territory, it is revealed, the economic element has been given a conspicuous place. This work was going on before the war, although it had not reached a maturity comparable with the economic effort by which Prussia bound the German states in the customs union of 1828, forty years before she brought them under the empire.

A comprehension of the present danger prompted the allied economic conference at Paris, where plans were made for meeting the German trade war after the war.

Plans Custom Union.

It is problematical to officials here how far Germany might go, should peace be made now, with renunciation of all territory on the east and west, in political consolidation of the great territory in the southeast.

It is pointed out that any German peace offer would be expected to demand at least some expansion for Bulgaria, and retention of enough of the conquered Balkan territory to insure the route to Constantinople.

That it is the intention to bring Austro-Hungaria, Bulgaria and Turkey into a customs union, Germanizing their industries, and to surround the whole economic entity thus established with a formidable tariff wall, has been made clear by the declarations of Frederich Naumann and other exponents of an economic Mittel Europe.

Want Joint Chancellory.

Some influential men of this group even have suggested that Germany go so far immediately as to establish a joint chancellory for Germany, Austria and Hungary to conduct foreign affairs.

All of this is taken as revealing the peril of a premature peace which would leave the German southeastern domains unbroken.

The disclosures are regarded as giving a sinister color to recent movements for a separate peace for Austria-Hungary or Bulgaria, in the region where German conquest is most safe; to the eagerness with which German leaders have taken up the cry of "no annexation" so far as the great northern powers are concerned; to the German chancellor's recent reichstag speech indicating that the government was not yet ready to renounce its territorial gains in France, Belgium and Russia, "while all other matters are left in suspense."

Any renunciation of territory, it is expected, would exclude Poland, which would be made a "free state" under the German plan, but would remain wholly under German domination.

Could Cut "Pathway."

The turn of affairs is accepted, too, as bringing Austria-Hungary more clearly into relief as the area of possible operations to impose a barrier between Berlin and Constantinople. In that connection is recalled the declaration of the allies replying to President Wilson's peace note in the light of knowledge which only now has become available here, that the war must accomplish "the liberation of Italians, of Slavs, of Rumanians and of Tzecho-Slovacs from foreign domination; the enfranchisement of populations subject to the bloody tyranny of the Turk; the expulsion from Europe of the Ottoman empire," and the restoration of Serbia, Montenegro and Rumania.

Such a program, it is pointed out, would effectually break up the greater Germany now established as the nucleus of a world Germany. It would impose a Rumanian-Serbian barrier between Austria and Bulgaria, would further enlarge this barrier by restoring to Rumania her 3,500,000 nationals in eastern Hungary and probably to Serbia 5,500,000 Serbo-Croatians in southern Austria and a large section of Bulgaria.

Make Dardanelles Free.

The suggestion of the allies would also establish at the crucial southern point of the dual empire a free nation of 7,000,000 Tzecho-Slovacs and in the north a free Poland by the addition of five million Poles now under Austrian rule, and would restore 1,000,000 Italians to Italy and upward of 2,000,000 Slavs to Russia. In addition it would dismember the then detached Turkish territory to the south by liberating the Armenians and Syrians and removing the Dardanelles from German domination.

American officials have made it clear that in co-operating with the allies the United States was not entering a binding alliance to accomplish definite and detailed territorial aims, but there is every evidence that the government understands in concrete form the crucial southeastern element of the situation and realizes the enormity of the struggle that must be won before the world is made "safe for democracy."

Business Is Going---Strong

Business is going—in the East, the West, the North, the South. The country is prosperous. Last month's increase in business was very large. People may pause temporarily in their outfitting to arrange to meet the new conditions. But the unloosing of billions of dollars will unloose a flow of prosperity absolutely necessary to sustain the world's burden.

Our industries can be made more prolific only if the people buy and use the merchandise produced by our industries. Manufacturing slackens when business slackens. Manufacturing grows in a prolific way when business grows. And business can grow and remain healthful only when the people buy and keep money in circulation.

Keep business going — for our country's sake. War cannot be waged and won without the sinews of war. Do your part by buying what you can afford. You help us, we help the next one and he helps a third and so on, so we are all prosperous.

RED MEN IN ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICE

The annual memorial services were held Sunday by Mechecannochqua tribe, No. 106, Improved Order of Red Men. The graves of the departed members in the various cemeteries were decorated by committees appointed for that purpose after which services were held at the Plymouth Congregational church, where the Rev. Arthur J. Folsom delivered the memorial address.

"Your brothers still live," Rev. Folsom said. "Their voices still proclaim those sacred truths wrapped up in freedom, friendship and charity. With inspiring, quickening power they still lift us heavenward. And may it be said of us when we are gone that we loved much, served well, honored God and glorified Jesus Christ, who is the author and finisher of our faith."

LIBERTY BONDS FOR EXPRESS EMPLOYES

American Company Offers Way for All to Obtain Some at Offices.

An announcement conveying the intelligence that the American Express company had purchased a large block of the government bonds of the Liberty loan of 1917, and would give an opportunity to all its employes to purchase such bonds at actual cost, has been received by J. H. Wort, local agent for that company. The announcement further stated that in order to facilitate the sale of the bonds that company would extend privileges to the public to subscribe for the bonds as well as to its own employes. The company statement said that if a sufficient number of employes wished to subscribe for a larger amount of bonds than they would be able to pay for by August 30, the company would consider a plan of providing for payment by monthly installments. If the bonds are sold with such rapidity that the block becomes exhausted before June 15, the company will purchase as many more bonds as are required. Particular emphasis is placed upon the fact that these negotiations will be made without profit to the express company, and that the Liberty bonds will be free from federal, state or local taxes, except estate and inheritance taxes. The subscription books will close on or before June 15, and purchasers are notified that all subscriptions should be sent to the company's treasurer at 65 Broadway, New York, through the office of the local agents. The cost will be at par, unless the bonds are delivered after June 15, when interest of 3½ per cent. will be charged for the time beyond that date until payment is made.

CALLED TO SPECIAL WORK.

Frank Ray Receives Promotion on the Pennsylvania.

A change in the ranks of road foreman of engines of the Pennsylvania overlooked by The Sentinel last week affects Frank Ray, who was road foreman of engines of the Eastern division and who was succeeded by John H. Hanna. Mr. Ray has been assigned to special work under the direct control of the motive power superintendent and he assumed that duty this morning. Mr. Ray served as road foreman of engines of the Western division immediately following the death of A. H. Polhamus and in that capacity instructed C. R. Colmey, who a few months later became the road foreman of engines on this division. While holding that position, Mr. Ray became acquainted with all the road and yard men then on the pay rolls and many are still in the service who remember him and entertain high regard for him.

SAFETY FIRST COMMITTEE.

Nickel Plate Chicago and Fort Wayne Division to Meet Jointly.

The Chicago and the Fort Wayne divisions of the Nickel Plate will have a joint meeting of the safety committees in the assembly room of the court house tonight. This meeting will be open to all who care to attend and Nickel Plate employes are particularly invited. The speakers will be A. W. Johnston, assistant to President Bernet; R. W. Mitcner, superintendent of transportation; W. S. Blair, superintendent of telegraph, and others. The general safety movements as related to the handling of trains in connection with the changed condition incident to the war will be the topic of discussion.

RE-OPENED THE CHARTER.

With a view of facilitating a campaign for membership inaugurated a few days ago, the charter of the Linemen's union has been re-opened and will not be closed until June 15. In the meantime the members and the deputies will hustle for applicants, giving attractive entertainments each week. A fish fry is on the docket for next Friday night, providing the half dozen or more members who went to the lakes Saturday are successful in getting the requisite number and pounds of fish. Arthur Bennet, the organizer, who was at Louisville a few days ago, is here to get "things going" and will probably remain here three or four days.

WELTON ON THE JOB.

Samuel A. Welton, the newly appointed assistant road foreman of engines of the Pennsylvania Western division, arrived in the city last night and this morning assumed the duties of the office. He said he would bring his family here as soon as he could find a suitable house to live in. Mr. Welton is well known to all the engineers and firemen running in and out of Crestline, having met them frequently at that place, which was a terminal for him when he was running on the Eastern division.

VISITED GERALD LEEPER.

Gerald A. Leeper, former clerk in the Pennsylvania tin and pipefitting shop of the Pennsylvania, did not take a position in Texas, as expected when he left this city two or three weeks ago. Instead he is working in the offices of the Illinois Central at Chicago, where he was induced to take employment by the offer of a good salary. Robert Penfold, clerk for Foreman Harry Emmerson, of the Pennsy lathe room, visited Mr. Leeper yesterday. The latter sends his regards to his former shop associates.

TO HAVE IMPORTANT MEETING.

No. 513, Nickel Plate division, Grand International Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, announce an important meeting at Vorwerk's hall Thursday afternoon. The management states that business of importance will be transacted and it is necessary that there be a full attendance.

ATTENDED TOM GORDON'S FUNERAL.

A number of Pennsylvania office and shop employes laid off this morning to attend the funeral of Thomas Gordon, who died in Chicago Friday. Mr. Gordon worked in the Pennsylvania master mechanic's office several years before he went to Chicago to work in the board of trade offices.

BLACKSMITHS RESUME WORK.

Fred Muehlenbruch, Pennsylvania blacksmith, resumed his duties this morning after an illness covering a period of three months. E. H. Rehling, who had a hand hurt a week ago, also reported for duty at the blacksmith shop this morning.

CLERK'S PROMOTED.

B. C. Derck has been appointed price clerk at the store keeper's room of the Wabash in this city, assuming the new duties this morning. Leo Heersche, of the local Wabash store room, has been transferred to Peru as storekeeper for the company. Both changes are promotions for the men affected.

BOOK OF RULES SCHOOL.

Trainmaster R. E. Casey, of the G. R. & I., opened his school on the book of rules this morning. Classes will be held at 8:30 o'clock in the morning of Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and at 9 o'clock Sunday morning.

Frank Markey, acting chief clerk of the Pennsylvania motive power offices, made an auto trip to Auburn yesterday.

J. H. Asies, a truckman, and Val Schmitt, a helper, are new employes in the ware house at the General Electric works.

Passenger Engineers S. A. Hiser and A. J. Nickell, of the G. R. & I., are unable to take their runs out on account of sickness.

After a two weeks' stay in Michigan, Machinist H. Spidell resumed work in the Pennsylvania round house this morning.

Mrs. George Schmidt, wife of the Pennsylvania cab builder, has gone to Milwaukee in response to a telegram announcing the serious illness of her sister.

Machinist H. A. E. Witte, who resigned a position at the Pennsylvania shops Saturday night, has taken employment at the plant of S. F. Bowser & Company.

W. R. McCammon, who was sick, and L. A. Overmeyer and V. S. Pollack, who were looking after private business, resumed work as firemen on the Pennsylvania this morning.

A. C. Havaland, of the car machine shop, and H. H. Hoppe, of the carbuilding shop of the Pennsylvania, have recovered from illness and are working again.

Michael Carey will report for duty as night watchman at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop tonight. He had been off duty on account of the death of his son-in-law, H. Tidd.

William J. Feary, foreman of the boiler department at the Pennsylvania round house, has returned to that duty after several days' absence. With Mrs. Feary he had been attending the funeral of his nephew at Lebanon, Pa.

W. E. Thompson, boilermakers' helper, has resigned a position at the Pennsylvania shops and will take employment in the Baltimore and Ohio shops at Garrett.

E. A. Wagner, head of the transformer department of the General Electric works, will return home tomorrow. He has been east on business for the company for over a week.

Charles H. Knothe and W. F. Mailand, machinists, resumed work at the Pennsylvania lathe room this morning. Mr. Knothe was sick a week and Mr. Mailand was sick three or four days.

Mrs. J. T. Owen and E. J. Owen, mother and brother respectively of Division Storekeeper George T. Owen, of the Wabash, left for their homes in Decatur, Ill., this morning, after visiting in Fort Wayne several days.

A. Ralson, who was out with Company F, Second regiment, seven months, has been discharged from the service and this morning resumed his old position as fireman on the G. R. & I.

C. W. Mitchell, who was fishing in the vicinity of Angola two or three days, reported for work at the Pennsylvania paint shop this morning. He witnessed the terrific hail and rain storm mentioned in a special telegram from Angola to The Sentinel today.

Mrs. Vodde, who has been very sick, is improving, and her husband, Joseph I. Vodde, was able to resume work at the Pennsylvania round house this morning. He was off duty several days because of the serious condition of his wife.

Foreman F. A. Opatz, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, and Mrs. Opatz had as guests yesterday Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Thomas, of Nappanee, who made the trip down here in an automobile. Mrs. Thomas is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Opatz.

The Nickel Plate has resumed the operation of the "meat train," which was annulled during the freight congestion in the east for two or three months. This is a very fast train, running between Chicago and New York.

G. E. Saunders, of Orlando, Fla., is here to spend a week or two with friends and to incidentally study business at S. F. Bowser & Company's plant. He is a salesman for the company and is a member of the Pacemakers' club.

Beecher D. Milier, chief clerk in the testing department of the Pennsylvania motive power offices, is east to confer with C. R. Branson, of that office, who has been looking after matters connected with locomotive tests for some time.

F. A. Armatrout, with a box of cigars under his arm, appeared at the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning and in consideration of the smokers the boys forgave him for getting married at Hamlet without first notifying them. The ceremony took place last week.

H. J. Rooney has gone to Baraboo, Wis., to attend the funeral of his father-in-law, who died last Saturday, aged 80 years. Mrs. Rooney went to the home of her father last Friday. Two or three weeks later Mr. Rooney wil assume a responsible position at Baraboo and the family will reside there. He is a tester at the General Electric works.

A post card to A. L. Hadley, of the engineering department of the General Electric works, carried the best wishes of Leslie Jeffers to his friends in the plant and the information that he is having a good time and working hard at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Mr. Jeffers was employed as a tester in the General Electric general testing room.

The G. E. storehouse ball club was defeated yesterday by the Fort Wayne Dodgers, the score being 11 to 7. The storehouse team will have two games next Sunday, the first at Foster park with the office force at 9 o'clock in the morning and the second at Weisser park diamond at 2:30 o'clock with the Nationals.

Machinist John Offner, who figured in two accidents Friday, was able to hobble to the Pennsylvania vise shop and work today, despite the painfulness of the injuries. He was struck in the side by a sledgehammer and when on his way home, was run down by an automobile. By grabbing and clinging to the fender of the machine, Mr. Offner prevented more serious and possibly fatal injuries. The bicycle he was riding was totally demolished.

FINAL SETTLEMENT OF EIGHT HOUR LAW

Railroads and Brotherhood Managers Expected to Come to an Agreement.

New York, May 21.—A settlement is expected to be reached this week between the national conference committee of the railroads and the heads of the four railway brotherhoods on all points at issue over the application of the eight hour day, members of both sides announced today. Conferences have been in progress here for two weeks. While the dispute, which has twice brought the country to the verge of a national railroad strike was settled officially in March when the railroads granted the eight hour day, on the eve of the supreme court's decision upholding the Adamson law, there remained many points of difference over the application of the law. The railroads contended that some concessions under the old ten hour day should be surrendered on an eight hour schedule, which gave the men $60,000,000 more wages a year. This was opposed by the unions as a general proposition.

To Protect Old Friends

With Her Own Hands She Clears Homestead in an Oregon Wilderness—Stampeding Cattle and Hordes of Jackrabbits Ruin Her Crops—Shoots Wildcats and Coyotes for Profit.

Salem, Ore., May 21.—A woman enejoying hard work and romance for 32 months alone in the sage brush wilds of Christmas Lake Valley, Ore.

Braving the threat of cattle rustlers, escaped convicts and other sinister skulkers of the desert stretches.

Killing or trapping several hundred wildcats and coyotes.

Waging a losing fight against hordes of jack rabbits, invading her garden.

Forced by circumstances to provide for herself, Mrs. Whitehead saw her chance in government land. She endured all the hardships of frontier life and has now fulfilled the requirements of the homestead law. She is about to prove up on her half-section of fine land that will some day yield her a fortune.

"My mother and I were in California when I decided to take up the land," she explained. "Mother felt she couldn't stand the life, so I struck out alone.

"We had very little money. The entry fee, my shack, the digging of a well, freight payments on equipment and the like made a frightful hole in our bank account."

Mrs. Whitehead has for a few months been enjoying a respite from her ranch labors, at the same time earning more money for improvements. Oregon legislators heared of her pluck and made a position for her as bill clerk during the last session of the state senate.

"There were many times when I was tempted to back out," she went on. "The loneliness of the desert is terrifying at times. It was all so different from old Kentucky and the things I had been used to that it took a lot of courage to keep from crying.

"My ranch is 140 miles from anywhere. On the trip to my land, after we had driven 115 miles in a bumpy, buckboard stage, the driver pulled up his horses in front of a dismal, unpainted building, bounded by distant horizon, gray sage brush and desert air.

"'This here, Ma'am, is Viewpoint,' announced the driver.

"I had been told that Viewpoint was my 'nearest town.' Imagine my dismay at the dreariness of the spot. I choked down my disappointment as we rambled twenty-six miles further on from Viewpoint to my claim.

"My nearest neighbors, a family six miles away, helped me build my shack.

Mrs. Frances H. Whitehead and Her "Shack" on Her Christmas Lake Valley Claim.

A well digger was found and the water problem settled. Soon I was quite comfortably housed under my own roof.

"After that the hardest part began—staying there. I went to work to keep from getting lonesome. The first summer I cleared 22 acres of sage brush with my own hands and put in a crop of rye. It came up beautifully—and made an excellent meal for a multitude of jack rabbits which swooped down on it in spite of volleys from my shotgun. I lost my rye crop. I planted a garden near the shack. A herd of cattle stampeded one night and trampled it in the ground.

"That was rather discouraging. The money question was serious. The war has brought up the price on coyote and wildcat pelts, so I turned trapper for profit. It seemed astounding that I could shoot and trap as many as I did. I cured the pelts and made a tidy sum of money.

"I managed to get quite a flock of chickens and raised a number of sheep from two strays given me by a herdsman who considered them worthless. So I didn't do so badly after all.

"Christmas Lake Valley is far off the road to civilization these days, but sooner or later a railroad will come, and we folk in the desert will get our reward for being there first. Almost everything nowadays depends on getting in ahead of the crowd.

"I have been making a careful study of dry farming, and this year, if I can kill those pesky rabbits, I will have a crop of grain. I have almost 80 acres seeded now—did it all myself.

"I don't feel that I have done anything that any other woman with good health could not do. I hardly think I am to be classed as a heroine, for the desert life has its good features. The loneliness is the great objection. You can't realize how it is unless you've tried it and gone 'outside' again.

"After I had been on my claim for fifteen months I went out on a business errand. I slept one night in a hotel with another woman. When the breakfast bell rang, I thought it must be a fire alarm. I jumped out of bed and tried to rouse my roommate. She didn't rouse and as the bell kept ringing, I just dragged her bodily into the hall.

DON'T HURT A BIT!

This tiny bottle holds the wonder of wonders. It contains an almost magical drug discovered by a Cincinnati man. It is called freezone. It is a compound made from ether.

Apply a few drops of this freezone upon a tender, aching corn or a hardened callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and loose that you just lift it off with the fingers.

You feel no pain or soreness when applying freezone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the skin.

Just ask in any drug store for a small bottle of freezone. This will cost but a few cents but will positively rid your poor, suffering feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, or the tough calluses on bottom of feet. Genuine freezone has a yellow label. Look for yellow label.—Advertisement.

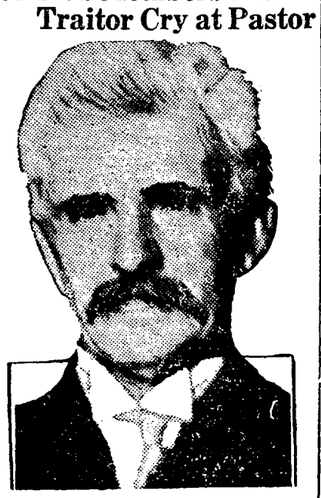
Church Members Hurl Traitor Cry at Pastor



The Rev. I. F. Tanner, accused of treason by a church congregation because of a sermon he preached recently in Los Angeles, Cal.

Members hurled the charge of "traitor" at him and the majority of the congregation left.

The minister is now seeking court-martial in order to explain his statements. He says his father and older brothers were in the civil war and that he wants a place in the United States army.

"TIZ" GLADDENS SORE, TIRED FEET

THE ALARMIST.

Watch out for this bird. When this feather-brained candle starts to flicker, snuff 'im quick. Put a damper on his yodle while it's a whisper. He's a dangerous boiler with a bum safety valve. When something happens that means tight sitting and cool noodle work this egg rears in the harness and kicks in all colors, causing weak thinkers to follow suit, drop the breakfast pancake and start running, not knowing where they're ankling, but ten time out of nine right in the wrong direction. The alarmist is worse than a horse in a barn fire, because the horse is chalked up as not knowing any better. In these war times the alarmist's act is to yell "Fire!" in a packed house. He's more deadly than the danger. So when war cinders are floating keep ice on the brow, lasso the alarmist, pull his emergency brake, spike it, then chuck chloroform under his beek and meet the danger with clear lubricating oil in your think mechanism.

To Prevent Old Age Coming Too Soon!

"Toxic poisons in the blood are thrown out by the kidneys. The kidneys act as filters for such products. If we wish to prevent old age coming too soon and increase our chances for a long life, we should drink plenty of pure water and take a little Anuric," says the world-famed Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y.

When suffering from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired worn-out feeling, the simple way to overcome these disorders is merely to obtain a little Anuric (double strength) from your nearest druggist and you will quickly notice the grand results. You will find it many times more potent than lithia, and that it dissolves uric acid almost as hot water does sugar.

ADVICE TO WOMEN.

New Albany, Ind.—"I had been suffering from woman's trouble for several years. Have used several patent medicines which seemed to do me no good. At times I would lose consciousness and fall over on the floor I suffered so. I tried several doctors but they did not do me any good — they would only relieve me for the time being. My husband's mother told me about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I took several bottles of it and am glad to say that I am now sound and well. I certainly think it is a great medicine and recommend it to anyone suffering as I did."—Mrs. Charles E. Welch, 414 W. 6th St.

THE MARKETS

WHEAT MAKES JUMP OF EIGHTEEN CENTS

Wheat started a jump of 18c here Monday morning, landing once more above the $3 mark. The price here as it now stands is $3.02 and $3.04 per bushel. Changes have not been made in flour prices, since most of the dealers had not reduced their prices with the recent drop in the wheat quotations.

Receipts remained in the "fair" class here on the opening day of the week. Twenty-five loads were weighed at the city scales, with fourteen of them hay, which dropped in price. The figures paid were $17.50@18.50, this being from 50c to $1.50 lower than Saturday's prices.

Six loads of corn brought $1.61@1.70 per bushel, while five loads of oats were taken at 73@75c.

Speculation in Imperial Grain is Practically Eliminated.

Chicago, May 21.—Wheat was deposed today as the king of the grain trade. Instead, the plebian cereal oats took first place in the amount of grain business transacted on the board of trade. So decided was the change that the dealings in oats were transferred to the big pit from which until today the quotations went out that largely determined the price of breadstuffs throughout the world. After opening 3c to 10c lower, with July at $2.30 and September at $2.14, wheat prices rallied to nearly Saturday's finish but then underwent a fresh sag to about 3c or 4c beneath that level.

Lowness of prices, lack of restrictions on trading and the magnitude of recent export dealings all helped to widen out the business in oats. Advances, however, hardly exceeded 1c, with July inclined to steady at 68c.

The close was weak, 7c net lower, with July at $2.33 and September at $2.10.

Cold, unfavorable weather gave strength to corn. After opening ¼c to ½c off, the market scored moderate general gains.

WALL STREET OPENS WEEK WITH ADVANCE

Industrials and War Issues Lead to Way to Big Trading.

New York, May 21.—The week on the stock exchange opened with a resumption of the recent advance, industrials and war issues again leading. United States Steel was conspicuous for its rise of two points to the new current maximum of 124⅜. Other stocks of the same class gained one to two points in the first half hour's operations. Shippings rallied from last week's setback and important rails made fractional gains. Specialties and utilities were featured by Industrial Acohol and Ohio Gas at advances of two to three points. Aside from a further moderate decline in Denver and Rio Grande preferred there were virtually no exceptions to the higher trend.

Metals, oils and sugars joined in the broad trading of the first hour. The turnover of that period aggregated almost 300,000 shares, of which U. S. Steel supplied about 30 per cent. Short covering and fresh buying fully offset profit taking. A temporary lull and moderate recessions in leaders proved to be in the nature of a breathing spell, prices mounting higher towards midday. Equipments and associated specialties continued to dominate the market. Another reversal in motors and accessories and the heaviness of People's Gas and United Fruit exerted little adverse effect. Bonds were firm.

Student Minister Getting His Education on 20 Cents a Day.

Eugene, Ore., May 18.—Eating is the least important feature in getting an education. The less you eat the better your brain works.

FRED COLEY.

Fred Coley, minister-to-be, has evolved this entertaining information during three years of actual experience as a student in the University of Oregon and the Eugene Bible school.

The high cost of living has no terrors for Coley. He has been doing so well on next to nothing at all during his college career he has decided that food is a minor requisite in man's welfare.

In spite of his limited menu, Coley is no anaemic. He stands five feet, ten inches, weighs 167 pounds and has the appearance of a well-fed athlete. So keen are his mental faculties, as a result of his eating system, that he easily keeps a high rank in his studies and on Sundays "supplies" for pastors in small towns near Eugene.

His daily rations have about this range: Breakfast—An apple and a glass of milk. Lunch—Two potatoes and a glass of buttermilk. Dinner—Macaroni, rice and an apple.

He buys his food in quantities, securing a price cut. Each spring he plants a garden to supply new vegetables for his table. Cabbages, turnips, carrots and such, he buys to add variety.

"When I could buy bread three loaves for a dime, I ate it," said Coley, "but now that the price has gone up, I usually do without bread. I boil wheat, salt it a little and make hominy. I never eat meat. Cheese is also too expensive. I boil my macaroni, salt it and eat it like a cereal.

"I manage to get along quite satisfactorily. I know my food system aids my mental development. When I first started to school I worked at a place where I got rich food. I did not study as well as I do now. I could not concentrate.

"It is easier to study when I am a little hungry or have not eaten too much. I enjoy meat, pie and cake, but I have become accustomed to my fare and never miss the things I do without."

THE MEANING OF "HOME"

First of a Series of Buy-A-Home Articles by B. J. GRISWOLD

Never in the history of Fort Wayne has the word "home" meant so much as it does today. With the minds of thousands centered upon the production of vegetables and grains to meet, in a unique way, the demands of the hour, every home in Fort Wayne has risen in untold value in the mind of the man who has any degree of appreciation of his possession. Sorry, indeed, is the condition of him who has every opportunity and the means to own a home and who still lives in a rented place with no garden of his own, no place he can refer to truly as "home."

The story is told of one man employed in a Fort Wayne manufacturing plant, who became so wrapped up in the beauties of his own back yard that his fellow-employes were not allowed to remain in ignorance of the man's pride. Evening after evening—even before the hands of the clock were turned forward—he spent his spare time in the back yard improving it in every way and directing the growth of every green thing which had been placed there by his own hands. In the meantime, the men in the shop became interested in the description of that back yard, and one of the number decided to take a look at it and gain some pointers on how to improve his own place. So, one evening, he took the time to make the visit. The owner, full of enthusiasm, explained this feature and that, described in detail how this result was accomplished and just what knowledge of soil and planting conditions were necessary to reach certain ends. The owner of the home, surrounded by a happy family, explained eloquently many features of his back-yard gardening and other interesting work which he had done about his home.

The next day, one of the other men employed in the factory said to his friends who had made the visit of the evening before: "Well, I suppose Brown has got a great back yard—he talks about it so much."

"No," responded the other, "It's just an ordinary, well-kept yard. He has his house in good repair and they're a mighty happy family. But as far as the place is concerned, I can't see that it's any better than the ordinary run of good homes of moderate price."

"Well, why the dickens does he keep talking about it, then? I had an idea it was the garden spot of Fort Wayne."

"I've got an idea why it is," responded the other. "Brown is in love with his home simply because he has made it what it is. With his own hands he has planted the trees and the shrubbery. The lawn was made by him. He has learned to love flowers and the care of vegetables. When he looks at the place or any part of it, he can say, 'I did it.' I believe it's just like a mother with her own children. The work, the care, the thought, the trouble and all, make her children more beautiful to her than any other children, although they may be the homeliest, most freckled kids in the whole town. The only way to fall in love with any kind of work is to go at it, and if that work means the adding of beauty or liveableness to the home then the home becomes a thing of growing value as the days and weeks and years go by. I've made up my mind to buy a place, too, and begin to get out of life some of the real joy that Brown does."

Build While You're Young.

The account of the experiences of another man is of interest as a guide and incentive to the young man, even though he has not reached the matrimonial stage of his career. In some way, the subject of the example was induced, some time before his marriage, to buy a lot in a growing neighborhood and to build thereon a moderate-sized home of the modern type. At first it was to him only a house on a plat of ground, and he looked upon it merely as a piece of property for investment. He planned to rent the place for a time and to sell it whenever the right opportunity presented itself. But one day Cupid happened over in his neighborhood and made him a call which changed his entire plans. Immediately the house took on a different appearance. The lot seemed to change magically from a piece of ground to the beginning of a beautiful lawn, with shrubbery, while the rear portion invited immediate attention for development into a vegetable garden with a portion devoted to flowers and shrubbery. He found time from his usual routine of living to spend hours every week on this house which now became a home, and between this time and the day of the wedding his affections were divided between "her" and the home which was to become theirs. With loving care, their hands joined in designing that back yard as well as the front expanse of grass and shrubbery. The home—now that it was a real home instead of something for rent and income—was found to need some revision to accommodate their individual ideas, and these were made in accordance with those ideas, so that they, themselves, were soon a part of the place which now reflected their personality. The weeks brought the time of the wedding, and then all memories of the "house" faded and the real home blossomed into its real fullness. The story of those early months and years, as the husband and wife turned from their early individual courses of entertainment—much of it representing wasted time—is one of the development of the home in its every interest. Said the man one day:

"I see so many young fellows these days doing just as I used to do—try to find amusement here, there and everywhere, blinded to the fact that the most profitable entertainment a man can gain is to be found in the development of his own home. My advice to every one of them is to buy a home and do it now. Home meant so much to me at the time we were married that I didn't think it could take on an added value; but since the children came there is an element about it that never before came in to show me the true value of a home. The family that lives in a rented house has been robbed of the true joy of living, and I'm everlastingly grateful to the real estate man who turned my mind toward the right thing to do."

Today the real estate men of Fort Wayne are asking every citizen of Fort Wayne who does not own a home to do it now. There are many reasons why it should be done now. Lumber has not advanced in price like steel or the building materials used in large commercial structures—only about $10 per thousand feet—but there's no telling what the future has in store for those who may choose to delay indefinitely the ownership of a home.

LODGE NOTES

A large class of candidates was initiated by Fort Wayne lodge, Moose-heart Legion of the World, Sunday afternoon, after which it was decided that the present initiation fee should remain in force for sixty days and during which time a membership campaign of the entire district would be held.

Reports of the delegates to the recent state encampment of the Indiana G. A. R. were made Saturday afternoon at the regular meeting of Lawton-Wayne post, No. 271. Attention was called to the fact that in addition to the election of Judge Samuel M. Hench to the office of department commander, Fort Wayne has furnished five department officers. They are Col. D. N. Foster, who served as department commander some years ago; Dr. John J. Ogle and B. W. Skelton, who served as senior vice commander and Captain W. A. Kelsey and Amos Walter as department junior vice commander.

ADDITIONAL DEATHS

CLEARY.

Mrs. Johanna Cleary, aged 83 years, died Monday morning at the home of her daughter, 229 East Woodland avenue. She was the widow of Patrick Cleary, who died in Ireland thirty years ago. The deceased had been a patient in the St. Rochus hospital for nearly six years.

Mrs. Cleary was born and reared in Watterford county, Ireland. She came to America when she was 57 years old, and came directly to Allen county, where she has lived ever since. She was one of the old members of the St. Patrick's church. Surviving are three sons, John, Edward and Dennis Cleary, and one daughter, Mrs. P. J. Oddou, all of this city. Funeral announcement later.

LAWRENS FUNERAL HELD.

The funeral of Godfrey Lawrens, who dropped dead in the office of Dr. Macbeth last week, was held Saturday afternoon from the chapel of Chalfant & Egley, with the Rev. Neal, of the First M. E. church officiating. Interment was made at Lindenwood. The home of the deceased was at St. John's. Surviving are the widow and a daughter, 5 years old, two brothers-in-law, Thomas F. Collins, of Dunfee, and Clyde Collins, of this city. Mrs. George Craw, of the Portland apartments, is a sister of the widow. Lawrens was a member of Cedar camp No. 1, Modern Woodmen of the World, of Columbus, O.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Schele.—Funeral services for Howard E. Schele will be held Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the residence, 1712 East Wayne street, and at 9:00 o'clock from the Cathedral. Interment in the Catholic cemetery.

Cohn.—Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Cohn will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence. Interment at Lindenwood. Auto funeral.

A DIPLOMATIC SHIP FOR USE OE ALLIES

A Novel Convenience Maintained Short Distance From Piraeus.

Athens, May 21.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Devoted exclusively to the use of the British, Russian, Serbian, Belgian and Rumanian legations which withdrew from Athens, a vessel anchored at a point half an hour's sail from Piraeus, in the direction of Salamis, fulfils a novel purpose as a diplomatic ship. "His Majesty's Legation E-620" reads the giant metal sign attached to her hull, and round her foremast-top there clings a Union Jack, bearing in its center the British royal arms surrounded by a wreath.

The ministers and their staffs have been on board this vessel for more than ninety days. They boarded it at Piraeus when the entente ministers had delivered their ultimatum to King Constantine's government last December and had to leave Athens till full reparation had been given. After a short stay in Piraeus harbor, the E-620 sailed out toward Salamis and has been there ever since.

Never, perhaps in the whole course of diplomacy has there been such competitions with Noah or such diplomatic life as is lived on board the E-620. When the ministers quitted Athens the French envoy boarded a French cruiser, and the Italian minister also had a cruiser at his disposal, but E-620 had to house all the remaining legations. And a legation means not only minister, counselor, attaches and secretaries, but also their wives and families and a large body of secretaries and councilors, attendants, stewards, sailors, signalmen and the humbler members of a diplomatic establishment.

The central saloon is the most important part of the ship for it receives almost everyone who comes on board. By some secret of construction all gangways, passages, staircases, appear to lead into it, and the traffic across the breadth of the vessel passes through it.

Difficult and important work has been carried on in this room. In the days of the Greek crisis, round the dark table in the far right corner were the ministers of Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy, Belgium, Rumania and Serbia, in deep conference; at the table beside them were the military attaches, plunged in papers; facing the ministers, across the saloon, round another table, debated tired-looking commercial and shipping authorities; from the tables in the center rose the incessant batter and rasp of massed typewriters of the secretaries.

In all this was a medley of languages and amid the confusion of murmurs and continuous noise a woman or two ever seemed to be seated in the foreground, knitting or doing some unending piece of embroidery, looking across quizzically at the statesmen from time to time, as though to say, "Well, well, this is all very important and triumphant, of course, but it is we women who watch over you through it all and keep the world trim."

Communication is kept up with Athens, the diplomatists going back and forth in motorboats and hoping for the day when they will be able to return to shore life.

COUNTY AGENTS IN A CLOSED MEETING

Six county agents and several presidents of county associations met at the court house Monday afternoon in a closed season. It is said that they were to discuss plans of organizations and demonstration work. Committee work is also another subject for discussion.

County Agent A. J. Hutchins presided at this gathering. Those who attended were: V. A. Place, of Wabash; H. R. Smalley, of Angola; A. Z. Arehart, of Auburn; Harry Gray, of Bluffton, and M. H. Overton, of Decatur. This is the first district meeting which has been held.

KEPT HER HUBBY OUT OF THE WAR

Mrs. Edith Cain Attempts Suicide When He Threatened to Enlist.

Mrs. Edith Cain attempted to commit suicide Sunday afternoon, when her husband said he was going to war. She slashed her left wrist with a sharp knife. For a time it was thought that she might bleed to death. She was removed to the St. Josepuh hospital. Later she was taken to police headquarters on an intoxication charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Cain quarreled, while seated at a table in the Fort Wayne restaurant, 1501 Calhoun street. When the husband attempted to gain a vantage by threatening to face the German cannons his wife tried to take her life. She had been drinking heavily, police were told. She was released from the drunk charge on Monday.

Used a Razor.

George Williams, colored, who lives in the rolling mill district, is in the St. Joseph hospital with a long cut across his abdomen as the result of an altercation with Henry Smith, colored, Sunday night. Smith is alleged to have cut Williams with a razor when Williams objected to the attentions which Smith paid to a woman in the company. Smith is held under $500 bond on a charge of assault and battery, with intent to kill. The case will be tried on Friday, when conditions of Williams is fully understood.

Attracted Attention.

Alvin McKinnis, living in the 900 block on Herman street, caused much excitement in his immediate neighborhood Saturday afternoon and moved a woman living near his house to send in a riot call. Police found the street near the house lined with women, who had been attracted from their homes by the vocal disturbance hoisted by McKinnis.

It is alleged that the man drove his wife fro mhome. She fled to the house of a neighbor. McKinnis started in search for her. He announced his mission in stentorian tones. He was fined $10 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge.

Tore His Shirt.

Peter Craig grew boisterous in the saloon at the corner of Gay and Hayden streets Saturday night, when three Italians tore o ffhis shirt, it is stated. The bartender in the saloon called for police when the fray was under way. Craig opposed attentions of the officers. He was fined $1 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge Monday morning. He is said to be the brother of Arthur Craig, the man who escaped form the parole officer last Friday when being conducted to the Jeffersonville reformatory after pleading guilty to stealing $210 from the Kaough Coal company.

Wanted the Knife.

Minnie Cannon, colored, was staying with a man named McGee at 2615 Savannah street last week. They were supposed to be man and wife. They fought on Saturday, it is alleged. The woman fled. Later she returned to obtain possession of the knife. Police were called by the colored occupants of the house. Police say that they found much blood on the floor where the struggle between the pair had taken place. Minnie Cannon was locked up on a drunk charge. The man could not be found. The woman was released Monday.

Bright Headlights.

Joe Coboney, jitney driver, pleaded guilty to a charge of displaying bright headlights. He was arrested Saturday night at the corner of Calhoun and Washington streets. Police testified that his lights threw a glare as far as Lewis street. He was fined $5 and costs.

Other Police Court Cases.

Commodore Keek, charged with intoxication, wanted to show Judge Kerr that he had signed the temperance pledge.

"You don't need a pledge," said the judge. "You need to quit soaking your hide with booze." Keek was discharged.

Ed Scott, 1415 Clinton street, took a walk Sunday morning. He wandered along the railroad tracks. He was accompanied by a whisky bottle. Police were afraid he would stumble in front of a train. He was fined $5 and costs on a drunk charge Monday morning.

MUST PAY DEARLY FOR LITTLE GIRL'S CURLS

Cutting off curls of little girls, trying to put his false teeth in their mouths, hugging the children, who played about his concession stand, in Weisser park, brought a change of occupation to Henry Lauer, 42, who came to Fort Wayne from Wabash to operate the refreshment booth in the park. Lauer was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 180 days at the state farm, by Judge Kerr, in police court, Monday morning on a charge of assault and battery.

Women living in the neighborhood of Weisser park notified the police on Saturday of Lauer's misconduct towards small girls. Detective Sergeant Peter Junk was sent to investigate the case. He learned that Lauer had cut off one of the prettiest curls of a little girl, living in the neighborhood. The curl was removed from Louer's packet.

The tent in which Lauer had operated his stand was taken down by the police. The goods which he had secured on credit, was returned to the wholesale establishments. Lauer was held on a disorderly conduct charge, which was afterwards changed to assault and battery.

Lauer admitted caressing the children and calling them "My girls," but had no evil intentions, he testified in the hearing, held in the rear room of the basement court.

AUTOMOBILES FOR TRAVELING PURPOSES.

Detroit, Mich., May 14, 1917.

When the government cuts down railroad passenger service to meet the nation's military needs this will, in the opinion of T. J. Toner, director of sales of the Maxwell Motor company, give a tremendous impetus to the use of automobiles for traveling purposes.

"This is not merely a theory I have evolved," said Mr. Toner in his office at Detroit the other day. "Plans to this end are already tentatively under way in the big centers.

"I have been advised by business men in New York, for instance, that they expect to be thrown back on the motor car as almost the only method of making short trips. The automobile, they believe, will soon be an absolute necessity for one who has to do much traveling.

"With a million or two men under arms in this country—being moved frequently from one camp to another or to the seaboard for transportation to Europe—the government will have to commandeer a large part of the railroad passenger facilities. How far this will affect the general public it is impossible to predict, but railroad traveling facilities are going to be greatly reduced.

"The automobile offers the only substitute and I look for its extensive use by men and women who have to go from one city to another and cannot get railroad accommodations.

"If this situation had arisen a few years ago the automobile might not have been equal to the emergency. But great strides have been made in motor car efficiency and no fear of the automobile falling down on the job need be entertained now.

"Just to illustrate motor car dependability today I cite that Maxwell stock car which traveled 22,022 miles at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour, without once stopping the engine.

"Only a few of the fastest trains equal that run-time, and railroad trains have to change engines every few hours. Locomotives can't go 2,200 miles—let alone 22,000—without stopping.

"I might cite, too, Mrs. Miriam Thayer Seeley, professor in the Oregon Agriculture college, who drove her Maxwell across the continent and back—9,700 miles—at an average cost of 1½ cents a mile for gasoline, oil and repairs.

That was 25 per cent less than the lowest railroad fares, 2 cents a mile, which does not include Pullman charges and extras.

"The motor car therefore is faster and cheaper than the train as a passenger conveyance. And not only, in my opinion, will many of the cars now in use be put in this service, but also conditions will greatly stimulate automobile sales.

"The automobile has become, already, a necessity in our American life. War, it appears, is to make it even more so."

Patriotic Council Sends Telegram to Chief of Army Board.

The general committee of the Fort Wayne Council of Patriotic Service expressed itself as practically unanimous in the desire to bring a military training camp to Fort Wayne at a meeting held at the Commercial club Saturday night. President William H. Scheiman, at the request of the committee, sent a telegram to Edward M. Lewis, chairman of the army board, whose associates are Colonel Orin R. Meyers, of the cavalry; Major E. K. Rufner, chief medical officer of the officers' training camp at Indianapolis; Captain F. B. Willy, of the engineers corps, and Captain Perry M. Shepard, of the quartermasters' corps. The telegram outlines the advantages which Fort Wayne enjoys as a location for the camp, and invited the officers to visit the city for an inspection.

Announcement Extraordinary on Pianos and Player-Pianos

THE United States Government has a War Tax Bill under consideration. This bill is now receiving its final touches by Congress--and in all likelihood, will become a law within the next two weeks.

This bill provides as follows: (this is the exact language)

(b) "upon all musical instruments sold by the manufacturer, producer or importer, for more than $10 each, and upon pianos, players, phonographs, graphophones, talking machines and records used in connection with any musical instrument, piano-player, graphophone, phonograph or talking machine sold by the manufacturer, producer, or importer, a tax equivalent to 5 per centum of the price for which so sold."

The bill further provides: (in exact language)

"That upon all the articles enumerated in subdivision (B) which are on the day this act is passed held by other than the manufacturer, producer or importer, and intended for sale, there shall be levied, assessed, collected and paid, a tax equivalent to 5 per centum of the price for which sold by the manufacturer, producer, or importer. This tax shall be paid by the person, corporation, partnership, or association so holding such articles."

This means, in plain language, that all pianos and player-pianos offered for sale will be taxed 5 per cent., whether the instruments are now in our hands or whether they are bought from manufacturers after the bill is passed.

It means that pianos and player-pianos will cost US 5 per cent more than they now cost on account of the tax, and in consequence, must sell for 5 per cent more.

This is not all.
The bill provides for from 20 to 30 per cent increased duty on tuning pins, ivory, felts, varnish gums, shellac, rubber and other imported raw materials entering into the manufacture of pianos.

Thus the proposed 5 per cent tax and the increased cost of almost every item entering into piano construction, will immediately increase the selling price of pianos and player-pianos from $50 to over $100 each, and this applies alike to pianos, player-pianos and grands.

This advertisement is published in the interest of the many persons who are known to us as having in mind to purchase a piano within the next few months. For only those who buy a piano NOW, before the proposed bill becomes a law, can hope to get the advantage of the present low prices, which are, on the whole, the lowest ever known to the American piano industry.

ANGOLA IS VISITED BY TERRIFIC HAIL STORM

[Special to The Sentinel.]

Angola, Ind., May 21.—Hail stones, many of them said to measure nine inches around, fell here Saturday about midnight during the worst hail storm that ever visited this section, doing damage estimated at several thousand dollars. Many roofs were totally destroyed, practically all skylights in the city were broken, together with hundreds of window panes. Farmers living in the path of the storm report considerable damage to growing crops.

The skylights in the Freeman and Virgil Cline photograph galleries were badly shattered, as was a skylight in the J. A. Croxton building occupied by the Love cigar factory. The roof on the Waller building was completely ruined.

Sunday morning six bushels of hail were removed from a little balcony in front of the Hotel Hendry.

LIGHTNING SILVER CLEANER

THE OLD WAY

THE NEW WAY

Industrious women buckle down bravely to the task of cleaning silver, like Mother used to clean it. They just hate the task, which takes hours, musses up the kitchen and plays havoc with their hands.

At last the silver is finished, but not well cleaned. It is the best they can do. The tarnish in crevices and other places hard to reach is not removed. The paste and powder is packed in engravings and embossings like a white grey cement. They know it should not be thus, but they cannot do any better. They have rubbed away all the tarnished silver which they could get at, and a scratched, shiny surface is the only reward for their efforts.

POOR GIRLS!
POOR HANDS!
POOR SILVER!

This lady actually likes to clean silver.
She places the Lightning Silver-Cleaner into a solution of table salt and baking soda. "The solution is the same as she often uses for cooking." Then silver is placed upon the wire in a position that it is covered by the solution.

The Lightning Silver-Cleaner produces an electric energy, which purifies the silver and removes the tarnish from every single piece, out of crevices, from inside of hollow-ware, in fact, all the tarnish in a minute or two without scratching or rubbing. The silver is not abused and rubbed off, and looks brighter, whiter and more silvery than ever.

For your sake and for the sake of your silver use

LINER CARRIED BASE HOSPITAL NO. L

New York, May 21.—In an accident during practice firing at sea yesterday of a gun aboard an armed American merchantman bound for Europe, two American Red Cross nurses have been killed and a third wounded, marking virtually the first American casualty of the war.

The two killed were Mrs. Edith Ayres and Miss Helen Burnett Wood, of Chicago, and the wounded is said to be Miss Emma Matsen, of Chicago, members of base hospital number 1, bound for duty in France.

The ship which sailed returned today, her flag at half mast, with the two bodies and the wounded nurse, who was taken in a tug to the New York navy yard hospital. Official announcement of the cause of the accident has been withheld by both army and navy authorities here.

One version obtained when the steamship reached quarantine was that the shell from the gun had exploded about 175 feet distant just as it was striking the water and that pieces of the shell ricochetted back and struck the nurses. Another was that the accident was caused by a breech explosion of a defective shell as the gun was fired.

Another was that the shell exploded as it was being loaded. As soon as the ship had reported at quarantine she came up the bay and anchored. It was announced that no one would be allowed aboard the vessel and her owners said that they knew nothing whatever of the causes or circumstances

Robert Klaehn, jr., of this city, who is taking training at Fort Benjamin Harrison for the officers' reserve corps, in a letter to his father states that he has notice that he will receive a commission as second lieutenant.

He states further that the training which is being given there for the men is strenuous and severe and many of the boys are harboring strained and stiff muscles as a result. The latest drill that the men had was a nine-mile hike. The doctors at the camp are busy vaccinating the men and inoculating them against typhoid fever.

Mr. Klaehn states that Maurice Niezer, Fred Eggiman and Jim Rose, all of this city, are in his company.

SECRET SERVICE MEN HAVE BEEN ASKED FOR

United States Commissioner T. J. Logan has appealed to federal authorities at Indianapolis to furnish secret service men for the Fort Wayne district in order that the exact status of what is represented to him to be a strong pro-German movement, may be ascertained.

If all reports brought to Commissioner Logan within the past week are true, there are citizens of Fort Wayne who are guilty of plotting against the government. Proof of such action would mean conviction for treason. The penalty is death.

Five men called at the federal commissioner's office Saturday afternoon to expose what appears to be a bold effort to assist the forces of our national enemy. These men reported to the United States commissioner that several citizens of German descent in Fort Wayne, had banded together to raise a war fund to aid Germany.

The band of Touton sympathizers have already collected $500, Commissioner Logan was told, and the anti-American citizens were now planning a method whereby they might be able to get the money to the distressed fatherland.

The men who reported the case said that they had learned that the Fort Wayne men were only carrying out a part of an organized plot to furnish Germany with war funds. Many

[Staff Correspondence.]

Fort Benjamin Harrison, near Indianapolis, Ind., May 21—I am breaking butterless bread today with 5,000 future Funstons.

I am looking over the chaps you and I will have to salute when we answer the selective service call.

Forty thousand in all are being broken in, in various parts of the country, and 1,000 of this 40,000 will be wearing soldiers' straps within a month.

There's the keenest competition going on to be among the first thousand—at odds of 39 to 1.

Only two other camps of the officers' reserve corps approach this one in size. These are the camps at Plattsburg, N. Y., and at Fort Sheridan, near Chicago. The three are "double camps."

There are "single camps" at Sackets Harbor, N. Y.; Fort Niagara, near Buffalo; Fort Myer, Virginia; Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., which is near Chattanooga; Fort McPherson, at Atlanta; Fort Roots, at Little Rock; Fort Snelling, near St. Paul; Fort Riley, near Junction City, Kan.; Leon Springs, close to San Antonio, Texas, and the Presidio of San Francisco.

ITALIANS ALSO CONTINUE TO ADVANCE

Generals Haig and Petain are again pushing ahead with their offensive in northern France and today both report new gains.

BRITISH OFFICIAL REPORT.

London, May 21.—British troops during last evening captured a support trench behind the Hindenburg line, it was announced this morning by the war office.

The statement reads: "Our operations in the Hindenburg line, between Bullecourt and Fontaine-les-Croisilles, were continued with success during the night. Our troops, which had carried a front trench in the Hindenburg line yesterday morning, and had repelled several counter attacks, renewed the attack in the evening and after hand to hand fighting, captured a support trench also.

FRENCH WIN TRENCHES.

Paris, May 21.—Several lines of German trenches in the Champagne, near Moronvillers, were captured last night by the French, the war office announces.

A German attack near Froidmont farm was checked before the enemy was able to reach our lines. The enemy undertook no further attack after the complete check of his general assault, undertaken yesterday.

"There were brief, but violent artillery actions between Mitte and the Aisne and northwest of Rheims. In the region of Cheverux we made progress and took prisoners.

"In the Champagne yesterday evening we carried out on two sectors of the heights near Moronvillers an operation which resulted in an important and brilliant success. Our troops captured several lines of German trenches on the slopes north of Carnillet at the Casque and at the Teton. Furthermore all the important obser-

MANY OFFICERS TO BE GIVEN SERVICE ON GENERAL STAFF

Washington, May 21.—A board of general officers of the army headed by Brigadier General Kernan, acting assistant chief of staff, was in session today selecting fifty majors and captains of the line to be designated for duty on the general staff. The army bill signed by the president last week removes restriction upon the number of staff officers who may be kept in Washington and the full strength of three general officers and eighty-eight others will be maintained hereafter.

Additional staff officers are necessary in connection with the organization of the canonments to begin in July when the national guard is assembled in divisional units. There will be 32 camps altogether and an officer of the general staff will be assigned to each. It is regarded as probable also that a number of staff officers will be sent to the front in France, possibly with Gen. Pershing's force, to return after a few weeks and aid in the compilation of instruction manuals for troops which will incorporate modern developments of modern warfare.

VON RINTELEN WILL KNOW HIS FATE THIS DAY

New York, May 21.—Sentence will be pronounced by Judge Cushman in the federal court here this afternoon on Captain Franz Rintenlin, of the Germany navy; David Lamar, the "Wolf of Wall Street," and Henry B. Martin, who was secretary of Labor's National Peace council. The trio were found guilty late last night for conspiring to tie up the nation's munitions plants by fomenting strikes and by promoting German propaganda by means of Labor's National Peace council.

The jury, which had been out more than 29 hours, disagreed on the four other defendants—former Representative Frank Buchanan, of Chicago, and first president of the council; former Representative H. Robert Fowler, of Elizabethtown, Ill., counsel to the organization; Jacob L. Taylor, a labor leader of Orange, N. J., who introduced Buchanan as president, and Herman Schultcis, of East Orange, N. J., who tried to be named as assistant counsel to the organization.

GERMANY SEEKS TO LURE SPAIN WITH PRETTIES

Amsterdam, May 21.—According to a Berlin dispatch the German undersecretary for foreign affairs told a Spanish newspaper man that Germany's reply to Spain's note on the sinking of the Spanish steamer Patricio was handed the Spanish ambassador on Saturday. The character of the note was intimated by the undersecretary in declaring that Germany was actuated by a desire for the friendliest feeling to exist between Germany and Spain. The official said that the sinking of Spanish ships should be blamed on England because that country had delayed the passage of vessels. He said Germany wished Spain to be strong and was prepared to encourage her developments after the war by every possible means. He added that plans had been made to organize steamship lines between Hamburg and Spanish ports and that Germany had also organized a company to buy Spain's whole fruit crop.

BRITAIN'S WAR MISSION NEARS CLOSE OF STAY

Washington, D. C., May 21.—The British war mission entered today its fifth and final week in this country. With the practical conclusion of the negotiations over trade matters the decision to send an American army to Europe and the transfer of naval negotiations to London, practically all the major issues which brought the visitors here have been settled.

What remains now is the detailed working out of policies by exports. Much of this, specially as to embargoes, rationing, foot control, ship construction and the like, demand on the powers, to be conferred by congress in legislation now pending. A number of experts in the British mission will remain in Washington indefinitely to discuss further details with American officials.

Washington, May 21.—Announcement was made today that the British official mission will finally leave Washington next week for a brief visit to Chicago and then visit Toronto, Montreal, and Ottawa. In Chicago the arrangements for the mission's entertainment will be in the hands of Mayor Thompson and will include a formal luncheon.

Shipping problems were discussed today first by Secretary Balfour with members of the mission and later with Chairman Denman and Major General Goethals, of the shipping board. British trade experts in conference with American officials have worked out accurately the amount of tonnage necessary to continue the lifeflow to the allies and the shipping board has a detailed program for meeting the need.

The British are understood to have supplied a priority schedule of the order of importance of the various exports with the minimum amounts necessary. At the same time they have supplied the shipping board with full figures of their total tonnage for the new construction and rate of depletion. Officials have stated frequently recently that the rate of destruction is most dangerous though not yet fatal.

Mr. Balfour today also saw J. P. Morgan and it is understood they discussed the future relations of Morgan & Co. to the British government. Just as the former have given up placing loans now that the government is doing that work, it is probable that they will also give up the purchase of munitions and other supplies when the detailed arrangements for a central official buying committee are completed.

Christopher Phillips, of the board of trade, will remain in this country after the mission goes. It is probable also that Lord Eustace Percy, Judge Ames, Judge Rees, of the aviation corps, and Geoffrey Butler, of the foreign office, will also stay on, with possibly others.

Twenty-First to Thirty-First Birthdays Age Limits for Select Service Army.

The word "inclusive" in the army select service law, which says, "all male persons between the ages of 21 and 30, both inclusive, shall be subject to registration," means all men BETWEEN THEIR TWENTY-FIRST AND THIRTY-FIRST BIRTHDAYS ON THE DATE OF REGISTRATION.

This is especially pointed out by authorities at Washington because inquiries showed many men who had passed their thirtieth birthday had the impression they would not be required to register.

All men must register, under penalty of one year imprisonment, except "officers and enlisted men of the regular army, the navy and the national guard and naval militia WHILE IN THE SERVICE OF THE UNITED STATES."

Exemptions are made after registration.

NORTH FRANCE TOTAL CHAOS

Paris, May 6.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Such preliminary measures as have been taken for the reconstruction of the devastated regions in France have developed many difficulties, the greatest of which, particularly in the region of the Somme and the Oise recently evacuated by the Germans, is to establish the boundary lines of property from which not only the buildings have disappeared, but from which every landmark has been torn.

Deeds of records and all other papers that would aid in reconstituting titles to property, which plans of towns and public buildings have been burned with municipal and diplomatical archives in a great many towns and villages. Brooks and rivers from which bearings might be taken have been diverted from their courses. Where partition walls stood between two places are in many places the gaping craters of mines that blow away all traces of property lines.

Bitter Lawsuits Ahead.

The small land holder is much attached to the soil and jealous of the slightest parcel of land upon which his labor has been expended. He will fight to the last ditch for what he considers his landed rights. Consequently it is feared that there are innumerable lawsuits in prospect.

Property boundaries also have been modified since the war began by public work executed for the purposes of the army. Many new railroad lines constructed for strategical purposes will be found so useful that they will become permanent.

"The geographic reconstruction of the entire region of the battle of Arras, the battle of the Somme, the battle of St. Quentin and the battel of Lens," said M. Accrambray, deputy for the department of the Aisne, to a correspondent of the Associated Press, "as well as of other regions along the front in zones that have been battered for nearly three years by heavy artillery will be a long, minute, laborious task, developing countless contests and it is feared, interminable litigation."

"We can only hope that the Germans will be made to disgorge the booty they carried away from these regions and that in it will be found documents and records that will help us in the complicated labor."

Will Adhere to Local Styles.

Public sentiment seems to have settled down to the decision that in the rebuilding of the destroyed cities and villages the architectural traditions of each region shall be respected so far as style and material of construction are concerned, with only such concessions to modernization as are requisite for perfect hygiene.

There will probably be no more narrow streets and there will be more air and light, that is to say more windows and doors to let in more sunshine, but that is as far as it has been possible to lead public opinion toward modern ideas of construction. How to accomplish these reforms without modifying the originality and particular characteristics of each individual town is being studied by architects. The municipal council of the town of Clermont-en-Argonne, which was entirely burned by the Germans in their retreat from the Marne, have organized a competition among architects for the preparation of plans for re-building the town as far as possible in its original style, but with wider streets and new squares and parks. One thing the architects are ordered not to touch is the broad, deep, old fireplace, around which families will gather on winter evenings for years to come to listen to stories of the invasion and the battles of the great war.

After Much Contention It Has Withdrawn from Organized Labor.

Chicago, May 21.—The Chicago Teachers' federation, the center of some dissension in the public school system in the last two years, has severed its connection with organized labor, it was announced by the Chicago Federation of Labor today. John Fitzpatrick, president of the labor federation, said that the action was necessary because of the ruling of Jacob Loeb, president of the board of education, probing teacher membership in labor unions. He added that since the supreme court had held that boards of education in Illinois have the right to refuse to employ as a teacher any one who is, or is not, a member of the labor union, the withdrawal of the teachers' organization was the only way to keep it intact.

There's wealth as well as erudition among those present. I saw today the son of an Indiana motor magnate helping an overalled negro tote a mortarboard; and the scion of a hotel family that charges 10 cents for butter ate bread today without any butter—as did 5,000 others.

Few tents are up; the men are housed in permanent barracks or in "cantonments"—long wooden sheds. One section of the military reservation is all cantonments under construction. Take away the green grass and it would look as Columbus, N. M., did, shortly after the Villa raid.

The rat-tat-tat of hammers can hardly be distinguished from the bang-ety-bang of rifles on the target range.

All day they march and drill and study and sweat, and perspiration is just as sticky under the Indiana sun as it is down by the Rio Grande.

I saw one man collapse from the heat. Standing at attention, he fell forward suddenly, without bending, and the four students nearest picked him up. Nobody else paid any attention. They get used to little things like that.

A quarter of the rookies have not received complete uniforms; a sprinkling of civilian clothes in the drilling ranks show this.

The men drill as privates in the army do; they've got to learn to be soldiers before they can be officers. They carry rifles and wear bayonets. Khaki columns are tramping all the nearby roads in the early forenoon.

Colonel Edwin F. Glenn, a grizzled veteran, is commander; Major Hanson E. Ely is chief instructor.

Major Ernest L. Ruffner, chief medical officer, was having all comers vaccinated today, and lecturing the embryo officers on care of their feet.

Under Major T. Victor Keene, chief sanitary officer, other sprigs of the money tree were acting as village whitewings—work they wouldn't do elsewhere to earn a million or enter a college frat.

"When in doubt, salute," is a camp motto; students will salute almost anybody they don't know until they learn to tell an honest-to-goodness officer when they see one.

No evidence of snobbishness or caddishness crops out; $10,000-a-year men fraternize with ex-regulars fresh from the factory.

Eighty per cent of the Indiana men and a somewhat smaller proportion of the others are college students or graduates.

wealthy men in the United States are engaged in the treasonous act, according to the story.

The United States commissioner has ordered the men who reported the case to obtain more information on the plot subject. If sufficient grounds are produced Commissioner Logan will not hesitate to bring action, he states. The plot, if really under way, would be considered treason and the men engaged in the schome to aid our enemies would be placed on trial for their lives.

Verbal Assaults Reported.

Reports of pro-German acts and statements have been growing more and more numerous of late, says Commissioner Logan. Several cases of flag desecration have been more than hinted at. The federal officer has made an attempt to investigate, but has been unable to locate direct evidence of such conduct, he states.

The fact that complaints have been coming in numbers, however, warrants the belief that such a hostile spirit must be abroad, Commissioner Logan says. He has written to Indianapolis asking that secret service men be furnished to make thorough investigation of cases reported to him.

"Disloyalty must be weeded out," says Commissioner Logan. "This is no time for our boasted American tolerance. Treason must not be abroad in this dark hour. We must all show that we are Americans. The government needs every man's help and no citizen's opposition will be tolerated."

"The situation is indeed a grave one. We must commit no act of injustice to any of our citizens. No action will be taken until there is ample proof of guilt. Many words are hastily spoken. Tongues must be guarded. Conviction on a charge of verbal assault against the government carries a heavy penalty. Conviction of treason means death."

Commissioner Logan wrote a letter to a well known Fort Wayne citizen on Saturday afternoon in which he warned the man that his conduct had been reported as being one of hostility to our government and the president.

vation points in this region are now in our hands. German counter attacks were taken under our fire and thrown back with heavy losses. We took about 800 prisoners in these actions. The enemy shelters were found to have been blown to pieces and to be piled high with dead."

GERMAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

Berlin, May 21.—The Germans on the Arras front yesterday maintained their positions except in one demolished trench which was evacuated according to plan during the British attack Sunday on an eight and one-half mile front, says the official statement issued today by the German army headquarters staff. The German announcement says the French yesterday obtained a foothold at Mont Carnillet and on Montkeil. Yesterday the Germans brought down fourteen entente airplanes on the western front.

ON THE MACEDONIAN FRONT.

Sofia, Sunday, May 20.—(Via London, May 21.)—The repulse of further entente attacks on the Macedonian front is announced by the war office. The official communication follows: "After long artillery preparation the enemy launched several violent attacks east of Dobropolye. They broke down under our machine guns and rifle fire. Enemy parties which succeeded in approaching our lines were annihilated with hand grenades. Heavy losses were sustained by the enemy.

ITALIANS ADVANCE AGAIN.

Rome, May 21.—(Via London, 6:55 p. m.)—Italian troops yesterday took a hill between Pallova and Britovo in their offensive on the Julian front and also extended their positions on the Vodice says the official statement issued today by the Italian war department.

GERMAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

Berlin, May 21.—(Via London.)—An engagement between German and French torpedo boats off the coast of Flanders is reported in an official announcement by the admiralty. The announcement says: "On the morning of the 20th off the coast of Flanders a short outpost engagement took place between German and French torpedo boats. The enemy boats were repeatedly hit by our artillery and our vessels returned without losses or damages.

The French official statement issued yesterday reported that a flotilla of German destroyers had been driven back to its base by a patrol of four French torpedo boats. The statement said that one of the French vessels had suffered some damage.

BACK TO OLDEN DAYS.

London, May 6.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—More and more the men in the trenches are becoming to resemble their armor clad forebears. The latest innovation is the chain mail veil draped from the steel helmets. The invention is that of a London specialist and it has proved its value. The steel veil hangs from a rod across the helmet in front and protects the eyes and face while not interfering enough with the sight to impair the soldier's efficiency.

GERMANY BOWS TO SWEDEN.

Copenhagen, via London, May 21, 9:30 a. m.—The German minister at Stockholm is reported in news dispatches to have visited the Swedish foreign minister and expressed deepest regret at the sinking of the Swedish steamers Vesterland, Viken and Aspen.

The Aspen, Vesterland and Viken were sunk in the gulf of Bothnia, several members of the crews losing their lives. The vessels were laden with grain and released from British ports by the British government under a reciprocal agreement. The news of their destruction caused intense indignation in Sweden.

Aurora, Ill., May 21.—John Murphy, an outfielder, under orders to report to the Providence club of the International league today, was suffering from a broken collar bone sustained in a semi-professional game when he ran into a flagpole. Physicians expressed doubt of his chances to play again this season.

NEW FUTURE FOR AFFLICTED.

Paris, May 21.—The intensive production of munitions in France with its enormous requirements has opened a new future for the deaf and dumb, who before the war were excluded from factory work. Now hundreds of them are making shells and parts of automobiles and airplanes for the army. Some of them are earning the equivalent of four dollars a day.

prince's desperate and constant effort to regain control of the plateau on the Aisne front General Petain turned to the Champagne sector and struck northward on the Moronvilliers heights. The several lines of German trenches were captured in these operations and some 800 prisoners taken. All the important observation posts in this section of the front are now in French hands, facilitating their further advance in the drive calculated to flank the Germans out of the salient to the northwest projecting towards Rheims.

CHICAGO UNIT NURSES.

Chicago, May 21.—Mrs. Edith Ayres and Miss Helen Burnett Wood, the two nurses killed yesterday on board a steamer bound for France, were nurses at the Cook county hospital here before joining hospital unit No. 12.

Mrs. Ayres was 36 years old. Her home was at Attica, Ohio. She was graduated from the Illinois training school for nurses in 1913. Miss Wood, also a graduate from the nurses' training school, lived in Evanston, Ill.

Red Cross unit No. 1, left Chicago May 1. It was composed of 247 persons, of whom 24 were physicians, 65 nurses and 153 enlisted men. Dr. Fred A. Beasley is director of the unit. Many of the men were students at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., and the University of Chicago. Ten of the nurses registered from Evanston.

of the accident. It was expected a navy board of inquiry would investigate. Meanwhile it was said the ship would probably remain in port. Information as to the seriousness of Miss Matsen's injuries was refused at the navy yard hospital though it was understood that she was expected to recover.

There were said to be about 260 members of the No. 1 base hospital aboard the ship of whom sixty were women nurses.

Trafford Wilson Had Gone to Asheville, N. C., to Benefit Health.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Wilson, 1134 West Berry street, received a message Sunday night informing them of the death of their son, Trafford McCrea Wilson, which occurred at Asheville, North Carolina. The young man had gone there a month ago for his health, and although he had been in ill health for some time, news of his death was entirely unexpected.

Trafford Wilson was 24 years old, and had lived in Fort Wayne all his life. He received his education in the Fort Wayne schools, graduating from the high school. He then attended the University of Michigan and Indiana university. He was well known here, especially among the younger people, and news of his death comes as a severe shock to his many friends.

Surviving besides the parents is a sister, Miss Eleanor Wilson, who has been attending Elmhurst school. The remains will be brought to this city for burial.

Funeral announcements will be made later. Friends are kindly asked to omit flowers.

COHN.

Mrs. Ida Alice Cohn, wife of Simon J. Cohn, died Sunday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock at the family residence, 3701 Webster street, after an illness of four years from cancer. The deceased was fifty-four years old. She was born in Perry township and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bowser, late pioneer residents of Allen county. Surviving are the husband, three sisters, Mrs. Elnora Morrison, of Evansville, Wis.; Mrs. Elizabeth Ryan, of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. M. C. Ryan, of Pierceton, Ind.; two brothers, George W. Bowser and Sylvester Bowser, of this city. The parents, six sisters and three brothers preceded her in death. Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, Rev. French officiating. Interment at Lindenwood.

BRANDT.

Mrs. Caroline Brandt, widow of Fred Brandt, died Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Schroeder, in Marion township, five miles north of Fort Wayne. The deceased was 87 years old and was born in Niederwehrn, Germany. She came to Allen county at the age of 33 years. Mrs. Brandt had been an invalid for the past two years. Besides the daughter, she is survived by eight grandchildren and six great grandchildren. Funeral services Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the residence of the daughter and at 2 o'clock at Trinity Lutheran church on the Decatur road.

BROWN.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Mary A. Brown, formerly of Fort Wayne, which occurred at Mt. Vernon, Ohio, last Friday. She was 92 years old. Mrs. Brown was the mother of Harvey H. Brown, who formerly lived on East Washington boulevard and was employed as foreman in the Bass foundry. She was the sister of the late Thomas R. Pickard. Mrs. G. R. Bell and Ralph Brown, grandchildren, have gone to attend the funeral.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Gallmeyer.—Funeral services for William Gallmeyer will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 at the residence in Adams township, and at 2:30 at the St. Martini church, Rev. Stoeks officiating. Interment in the church cemetery.

IRELAND ASKED TO FRAME SELF CONSTITUTION

London, May 21—4:10 p.m.—It was announced by Premier Lloyd George in the house of commons today that the government proposed to summon immediately a convention of representative Irishmen in Ireland to submit to the British parliament a constitution for the future government of Ireland.

The convention, said the premier, would be representative of the local governing bodies, the churches, the trade unions and commercial and educational interests, and would include Sinn Feiners. The delegates would be chosen by the respective bodies. John Redmond, the nationalist leader, speaking after the premier had made his announcement, said that for the first time in her history Ireland has been asked virtually to settle a problem for herself.

"I take it for granted," he added, "that all sections of Irishmen feel it their duty to come in."

Warren, Ind., May 21.—Citizens of Warren, which was once the lively center of the Indiana oil field, have taken the first step in their effort to secure a "come-back" of the long departed oil boom. Milton Anderson, well known oil well driller, has started operations of drilling for oil at the eastern border of the town. He is using a string of tools belonging to W. P. Fredricks, whose name was once prominent in Indiana oil fields.

People of Warren entertain high hopes for the outcome of the drilling venture. They believe there are several untapped pockets of oil near the town. If the well now being drilled proves a success there will be other efforts to renew the Warren field. The present high price of oil makes the speculating worth the while, oil men say. An effort will also be made to renew several of the old oil wells which have been abandoned because the supply had run low.

SHULL COMPLETES SENTENCE.

Portland, Ind., May 21.—Guy Shull, Bryant druggist, who recently pleaded guilty to a charge of conducting a blind tiger at Bryant, on Saturday completed a sixty day jail sentence imposed on him by Judge McGriff, along with the fine of $50 and costs. The fine and costs totaling $67.25 had not been paid up to noon Saturday and Shull was still a prisoner. S. J. Renner, also of Bryant, was in jail under a similar charge. Shull was released shortly after the noon hour.

BERNE BOY HURT.

Berne, Ind., May 21.—Omen Amstutz, aged 15, son of John Amstutz, living a mile and a half south of Berne, was thrown from his wheel when he collided with a car driven by George Jones, of Blue Creek township. The boy was taken to the office of Dr. Jones, where examination showed bruises about the arm and knee. No bones were broken and his injuries are not serious.

MRS. WILLIAM KERFOOT DEAD.

Bluffton, Ind., May 21.—Mrs. William Kerfoot, of 203 West Washington street, passed away Saturday after a short illness from inflammatory rheumatism. Her death came as a shock not only to the family, but to the entire community. While it was known to many that she was very sick, few ever believed that her sickness would be fatal.

CANCER FROM INFECTED TOOTH.

Huntington, Ind., May 21.—S. W. Randall, a barber, has a cancer on his jaw as the result of an infected tooth which first began hurting him last September. Specialists say he can live only a short time, as the sore has eaten away most of the side of his face, and is approaching the jugular vein.

PATRIOTIC WOMAN.

Huntington, Ind., May 21.—Mrs. John Nicholson has given two sons to the United States navy, and now wishes to aid the country by giving the use of an acre of ground for garden purposes.

MUCH DAMAGE IS DONE IN WHITLEY COUNTY

Columbia City, Ind., May 21.—Lightning wrought an enormous toll during the electrical storm that struck Whitley county Saturday evening between 8 and 10 o'clock. The greatest damage was done on the Harry Weaver farm, two miles southeast of Pierceton, and just across the Whitley county line. Lightning struck one of two barns, and in a few minutes both barns, standing close together, were in flames, as well as a corncrib. All three buildings burned to the ground. In one barn were lost twenty-six head of hogs, a young calf, and a considerable amount of oak lumber and oat straw, while in the other barn a large number of farm implements, several tons of hay, four sets of harness, two breed mares, a colt and sundry other articles were destroyed. A cow, standing between the barns, which stood safely west of the Weaver home, was killed by the lightning bolt, while two straw stacks were leveled. The total loss will reach $7,500, with about $4,000 insurance on buildings and contents. The Weaver family was away from home at the time.

The barn on the west farm of John Lewis, northwest of Collins, was struck by nightning Saturday evening, between 8 and 9 o'clock, and burned to the ground, together with contents consisting largely of farm implements. A granary filled with corn and oats was also badly damaged. The total loss is $2,500, with about $1,000 insurance.

Columbia City Short Items.

Mrs. Naomi Vandeford, of Troy township, has filed a cross complaint in the divorce suit instituted recently by her husband, Olin E. Vandeford.

Sheriff James Bodley has turned over to Mayor Frank L. Myers a letter from State Fire Marshal Friedly, calling attention to the recent proclamation of Governor Goodrich, asking that city and town councils pass ordinances forbidding the use of explosives and other Fourth of July ordnance this year, for the various precautionary and economic reasons assigned. The mayor will present the matter at the next council meeting.

Miss Nina Jellison, daughter of T. E. Ellison, of South Whitley, and Claude Keller, son of Nelson Keller, of Cleveland township, were wedded Saturday evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Booker of the Baptist church at South Whitley officiating. The young couple will reside on a farm in Cleveland township. The bride formerly taught school at Larwill.

The county and township officers of the Ladies' Auxiliary met with the president, Mrs. John Beeson, in the court house in this city Saturday afternoon and made plans for the annual exhibit, held every November in the Commercial club rooms in this city, in connection with the corn show.

Those Who Will Have Charge of the Lot Sale Inspect Property.

In a score of automobiles, the realty men of the city formed a little parade of their own shortly after noon today when they made a spin to Brook View, the new Wildwood development, for the purpose of becoming thoroughly acquainted with the big tract and the details of the sale of the lots there beginning Wednesday, June 20. Practically all of the members of the Fort Wayne Realty board will unite in a campaign for a quick closing of the sale of Brook View, which has already attracted such wide attention. Upon reaching the sub-division this afternoon, the men gave their first attention to a thorough understanding of the location of all boulevards and streets in order to get clear in their minds the great variety of sites to be offered, and also to be prepared to give every manner of information which the buyer may desire.

If the weather permits, this will be a week of telling activity in Brook View. Delays which have retarded operations for some time are now removed and now the actual work of street building and the installation of all modern improvements will be pushed to a finish. Many interested people took advantage of the fine weather Sunday to see Brook View, and the enthusiastic comment of those who have visited the new sub-division is helping wonderfully in the scheme of publicity which such an important enterprise demands.

Begin To Purify Your Winter-Blood

But Not So Well As This Sulpherb Tablet—Sugar Coated.

Through the winter the blood accumulates poisons because you do not perspire enough, because you do not live in the open air, and because you eat more meat, mush and other rich foods. Every spring we feel sluggish, constipated, liver and kidney ills beset us, colds and chronic coughs, pimples, boils and carbuncles, all evidence of impure, thick, sluggish blood.

Sulpherb Tablets (not sulphur tablets) are composed of extracts of roots and herbs, combined with sulphur and cream of tartar—and no better physic, blood-tonic and blood cleanser has ever been developed. Every spring thousands who already know their value take them to purify the system of Winter Poisons. Now is the time to begin, so you won't be attacked by serious ailments when Spring and Summer come. Sold by all druggists 50c per sealed tube with full directions.

WAR BONDS NO ENCUMBRANCE.

If you invest in war bonds they will not in any wise nor to any extent be an encumbrance. Indeed, these securities will be quite the same as so much cash for they can be converted into cash without trouble and without discount. No stronger or more convenient collateral can be had than the bonds of the national government.

Should a holder of war bonds desire to make some other investment he will not be inconvenienced at all by the fact of his investment in the federal securities because he will be able either to do with them anything that can be done with money or forthwith to convert them into money. The man who thinks he cannot invest in a war bond because he has it in design to begin shortly to buy a home need not hesitate on that account to come to the aid of the government. When he gets ready to proceed with his purchase his war bond will go just as far as his cash could go. The fact of having such an investment and for the first time appreciating that money can be saved will be the start of hundreds and thousands of American citizens upon the road to the ownership of homes. There is no doubt about that. All over the land men and women who have been thriftless and fully of mind that there was no use in trying to save anything because their savings must be so little as to be of no consequence, will be moved by patriotic spirit to strive for the purchase of a small war bond and will understand for the first time how it is possible for anyone with a steady income to hold fast to a bit of it. From such beginnings a great volume of thrift will ensue and thousands of homes will be acquired.

That is the personal and selfish side of the investment in a war bond. There is a higher aspect of the case. The government is in war. It needs billions of dollars. Some of the vast sums that must be used can be obtained by taxation. But for the money needed now the government cannot wait upon taxation. To lay its hands at once upon two billions of cash the treasury is issuing certificates. The navy is being increased. Vast armies are being raised. A mighty merchant marine is to be created. America's allies must be financed. Prodigious stores of food, munitions and arms must be purchased. The government needs money—billions of money—and at once. The only way it can be procured at once is by giving its notes to the people. That is why the issue of liberty bonds has been made and why the people of the nation are asked to buy them.

This is a war for the people—the people everywhere. It is the great and decisive battle for the establishment, maintenance and security of popular rights—the Armageddon of democracy. Until ambitious and ruthless military autocracy is struck down democracy cannot be safe anywhere. That it may be made safe throughout the world, as President Wilson has said, the United States has entered the greatest war of all the world's history. We cannot bear our part in the war, we cannot win the triumph we must have to make our national future secure unless we give the government the money it needs.

Buy a liberty loan bond. If you can buy a thousand-dollar bond, do it. If you can see your way to the purchase of one for but $50, do that. The patriotism of your action will not be determined by the amount of your bond investment, but by the extent of your means. Help your government in its time of critical stress and help yourself to an easy means of getting a start in the world, if you never have made out to save anything. If you have means, then your duty of patriotism is clear and can give you no rest until it is discharged.

FORT WAYNE STANDS UP.

Fort Wayne is setting an example it is to be hoped the balance of the country will note and emulate. In nothing that relates to the patriotic duty of national defense has this city so far been wanting. It has led in recruiting. It was the first to offer to the government a military ambulance. It has sent scores of its young men to the officers' reserve corps training camp. It has enlisted well upon five thousand women for Red Cross service. A fitting climax to all this voluntary service is reached in the enlistment, organization and financing of a complete Red Cross unit for service in the field. This unit—embracing surgeons, medical men, nurses, attendants and a clerical staff—is ready to go. It awaits orders.

The men and women who have enlisted in this Red Cross unit are such as would find fulsomeness distasteful. They have not enlisted in this cause for the praise it may elicit or for any meretricious honors it may bestow. Patriotic duty, service to humanity and high and unselfish professional devotion have been the impulses moving them to voluntary service in the war. That said, as it may be said of them in good truth, and the acknowledgment might seem complete. But it is not here improper to add that it may be doubted if any similar unit will be recruited throughout the entire country that in its personnel will embrace to such a degree men of uncommon qualities of character, professional distinction and scientific attainments as the gentlemen of whom is comprised the medical and surgical contingent of the Fort Wayne Red Cross unit. The nurses who have enlisted for this service are the pick of the profession in this center, that has acquired a wide and well-deserved fame for the character and quality of the nurses that are graduated from its hospital schools and take experience under its physicians and surgeons. This all is said as moderately as may be, if said at all, and it does but a poor measure of justice to the professional men and professional women who are to carry their science and their skill and their ripe experience to the battle fronts of the old world.

This war, as have all our wars, will enlist the volunteered service of the best there is in the professions of medicine and surgery. The medical profession of the United States has never in this respect failed to greatly honor itself and it will not be wanting in this tremendous crisis either in patriotic spirit or courageous response. It is something in which Fort Wayne and the state of Indiana will take a common pride that her professional men and women of the healing art have answered so promptly and so completely the call whose coming was not even awaited.

Those whose patriotic generosity was so freely and promptly extended to assume the financial burdens entailed by this fine emprise of mercy needs but be known to be acknowledged by all whose spirit can give apreciative answer to the good honors that are brought upon this city and state.

THE COLONEL MUSTERS OUT.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt has issued orders disbanding his volunteer divisions. That is to say Colonel Roosevelt has formally released from any obligation that they may have assumed all the men who had enlisted or promised to enlist in his forces.

It is not without a suggestion that he does not wholly acquiesce in the judgment which elects that General Pershing and a division of regulars shall be the first American troops to plant our flag on the trenches in Europe, but allowing for all, the colonel accepts the situation with a notable degree of good grace. During the period that it had seemed this government might not be able for many months to dispatch an expedition to Europe Colonel Roosevelt's proposal to raise several divisions of volunteers for immediate service found no little favor in the country. That it was not at any time regarded with approval by our own military men and that it was in no wise encouraged by the British and French military experts now over here have been undisguised.

It was upon expert judgment of military authorities both at home and abroad that President Wilson declined for the president to avail the government of Colonel Roosevelt's sword and the services of his volunteers. It is regarded as necessary on many accounts that America send to the front in the beginning the best troops that can be spared and that these shall be followed by men carefully selected and as thoroughly trained as can be possible. This is not President Wilson's judgment. It is the judgment of the British and French military leaders who know what the war is and what is required to meet its conditions.

Colonel Roosevelt should not repine and he is too good a fighter to sulk in his tent. Before this business is well through with there no doubt will be high opportunity for his services abroad.

The little group of obstructionists in the United States senate just simply can't let go of themselves. The army bill would yet be chewed to a pulp if it were a material thing into which LaFollette and the squad of his patriotic confreres could set their teeth.

Liberty loan bonds are issued in denominations all the way from $50 up to $100,000. In case the biggest of these isn't big enough, buy two of them. Uncle Sam will be as obliging as you can wish and will meet you half way and better.

Well, I have "wandered countries through."
Ay, "from the Arctic down to Thrace,"
So—what odds if "maid ne'er proved true?"

Deep in "those wells of wild delight,"
Think how I've "drunk to my disgrace"—
I've "blunted sense" and "perjured sight,"
And "sought true love through time and space"—
(I guess!)—in "some eternal maze"
I've "worn the laurel and the rue"
'Most "all love's purgatorial days"—
So—what odds if "maid ne'er proved tru?"

A man who "fashions right by might"
Is sure "beloved while vict'ry stays"
"Perched on his banners"; "yea, love quite"
Spills over on "the brute who plays"

KILL FOOD GAMBLING AND WE CAN FEED WORLD, SAYS TRUST BUSTER

Herbert A. Emerson, is one of the greatest American authorities on food speculation and known as "trust buster." He was largely responsible for prosecution and conviction of wealthy members of New York's "poultry trust." He now is helping Special Attorney Robert W. Childs prosecute food gamblers in Chicago.

BY HERBERT A. EMERSON.

Present food prices are not justified by the law of supply and demand, but have been reached only through systematic and well contrived plans by food extortioners, manipulators, speculators, market-riggers and traders.

Here early in fall these large grain operators begin to buy and store wheat and other grains as they are threshed.

The farmer is paid on the basis of the August, September and October markets on the board of trade in Chicago.

By December 1, from 70 to 80 per cent of all grains is in the hands of speculators. It is past history and will be history for years to come, if the government does not intervene, that at this season the speculators begin to trade in May options, especially in the small grains, to a very large extent.

For many years it has been the intent of these buyers and holders of enormous stocks of grain to force the price as high as possible on the surplus stocks which they are carrying.

Thus we find that the big part of the grain has been taken from the farmers at a very moderate price as was done in the summer and fall of 1916, and then we find that the price in the spring of 1917 is elevated to a tremendous point and the excuse used is that there was a short crop and that the export demand had caused this great rise in price.

From the present outlook, for the next two or three years we must anticipate very large exports of all kinds of foodstuffs.

But with the very best effort made in the matter of production the United States can produce not only all she wants for her own consumption, but she can produce more than double the amount of surplus that there are shipping facilities to carry abroad.

On account of the extreme price that has been paid for a certain part of the surplus to go abroad, we find that the people of the United States are being charged for all the grain that is consumed at home on a basis of the very highest point reached for grain to go abroad.

In the meat industry we find a similar condition. During the big packing season of this year hogs sold at from $10 to $12 per hundred in the Chicago market, and then, after the hams and bacon were put away and the lard had been accumulated in cold storage warehouses, when the ordinary run of hogs had become so small all the pork killed could be consumed as fresh pork, the meat packers began to bid up the price until it reached the extreme of $17 for live hogs in the Chicago market.

Without necessity and with no excuse except that of extorting a big profit from the poor consumers of the new and old worlds, these same packers have elevated the price of all their meat products in storage to a level with the extreme price paid during April and May for the few hogs shipped from the farms at that time.

TAXING THE SURPLUS.

If an editor had initiated the following suggestion he might have met with more or less protest. But as it happens the originator of the idea is a banker and a man who himself will be subject to the working out of the plan. He is J. S. Bache, a New Yorker, and his suggestion is that the surpluses of industrial concerns should be taxed by the government to raise war revenues.

This suggestion might at least open a productive field even though its working out may not be so practical as the banker-sponsor thinks. The field includes the undivided surplus earnings of the big corporations, particularly, which have not yet found their way to the stockholders but are lying unused in the treasuries of the companies. Practically no form of taxation reaches these undivided earnings under present conditions. Their total is millions.

Mr. Bache's idea is to compel the immediate distribution of these war-time profits to the stockholders and then follow up the distribution with the income tax collection system. No new law, aside from the one compelling the distribution of the earnings, is contemplated. No doubt such a plan would please stockholders of corporations which have made it a habit for years to pay dividends of only 6 per cent and spend the surplus buying lands, mines and other things from favored insiders on boards of directors. Could it be possible that Mr. Bache had something like this in mind? Even so the scheme would be a popular revenue producer.

POSSIBILITIES OF BAD VERSE.

(New Republic.)

No one has yet written any adequate appreciation of the possibilities of bad verse. The verse, I mean, that is composed at the crises of life, on the mountain tops of exultation and in the joyless valleys by persons unskilled and ordinary unpoetic. The verse that is hidden away in vases and bureau drawers, never to be shown, and always produced in some moment of vanity. Only a true poet could write a just appreciation of bad verse; and from his pen the words would come too much tainted with the implication of ironry. The quality of bad verse is not strained. It is written to suit no magazine's policy. It is rewarded with no check. It is a brave denying of reality; a prayer that is its own answer. It is, to use Maeterlinck's phrase, "a making or invoking of wings" by creatures that creep on their bellies.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

R. L. Romey is mentioned as one of the new police commissioners.

The new uniforms for the Rifles have arrived. Fifty-six suits were received. There are forty-six members of the company.

The contractors are building a 12-inch coping around the court house. The yard will present a much improved appearance.

Huntington county is excited over the alleged appearance in diverse places of a huge Canada lynx. The animal is said to be the size of a full-grown Shepherd dog.

The second annual meeting of the Allen County Loan and Savings association was held in its rooms in the White block last evening. The following officers were elected: President, Edward White; vice president, Gottlieb Hailer; secretary, T. C. Rogers; treasurer, Charles W. Orr; attorney, Owen N. Heaton; directors, Edward White, Addison B. Nickey, Marz Frank, Charles W. Orr, David C. Fisher, Gottlieb Hailer, Julius Nathan, Thomas M. Glenn, Thomas Jackson, Fremont L. Jones, Frank H. Poole.

Fort Wayne has been honored again. Yesterday the Indiana Union Literary clubs, in session at Lafayette, selected this city as the site for their fourth annual convention next spring.

George Ralston and Will Schaab, of Auburn, made a trip to Fort Wayne yesterday in a canoe via Cedar Creek and the St. Joe river. The distance traveled was fifty-four miles, and the run was made in nine hours.

It is probable that in a short time Fort Wayne will be the home of an institution for the cure of the liquor habit. Dr. Hetrick, of this city, has taken an interest in a vegetable treatment now much used in the east.

How You Can Own Liberty Bonds By Easy Payments

For the benefit of everyone, the $2,000,000,000 liberty loan has been divided into bonds as low as $50, two per cent. to be paid on application, which must be before June 15; 18 per cent. on June 28; 20 per cent. July 30; 30 per cent. August 15, and 30 per cent. August 30.

The following table shows how the payments are to be made for the bonds from $50 to $100,000. The last column gives the amount a subscriber to each given amount could put aside each week to pay for his bonds, beginning May 19, and continuing through the 15 Saturdays to August 25, inclusive.

Amount of Bond.	On application. Before June 15, 2 per cent.	June 28 18 per cent.	July 30 20 per cent.	Aug. 15 30 per cent.	Aug. 30. 30 per cent.	Weekly allowance, May 19.-Aug. 25.

Uncle Harry Talks About The News From Russia

"Won't you explain the trouble in Russia?" asked Jimmy.

"You told us all about the revolution and how the czar was overthrown; but lots of things have been happening in Russia since then, haven't they?" added Joe.

"Indeed there have been a good many things happening in Russia lately," said Uncle Harry. "Almost every day something important happens in Russia, and I hope you are reading the dispatches from Petrograd and London and Berlin."

"I've been reading the news from Russia, Uncle Harry, but it isn't clear to me," said Helen. "There are several things I wish you'd explain and then maybe I can understand the Russian news."

"What, for instance?" asked Uncle Harry.

"Tell us about the—what is it, the council of workingmen?" said Jimmy.

"The council of workmen's and soldiers' deputies," said Uncle Harry, "is a committee of men chosen by the members of the Russian trade unions and the soldiers in the Russian army, since the revolution, and instructed to represent workmen and soldiers at Petrograd."

"Do you mean that these representatives of the workmen and soldiers attend the duma?" asked Helen.

"No, the council of workmen and soldiers is an entirely separate organization from the duma," said Uncle Harry.

"Well, then, what's the provisional government?" asked Jimmy, "and who's the man named Miiyukoff?"

"The provisional government is a group of men that has been managing the Russian government since the revolution," explained Uncle Harry. "The men were selected by the members of the duma at the time the czar abdicated and they fill positions very similar to the offices in President Wilson's cabinet—secretary of state, secretary of war, attorney general, etc.

"How long will they stay in office?" asked Joe.

"The original plan was to have them stay in office until a popular election can be held, when the Russian people will elect men, and perhaps women, to attend a convention and decide just what form of government Russia is going to adopt."

"But who is the man Jimmy asked about?" said Joe. "I've seen his name in the paper almost every day. And there's another name I see almost every day, Ke-r——"

"You mean Kerenski," said Uncle Harry. "He is a prominent Russian socialist, and a lawyer, and was selected by the duma to fill the office of minister of justice, which is similar to the United States attorney general. Kerenski represents the socialists of Russia and is also regarded as the representative of the workmen and a considerable proportion of the soldiers, many of whom are also socialists.

"Milyukoff is the foreign minister in the provisional government. He is a very prominent Russian, and represents the progressives of Russia. He was exiled from Russia for many years by the late czar and spent considerable time in the United States, and part of the time while he was here he was a professor in one of the big American universities."

"Milyukoff and Kerenski are against each other, aren't they?" said Joe.

"I wouldn't put it just that way," said Uncle Harry, "for both these men worked for the overthrow of the czar and the old Russian government, and both are anxious to help their new nation. But they differ in opinions as to how they can get the best results. From what I can learn from the news from Russia, Kerenski and the workmen and soldiers he represents, want to make sure that none of the agreements made by the czar with the allies will work to their disadvantage: they insist that the new Russian government shall be democratic and in no sense a monarchy; and they are also opposed to Russia fighting for the annexation of any foreign territory, and that is generally understood to mean Constantinople, which was one of the things for which the Russian government, under the czar, was believed to be working.

"On the other hand, Foreign Minister Milyukoff, and his followers, fear that the Russian people in their zeal to reform evils left by the czar's government right within their own country, may make a separate peace with Germany; they also believe that Germany, working through secret agents, is trying to bring about a separate peace between Germany and Russia, which they fear may cause a Russian civil war, and the dispatches from Russia have certainly indicated that there is that danger unless the two groups represented and led by Milyukoff and Kerenski settle their differences as to how the temporary Russian government is to be managed, and join forces in a united front against Germany."

Uncle Harry paused a moment, and then said: "Folks, we must be patient with Russia. The people of that great country have overthrown the czar and his autocratic and tyranical government, and they have before them the tremendous job of building a new government. It took our own country a long time to win its independence and it required many years of hard patient work, and finally a civil war had to be fought for four long years, before the United States of America were firmly established. So it is to be expected that things will run along a little roughly in Russia for a while, anyway. But the Russian people are a lot smarter and more capable than many of us have imagined, and before many years, I believe, the Russian nation will have settled all its troubles and difficulties and be one of the really great nations of the world."

Editor's Note—Uncle Harry will be glad to answer inquiries, either in this column or by mail, provided letters are signed with the full name and address of the persons writing. The correspondents' names will not appear in the articles.

PERSONNEL OF RED CROSS UNIT COMPLETE

Call to Battle Fields of Western Frontier is Hourly Expected.

A Red Cross hospital unit will presumably be the first organization of Fort Wayne to reach the battlefields of France and Belgium. The call is hourly expected by members of the unit.

The organization of this unit is complete, as stated in The Sentinel some days ago, and all are ready to make their sacrifice and leave all that is near and dear to them behind in order that they may serve their flag and their fellowmen.

The doctors in the unit and their rank are as follows: Miles F. Porter, sr., major and director; Allen Hamilton, captain and assistant director; Henry O. Bruggeman, captain and chief of surgical staff; Kent K. Wheelock, surgeon-captain; John H. Gilpin, first lieutenant and surgeon-anesthetist; R. W. Rhamy, first lieutenant and surgeon-pathologist; Dean Metcalf, first lieutenant-surgeon; Charles G. Beall, chief of medical staff and captain; Charles R. Dancer, physician-captain; Garrett Van Sweringen, physician-first lieutenant; Miles F. Porter, jr., physician-first lieutenant, and B. M. Edlavitch, bacteriologist, physician-first lieutenant.

Nurses, Clerks and Orderlies.

The unit is backed by the local Red Cross chapter and will be sent to the front fully equipped from supplies made here and financed by a fund of $6,250 raised among twenty-five local business firms and individuals by a committee appointed a couple of weeks ago for that purpose.

TWO OLD VETERANS WILL HOIST THE FLAG

Henry Dawkins and James Bell, two of the oldest residents of New Haven and vicinity and both veterans of the civil war, will hoist the beautiful flag to the top of an eighty foot pole in New Haven next Saturday afternoon when a great patriotic demonstration will be staged at the place. A parade will be given in which the school children will take a prominent part. They have been drilling under the direction of Captain George L. Byroade, of this city.

Rev. John R. Quinlan, Professor Louis Dorn and Avery M. Groves, all of Fort Wayne, will be the speakers. Captain T. F. Ryan, U. S. A., will also give a brief address.

Why?

When you do not relish your food it is well to inquire the reason why. Your stomach may be debilitated, your liver torpid, your bowels constipated, or you may be eating too much. Many people eat more than they should, particularly those of middle age or older, and those of sedentary habits. If your lack of appetite or relish for your food arises from either of these causes, correct your habits and take a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets. They will do you good, give you a better appetite and make you feel better.—Advertisement.

MENAGERIE FEATURES HAGENBECK-WALLACE

But So Does the Circus of Over 400 Artists Who Are in It.

One of the things in which the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus has always excelled is in its menagerie. Hagenbeck was the first person who ever succeeded in breaking and subduing wild animals for a public performance. He startled the capitals of Europe half a century ago with his intelligent, yet man-eating beasts. At each world's fair that has been held in the United States in the past forty years the Hagenbeck wild animals have always furnished the stellar attraction.

So much interest was aroused at the St. Louis world's fair in 1904 that the Hagenbeck shows were combined with the great Wallace circus. At first the idea looked impossible, because of their size. Each show had already reached a state that it required the efforts of only the most skilled circus officials to handle. The greatest problem was the one involved in the transportation. A train, one mile in length, was built and divided into three sections. In this way the obstacle of moving the great institution from city to city was solved.

Yet, each year since the consolidation of the shows the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus has grown. The Hagenbeck farm, in French Lick Springs, Ind., is the world's biggest animal quarters. As fast as rare and costly specimens are captured by the Hagenbeck hunters, scattered throughout the world, they are sent to the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus.

But the Hagenbeck animals form only one department of the combined shows. The great Wallace circus still excels as the "Highest class circus in the world." The performance is given in three rings and two elevated stages. More than 400 noted artists that represent almost every country on the globe will be seen with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus in Fort Wayne on Friday, June 1.

AT THE PALACE

A PLAUSIBLE ABSURDITY.

Lulu McConnell and Grant Simpson in Rich Comedy.

"At Home," the plausible little absurdity in which Lulu McConnell and Grant Simpson are appearing at the New Palace, is the richest comedy in years, telling a laughable story of a vaudeville family consisting of wife, husband and husband's brother in their private life, trying to make both ends meet between engagements. They get a notice that they are to get some time and rehearse their vaudeville sketch, a sort of playlet within a playlet. It is all immensely funny, but the real comedy centers around Miss McConnell's eccentricities. Her burlesqueness on the ultra modern schools of dancing, her fake grand opera and her worldly wise observations are howlingly funny, as she is consummately natural in it all.

Constance and Irene Farber, the two sisters whose comedy, singing and dancing numbers have been so enthusiastically received here in previous engagements, are repeating their former triumphs. The Farber girls are wearing some new and novel gowns this season and have a group of 1918 song hits. C. Francis Reisner, the Kentucky Kernel, is, as his moniker might indicate, considerable of a nut, his eccentric chatter registering through its very absurdity. Sonnie Dinkins, Arthur Barr and Billy Everett are presenting a couple of minutes in minstrelsy in a livery barn, with an interlocutor and two blackface, erstwhile hostlers, as end men. It's a lively bit of comedy. Laypo and Bejiman, two thrillers in aerial comedy acrobatics, open the show with a startling bundle of tricks. They will play out the first four days of the week unless some undertaker gets a job on one or both of them.

"From his first week Junior had been given part bottle-feedings. Every effort known to science was employed to encourage the flow of breast-milk, but it gradually decreased until the baby could nurse only half an ounce at a time. It has disappeared without causing any discomfort to his mother.

While he was still at the hospital, Junior passed through the experimental stages of artificial feeding. Various formulas were tried, including top milk with plain water, whole milk with plain water, and finally top milk with barley-water, lime-water and sugar of milk. When Junior came home on November 20th, he was taking twenty ounces of bottle-feeding in twenty-four hours, in the following proportions: 6 ounces top milk, 1 ounce sugar of milk, 1 ounce lime-water and 12 ounces barley-water. On November 28th Junior indicated that the formula should be strengthened by whimpering after emptying his bottle, fretting until he fell asleep and sucking his fists. The doctor increased the strength of the formula as follows: Top milk, 7 ounces; sugar of milk, 1 ounce; lime-water, 1 ounce; barley-water, 11 ounces.

On December 1st, 8 ounces of top milk were used to 10 ounces of barley-water, and on December 8th breast-milk was withdrawn and the formula was changed thus: 10 ounces of top milk to 15 ounces of barley-water, 1 ounce sugar of milk and 1 ounce of lime-water.

While Junior was being completely weaned from the breast the doctor desired to test the advisability of using plain water instead of barley-water in preparing the formula. Plain water was substituted in making up the feedings for twenty-four hours. Immediately the bowel movements became harder. On the second day of the experiment, they showed curds and a little mucus and Junior began to suck his fists and the sleeve of his nightie, showing that he was not satisfied. On the fourth morning, acting on the doctor's advice, his mother returned to the use of barley-water. Within twenty-four hours the passages became normal, and Junior fell asleep after his feedings without a whimper. This experiment should prove to every mother that calm observation of the baby's condition, ordinary common sense and patience make it possible for any mother and family doctor to work out a formula which will agree with a baby."

Garbage Question is Often a Puzzling One

When housewife throws the leavings from her dinner table into the garbage pail she does it probably without a thought. The routine of planning, preparing, serving and eating a meal and clearing up after it is a fixed habit. The housekeeper has always considered herself a careful manager—though she abhors frugality—so why fuss about the garbage.

It would not be a very pleasant outing, but it would be a mighty vivid object lesson to corral at random a party of women and march them down to the city garbage dump.

The line of heaped-up wagons waiting to add their load of table waste to the great mass on the dump must come from somewhere, you know. The conscientious woman will begin to wonder about her own kitchen refuse.

"It might be well, too, to talk as I did the other day with the foreman of a garbage dump.

"Since food prices have been so high," he says, "I have seen great changes in the garbage on this dump. The quantity is decreasing day after day, and there is a whole lot less good food in the mass than there used to be.

"The waste in some districts in this town is something fierce. The drivers say it is not as bad as it was, but sure it's worse than it ought to be, now that there is danger that we won't have food enough to feed us all."

The waste to guard against particularly now is the waste in green vegetables. You can find uses for the tops of onions, radishes, beets and celery. Don't throw away the hard ends of your asparagus—they will make delicious soup. Do you cook cauliflower leaves? Creamed with the white parts they are fine. Pea pods make good soup.

GRAY IS AS POPULAR AS EVER THIS SPRING

Gray seems as popular as ever this season and the new grays have a pinkish tinge that is entrancing. There is asparagus gray, too, a greenish gray just off the white. Oyster gray and silver gray are two other lovely shades for gowns of distinction.

Red is undoubtedly a spring color this year and the brightest shades are combined with white. Tulip red is a gorgeous shade, and there are coral and geranium reds and deep tones of claret, garnet and Venetian red.

Some of these are trimmed with steel bead embroidery and the effect is very rich, though one would hardly like to see too many such costumes on a warm spring day.

Popular Pattern for Sports Skirt

Tennis courts will be made gay this summer with the brilliant colors and huge patterned cottons and wash silks which go to the making of the most popular sports skirts. When such striking fabrics are employed, separate skirts are necessarily cut on very simple lines.

ORIENTAL RUGS

and Tapestry are handled in a scientific manner by an expert from the Orient who has made a careful study of the weaving and cleaning of these wonderful rugs and we are now in a position to handle the finest rugs in a manner that restores them to their original beauty in colors. This is an entirely new method and is known only by the foreigners who weave and design these oriental fabrics. In mending these rugs we match the shades in the designs exactly so that the mended places cannot be detected from their original weaving.

NO PARADE FOR THE ELKS.

Boston, May 21.—The parade, which is usually a prominent feature of national conventions of the Order of Elks, will be omitted at the gathering here in July, Edward Righter, grand exalted ruler, has written to the convention committee, endorsing its decision that the parade be dispensed with and saying all display should be avoided and attention centered on determining the most patriotic service the order can perform.

Freckles and Blotches Are Easily Peeled Off

If you are bothered with any cutaneous blemish, it's a poor plan to use paint, powder or anything else to cover it up. Too often this only emphasizes the defect. Besides, it's much easier to remove the disfigurement with ordinary mercolized wax. Applied nightly, the wax will gradually remove freckles, pimples, moth patches, liver spots, sallowness, red blotches or any surface eruption. The affected cuticle is absorbed, a little each day, until the clear, soft, youthful and beautiful skin beneath is brought wholly to view. Ask the druggist for one ounce of mercolized wax and use this like you use cold cream. Remove in morning with soap and water. Many who have tried this simple, harmless treatment report astonishing results.

If troubled with wrinkles or furrows, a wash lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel, will prove wonderfully effective. There is nothing better for drawing in a baggy skin and improving the facial contour. It acts instantly and will not irritate even the most sensitive skin.—Adver-

ONE MAN IS BADLY HURT

One man was seriously injured and many others escaped only by a miracle when a large steel tower fell through the roof of a three story building at the S. F. Bowser & Co. plant Monday morning, shortly before 10 o'clock.

The injured man was Joseph McNamara, 614 West Jefferson street. He was badly cut about the head and right hand and sustained a fracture of the elbow. He was taken to the Lutheran hospital.

The large steel tower was being used in the construction of a new building about 100 feet from the building through which it fell. A heavy steel guy wire was attached to the tower and when the tension on the wire became too strong, the tower gave way, the end of it falling through the roof of the building. Witnesses say that McNamara was not in the building at the time, but was walking between the building and a small shed beside it, where tools of the construction company were kept. He was struck by bricks and other debris falling from the roof.

Men working in the building through which the tower fell escaped injury only by a miracle. Witnesses say they heard the cable snap and then saw the large tower sway for a moment in the air before it fell. The end of it crashed through the roof of the building, tearing a large hole. Machinery in the building was damaged somewhaht by the falling debris, but none of the occupants were struck. The force of the blow was enough to split the tower in the middle, although it was made of heavy steel.

FLAG RAISING AT LISBON.

Kendallville, Ind., May 21.—A large flag was raised at Lisbon Sunday, which was made the occasion for a big patriotic demonstration. Addresses were delivered by Judge Luke Wrigley, of the Whitley-Noble county circuit courts, Attorney Fred L. Bodenhafer, a native Lisbon boy, and Avery M. Groves, of Fort Wayne.

SUSTAINS FRACTURED ANKLE.

When the chain of the porch seat broke Sunday, allowing the seat to fall to the floor, Mrs. J. J. Bryle, who was sitting in it, sustained a badly fractured ankle and some minor injuries to body and limbs. The accident happened at 1918 Weisser Park avenue, the home of the Byrie family.

DID NOT HAVE TIME TO PREPARE DELIVERIES

Walter Cole, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, because he collected funds for a tire filling chemical and then did not deliver the goods, made a stubborn fight when the case was called on the police court docket Monday morning. He claimed that he had been unable to prepare the goods for delivery when he was arrested at Danville, Ill. He said he intended to send the chemical to all customers. Judge Kerr took the case under advisement until Tuesday.

Amzie Black, charged with wife desertion, was given until Monday to show his good intentions towards supporting his helpmeet.

MACHINES FOR LADY VOTERS

BALLOTS FOR THE DELEGATE ELECTION

New Devices Have Been Installed—Voters Must Register.

For some time it was the belief of election officials that my fair lady, who will vote next fall at the city election, would not get to use the voting machines, but would be forced to use the ballots. William Fruechtenicht, however, now makes the announcement that the ladies will get to use the machines.

The county has enough voting machines to supply every voting precinct in the city with the exception of one. An effort will be made to have the voting machine company lend the county three more machines on promise that they will be purchased the next year.

At the election for delegates to the constitutional convention the ladies must use the ballots, however.

All the voting machines are having a new device attached to them. When the voter enters the booth he must first vote a party ticket, after which, if he desires to, he can vote a split ticket.

Another plea is made for the voters of the city to register immediately at the city hall for the fall election. The registration for the delegate election next September does not open until June 22. Every man in the county who wants to vote for these delegates must register at the court house any time within sixty days after June 22.

Division No. 2, Ladies' Auxiliary to A. O. H., will conduct an apron sale and social evening on Tuesday night, in St. Patrick's lyceum.

JAMES WHITE.

James White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex B. White, received notice Monday morning that he had successfully passed both the physical and mental examinations for West Point taken seven weeks ago in Washington. He is ordered to report at West Point on June 14.

Mr. White is now at Fort Benjamin Harrison in the training camp for the officers' reserve corps. When he enlisted in this service it was with the understanding that in the event of his passing the West Point examination he would be released. He enlisted with the officers' reserve corps as a matter of protection should he have failed for West Point admission, being determined to give his services to his country. Young White is a graduate of the Fort Wayne high school and also has had military training at Culver. His friends predict for him a brilliant future. He had taken some preparatory work in Washington before taking the examination for admission to West Point.

ARMY RANKS ALMOST FULL

NEW LAW DOUBLES PAY OF PRIVATES

The regular army is rapidly reaching its full war quota. The cavalry branch of the service will be filled before the week-end, in the opinion of Captain Thomas Ryan, in charge of the Fort Wayne recruiting station. The infantry branch should be filled before another month has gone, Captain Ryan thinks.

Indiana is now within 200 of her war quota. The Hoosier state should reach its war strength before the end of this week.

The Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth regiments of United States regular infantry are to be trained at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Captain Ryan thinks this an excellent opportunity for Indiana youths to join one or the other of the two regiments, as they will both be made up largely of Hoosier lads.

Increase Pay.

The pay of privates in the regular army has been doubled by the new army salary increase bill. A private will now get $30 a month besides his clothing and provisions. The pay of non-commissioned officers will be increased on a sliding scale.

A new federal law enables foreigners who have not yet received their first papers to enlist in the regular army ranks.

Should Give Address.

Young men who enlist are requested to give their full home address when they sign up at the Fort Wayne station. Credit to their home counties may make a difference in the number of conscripts demanded of the county they represent.

War Period Indefinite.

Captain Thomas Ryan, who returned to duty from Washington, D. C., on Monday, was unable to gain any impression about the possible period of the world war. National army officers are taking the care in drilling that would warrant the impression that they are not expecting "a breakfast bite," however, Captain Ryan states.

SUPREME COURT RULES ON COMPENSATION LAW

New York Case Decision is Construed by Highest Judicial Body.

Washington, May 21.—The New York workmen's compensation law, recently upheld as constitutional by the supreme court, was construed today by the court as not applicable to workmen injured on ships, while in New York navigable waters. The general federal maritime laws, the court decided, are exclusive and paramount. The Ohio workmen's compensation and employers' liability laws, the supreme court decided, are applicable to workmen injured on ships while in Ohio navigable waters.

The New York law by today's decision was construed as not applicable to railroad workmen injured while actually in interstate commerce. As to such the federal employers' liability act was held paramount and exclusive. The supreme court reversed New York state compensation awards to James Welfield, a New York Central track laborer.

The New Jersey workmen's compensation law of 1911, a non-compulsory statute, was decided by the supreme court to be unconstitutional and inoperative to railroad employes injured while engaged in interstate commerce. Justices Brandeis and Clarke dissented.

GUARD REGIMENTS MUST MEET NEW LAW

Washington, May 21.—Warning against attempts in any state to organize new units of the national guard which do not accord with the organization plan for the guard approved by President Wilson was given today by the war department. As it stands the guard is deficient in artillery, signal engineer and other special service troops in proportion to the number of infantry regiments. Specific instructions have been given to the adjutants general as to the units of each arm of the service for which the state will be responsible and in this connection the department's statement says: "Notwithstanding such action, some states have undertaken the organization of units which cannot be utilized in the formation of complete higher national units. While it is much to be desired to take full advantage of the patriotic interest stirring in the country such advantage can only come through coordination and regulation in co-operation with the general and basic plan."

The department requests that persons interested in raising new national guard units confer with the adjutant general of their state in order to determine what branch of the service should be augmented.

FIGHTING AGAINST RETURN TO INDIANA

James W. Lee, charged with victimizing the Old National bank by cashing two fraudulent checks last October, does not wan to come back here for trial. He was arrested recently in Illinois, and is fighting against requisition. He has obtained the services of two able law firms of Springfield, Ill.

Lee is now being held in Chicago. He will have a hearing before the courts on May 25, and action of Governor Lowden will be announced on May 29. Detective-Sergeant Walter Immel, who has been on the case, and who went for Lee last Friday, will return to Chicago for the man on the last date, if Lee is to be given over to Indiana authorities.

BIG CAMPAIGN STARTS TODAY

Monday morning the state campaign for the Y. M. C. A. war fund was started. Throughout the state members of the committee of one hundred and their assistants got into the harness for a week of raising money with which the association will carry on its work throughout the camps of the United States army.

Each night reports will be received in Fort Wayne from the seven counties and this district and the next morning summaries from the entire state will be received so that the workers and the public may be kept informed as to the progress. Fort Wayne district, number 3, expects to make one of the best showings in the state.

Before the campaign was started Captain Thomas F. Ryan, recruiting officer of the army here, wrote the following letter to E. W. Peirce, secretary of the Fort Wayne association:

"It gives me great pleasure to say a word of commendation of the work your association is doing in the army. I know from my personal experience, not only on the border, but also in the Philippines, that the work is of the very highest order and is greatly appreciated by both the men and the officers of the United States army.

"Especially is this true of the work done at Columbus, N. M., for it gave the soldiers a place to write their letters and the materials with which to write. It also gave them access to all of the leading periodicals, newspapers, magazines, etc., and a place where they could participate in harmless games.

"It gives me pleasure to recommend this branch of your service to the people."

Mrs. Frank Jones and Children and Miss Danner in an Accident.

Mrs. Frank H. Jones, two sons, Robert and Russell, and two daughters, Doloro and Margaret, and Miss Bernice Danner, daughter of Hiram Danner, corner Roy and C., H. & D. railroad, narrowly escaped Sunday night shortly before 9 o'clock when the car in which they were riding, ran into the railing of a bridge one mile south of Ossian.

Miss Doloro Jones was the most seriously hurt, her injuries consisting of a badly bruised arm and cuts about the cheek. She will be confined to her home for several days. Robert Jones sustained a badly sprained ankle. All the other occupants of the car were slightly bruised, but escaped more fortunately than did Miss Doloro and her brother, Robert.

The night was extremely dark and the rain was pouring in torrents. The driver of the car had the windshield up. The bright light of a car coming in the opposite direction, completely blinded him, causing him to guide his car directly in the railing of the bridge. The occupants were all thrown into a heap in the front seat. The car was badly damaged.

A few minutes after the accident a Fort Wayne physician whose name Mrs. Jones in her excitement did not learn, came along and gave first aid. Miss Doloro was carried into the home of W. W. Hoopengardner nearby. All were later brought to their homes in this city by the doctor and another machine which came along soon after the accident had occurred.

Mrs. Jones and children and Miss Danner had been spending the day with relatives at Liberty Center and were on their way home when the mishap took place.

A similar accident occurred at this same bridge last week when two cars, one from Muncie and another from Warren, collided, badly damaging both cars, and slightly injuring the occupants.

WILL WORK TOGETHER

RED CROSS WEEK PLANNED FOR JUNE

Fort Wayne Will Have Representative at Meeting in Washington.

Upon recommendation of Arthur F. Bentley, in charge of Red Cross work in Indiana, the counties of Adams, Noble and Lagrange will operate through and under the jurisdiction of the Fort Wayne chapter.

"I recommend that jurisdiction of Fort Wayne chapter, of the American Red Cross be extended to include Adams, Noble and Lagrange counties for the following reasons: Fort Wayne is very efficiently organized and is carrying on a great deal of chapter work and attracting people from the surrounding counties. The people of Decatur and Adams county requested some time ago that they be annexed to Fort Wayne. The people of Kendallville and Albion have expressed themselves similarly and I think Ligonier will be more satisfied to be a branch of Fort Wayne than of Kendallville, as it would have to be otherwise. As for Lagrange county, this county has a population of 15,000 and its largest town has about 1,700. It has good railroad connections towards Fort Wayne and Fort Wayne chapter has already received a number of memberships from its people. I am recommending the union of these counties with Fort Wayne chapter on the following terms:

"1. That officers of Fort Wayne chapter see to it that efficient branches of their chapter are maintained in the principal towns of these counties.

"2. That these branches be equipped both to finance themselves and to carry on their own work under the direction of Fort Wayne chapter.

"3. That it is understood that if at any time for any reasons whatsoever, the central committee desires to attach these counties and erect separate chapters there, it shall have full power resumed to do so."

Mr. Miller received word Monday that a conference would be held in Washington, D. C., on May 25 to make arrangements for a Red Cross week to be held throughout the country sometime in June. The Fort Wayne chapter will be represented at this meeting.

Speeders on Decatur Road on Thursday Night to Be Punished.

County Road Superintendent William Tonkel and the county commissioners have written to the secretary of state at Indianapolis asking that the licenses of two automobile drivers be revoked. On Thursday evening two automobiles, one a small red roadster, staged an Indianapolis speedway contest on the Decatur road.

However, they were not traveling fast enough so that a county official could not get the numbers. Their numbers were written down and handed to the county commissioners. The racing automobiles frightened a horse and threw a mother and her three small children into the ditch. Luckily none was severely injured.

Sunday morning a crew of motorcyclists traveled out on the Leo road and decided to hold a speed contest. They elected a starter, judges and all other officials. They even delegated a few of their party to the crossroads to stop all other traffic while the race was being run. Everything would have gone off in grand style had it not been for the fact that William Tonkel resided near by and saw the entire affair. He gave chase and succeeded in getting a few of the numbers.

Emilie Lichtsinn Sues William A. Lichtsinn for Separation.

Asking for a twenty year legal separation, custody of a five-year-old child and support money, Emilie Lichtsinn has sued William A. Lichtsinn for divorce. The defendant is a partner in the saloon and grocery business of Lichtsinn & Peters. The plaintiff states that there has been constant strife in the house and that the defendant has been guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment. She asks $25 a month for the support and education of the child, one hundred dollars monthly for her support, and $200 for attorney fees.

GRAVEL IN PLACE OF STONE.

Gravel from Allen county pits will be used on the county roads instead of stone. The gravel can be secured at a great saving and the commissioners have decided that they will use the product of the county in preference to imported crushed stones. The gravel found at Wesley Chapel is of a fine grade.

Case is Dismissed.

Marriage Licenses.

Clifford Kirkpatrick, electrician, to Margaret Weidler.

Board of Works Will Decide on Request to Lengthen Street.

A petition filed in 1912, and which asks for the lengthening of Franklin street to High street, will be acted upon by the board of works Monday afternoon. There were forty-three names on the petition when presented five years ago. Several of the citizens have changed their residence since that time. Three of the number are dead.

Several citizens called attention of the works board members to the neglected petition last week. The request for lengthening the street was unearthed. The board members visited the region to be affected, in an automobile, Saturday afternoon.

It is expected that the board will decide to lengthen the street only to St. Clair street at this time. A bridge has already been built across the canal, just north of St. Clair street. There would be little difficulty in bringing Franklin street down across two lots, board members say.

People living in the neighborhood state that they will not complain if Franklin street is not taken to High street at this time. The lengthening of the drive across another square would necessitate the moving of several houses and much expense to the city.

The board will also act on the petition for placing sidewalks on both sides of Franklin street, from Third to Huffman, and on the east side of St. Mary's avenue from Pape avenue to Third street.

More Than 900 Registered.

More than 900 citizens have registered for voting in the coming city election. Of that number 225 signed up on Saturday. Male and female voters have registered in about even numbers so far.

Harkenrider Appointed.

Charles Harkenrider, 225 East Main street, has been appointed to take the place of building clerk, which was made vacant by the promotion of Andrew App to assistant city engineer. Harkenrider began his duties in the board of works office on Monday morning.

Brown Off Duty.

First Trip.

Mayor W. J. Hosey returned to Fort Wayne Monday noon from his first visit to his Rome City cottage this year. He went to Rome City Saturday afternoon. His family will stay at the resort during the remainder of the week.

Birth Record.

Building Permits.

Building permits were issued to the Federal Securities and Investment company to build a frame house, 1726 St. Mary's avenue, $2,800, and William L. Griebel to build residence, 2937 John street, $1,800, and to the Indiana Engineers Construction company to erect addition to the Wayne Oil Tank works, $3,500.

Start Concreting Alleys.

The Grace Construction company workmen have started their task of paving twenty alleys in the city. Grading work is under way this week. Laying of concrete, with which all the driveways are to be improved, will be started in two weeks.

BAN JOHNSON'S LEAGUE TO BUY LIBERTY BONDS

Chicago, Ill., May 21.—The American league has decided upon the immediate subscription of $100,000 for liberty bonds, President Johnson announced. Eight of the clubs will subscribe $12,500 each.

President Johnson also announced that the league would donate the proceeds of the game to be played in New York, June 10, to the first American engineering corps to be sent to France. He estimated that the receipts would be between $10,000 and $12,000. Either St. Louis or Boston will oppose the New York club on that day.

FEDERAL GRIP ON THE MINES

Washington, D. C., May 21.—The bituminous coal shortage is blamed on the railroads in a report today by the federal trade commission. Producers by taking advantage of the lack of cars, are charged with responsibility, however, for prevailing high prices.

"There is no scarcity of coal in the ground," the report says.

"There is sufficient coal in the bituminous coal mines now being operated, not only to supply the present demand, but also to supply a greatly increased demand. The unprecedented demand for this fuel in the past six months, together with the difficulties of rail and water transportation not only have absorbed the coal as fast as it could be shipped from the mines but have led also to almost complete exhaustion of the coal stored at tidewater points and at the docks on the great lakes.

"The country faces a serious state of affairs in obtaining a commodity which is basic to practically every form of its military and industrial activity."

"Under war-time conditions," says the report, "it may become the duty of the government to take steps similar to those found necessary by belligerent countries and not only to regulate the distribution of coal from the mouth of the mine to the ultimate consumer by allotting the quantity of the product which the different classes of consumers shall be allowed to purchase, but also to establish the prices to be paid by different classes of consumers. * * * * At a time like present excessive profits should not be permitted to be extorted from the public by producers and distributors of any prime necessity of life."

Of prices now charged for coal the report says:

"Figures submitted to the commission * * * show that most of the present prices now charged * * * are far in excess of the cost as shown by the operators' books. Many of the operators frankly take the position that they are trying to get for their coal the highest prices possible under the present demand and are refraining even at prices greatly increased over last year, from contracting their output to the extent of their usual custom.

They defend this action by claiming that under the operation of the law of supply and demand they have for many years past been getting little more for their coal than the bare cost of production; that the mining of bituminous coal during that period has been a most unprofitable industry and that this is their chance to recoup themselves for the losses of several years. Accordingly, they are demanding prices at the mine today which run from 50 per cent to several hundred per cent over the cost of their output."

Lazy loafers will be bitterly denounced by Frank Hilgemann, chairman of the food relief committee of Fort Wayne, before the City Ministerial association late Monday afternoon. The religious leaders will be asked again to preach the gospel of potato planting by Mr. Hilgemann.

"It is the tired people I want to get at," says Hilgemann. "Many of them are 'tired' farmers who could be of value and yet they stand around and make fun of the loyal city bred folks who are doing the best they can to be of service by planting."

Five hundred copies of pamphlets on "Home Gardening" have been received by the relief committee and are being given out to the public.

City teams worked all day Sunday. More than 300 lots have been plowed. More teams may be added this week.

Traction Company Making Changes in Power House.

Work has been started on the erection of a new stack, fifteen feet in diameter and two hundred and fifty feet in height, at the power house of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, on Spy Run avenue. When completed the stack will be the largest in the city.

Several important changes are also being made in the equipment. A 1,350-horse power boiler of the latest type has been purchased and will be installed. It is equipped with force draft and underfeed stokers and will practically eliminate all smoke.

PLAN TO KNIT CLOTHES.

BIG INNING SCORES WIN FOR THE CHIEFS

Dayton, O., May 21.—A big eighth inning paved the way for a Fort Wayne win over the Vets here yesterday after the Chiefs had dropped everything but the uniforms to the local club in the first two games of the series. By stacking up four runs in that one inning Vandagrift and his outfit were able to cop from Dayton 7 to 4.

The big inning was started with a free trip for Kelly, followed by Powers beating out a bunt, and Rooney's single. Brown then got a sacrifice fly and Kelly went home, missing the plate. Brennegan failed to tag him and Kelly went back, touched the pan and was safe. Batsch followed with an infield hit and the bases were full. After Peterson had gone out on bunt strikes Siegfried came through with a double to right field, scoring three men. Vandagrift closed the inning by flying out.

Fort Wayne looked good all the way through the game, with Peterson hurling a high class brand of baseball all the way. He was backed by good fielding and hitting in the pinches which won the game.

The scoring started in the second when, with two out and Peterson, Siegfried and Gleich on the bases, Kelley got a left field single, scoring the first two. Powers whiffed for the third out. In the sixth inning Powers was handed a walk and went to second on Brown's sacrifice to Hobbs. Brown then made one of his doubles to the left field fence and Powers went in.

With one down in the sixth Dayton became dangerous, and tied the score by means of a pass, a single, a double over Gleich's head, which scored two, and another single which brought in Spencer, perpetrator of the double. Storch was caught between bases and after Hobbs had made first, Stewart whiffed. In the last half of the ninth, after two were down, the Vets came through with one run when Stewart singled to right and swiped second and scored on Brennegan's single. Miller then walked and Hanna hit to Vandagrift, ending the game.

Fort Wayne returns to the second city of Hoosierdom today for a sojourn of nine days. Grand Rapids is first in line for a three-game series and will be followed by Muskegon and South Bend. South Bend will be there next Sunday, and league officials expect one of the largest crowds of the season when the two old rivals of the league meet for the first time in many moons.

CENTRAL LEAGUE.

QUAKERS DEFEATED.

Muskegon, Mich., May 21.—In the last half of the ninth, when the score was tied, Catcher Texter muffed a throw from Hart and Spear scored, making the score 5 to 4.

BENDERS ARE THERE.

Springfield, O., May 21.—A mud battle here yesterday went to South Bend, score 6 to 3. The Benders were aided in their win by many errors on the part of the Reapers. Manager Dunn was shown the gate when he protested a decision.

POLICE SAVE UMPS M'KEE.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 21.—Umpire McKee was saved from an angry mob by the police here yesterday, after he had taken to the club house as fast as he could make the tracks. He had called the game in the ninth when the score was tied at 2 all, and there were two runners on base. An agreement had been made to call the game at 5:15 to allow the clubs to catch a train.

LINCOLN LIFE OUTFIT CLEANS SILVER EDGES

Insurance Men Take South Bend Club Into Camp in Baseball Battle.

South Bend's pride in the way of semi-pro baseball clubs was given a shock here yesterday when Mart Cleary's Lincoln Lifes took the Silver Edges over the route to a 3 to 5 win. A large crowd of fans witnessed the game, which was fast all the way, and which had more the appearance of big league stuff than of semi-pro. The win over the Benders give the insurance men a nice boost in their scrap for the state title.

At no time during the game were the policy venders out of danger, and the top brand of playing was the rule until the very last out. For three innings and a half the scoring stood at nil and the playing was of the highest order. When the runs began to come in they were singly and in pairs and there was no hint of a blowup on either side.

Bobby Smith was right all the way through eigh tinnings in which he worked, and would have finished the game had he not wrenched his arm. Oestermeyer occupied the mound in the last frame and handed out nary a bingle. Dunton did great stick work for the insurance men. Score:

CREAM OF TROTTING STOCK WILL GO UNDER HAMMER AT BILLINGS SALE

"Well, gentlemen, how much am I bid?"

On June 6 some of the greatest harness racing stock will go under the hammer when, with two exceptions, the horses of C. K. G. Billings are sold at auction at Madison Square garden.

In addition Billings will sell fifty-nine brood mares carefully selected from the greatest racing stock, fourteen of them being in the 2:10 list.

Many of the mares have been foaled to The Harvester and a large number of blue blooded colts will be placed on the market.

The stock is kept on the great Curlsneck farm near Richmond, on which Billings has expended more than $500,000.

This estate will be turned over to the government for army purposes.

ALEXANDER NOT TO TRY FOR SHUTOUTS

Grover Alexander, who holds the record for the greatest number of shutouts ever won in a season, says he will never pitch another shutout game. At least he makes that odd statement in an article in the June Baseball Magazine, of course, with a few reservations. Among other things, Alec, who is the highest salaried man in the National league, puts over the following fast balls and in-shoots:

"A pitcher is strong for a shutout. I won't deny that I rather like to put over a goose egg score on the enemy myself. There is a certain satisfaction in getting the third strike on a dangerous batter. There is still more satisfaction in retiring the side when three men are on the bases. But the thing a pitcher likes more than anything else next to a no-hit game is a shutout.

"Last year I was pretty fortunate in my shutout score. I guess I was too liberal with the whitewash. At least I managed to write 16 zero signs on the opposition score board. That looks like a good many at this distance. I am not sure that I will ever do the stunt again. I would say it was quite an undertaking, standing as I do at the beginning of a season and looking ahead. There are too many sluggers in this league, too many strong teams to make that stunt any bed of roses for a pitcher. And yet it would have looked just as impossible to me last year if I had cared to indulge in any day dreams, and considered the chances of scoring sixteen shutouts.

"Baseball, of course, is a game of skill. But there is enough luck in it to upset all guesses. No, I hadn't banked on anything wonderful last year. I felt all right and intended to do my best. But I had no pipe dreams about any little thing like a broken record when I entered the grand old game last April.

"Perhaps that explains my good luck. The chances are, if I had tried to accomplish anything out of the ordinary I wouldn't have done so well. In fact, I will lay this down as a rule I have learned from my experience in the grand old game. The fellow who does the best is the fellow who goes on the firing line without any intention of doing anything unusual. He is merely determined to do his best and lets it go at that. If he tries to let out a few reefs he will get nervous and fall all over himself. Keep your head, use your head and plug away. That is about all that can be said on the subject.

"To show how little I worked for a record last year I will say that I didn't even know what the previous record was. Coombs, they tell me, pitched thirteen shutouts one season with the Athletics and was high man. Last year I managed to better that mark by three. But it wasn't premeditated. I didn't realize I was breaking any record at the time.

"Now that I have that record anybody can take it away from me if they want to and can get it. I shall never try to improve upon that mark. A pitcher when he has one of his best days, can breeze through a game in almost unhittable form and perhaps not suffer in the least. He doesn't seem to have to exert himself. But if he is going to pitch many shutouts through a season he will have to work for them and that is death on his arm. When I was a young pitcher I used to put all the stuff I had on every ball I put over the plate. But I learned better. If I hadn't the probability is I wouldn't be in the game today.

"A wise pitcher saves his arm. He makes that one of his main objects in life. Of course there are plenty of times when he can't do this. Sometimes he has to put every ounce of stuff he has on that little old ball. But he wouldn't be able to call up the necessary strength to do this if he hadn't made it his policy to save his strength.

"I had to use a lot of energy in order to get those shutouts. But in most cases I had no choice. The games were tight. I couldn't afford to allow the opposition any leeway. I had to pitch full speed all the way through in order to be sure of winning.

"But that's all ancient history now. I haven't any ambitions this year except to do my best work and earn the salary club is paying me. A shutout doesn't dent the records any more than a game won by the score of 6 to 5. That was my initial performance this season. It was a victory and that is the only thing that counts. A victory is a victory and whether it was a goose egg or not doesn't make any difference. I will let any club in the league have five runs any day I am pitching if they will let me have six. It's a good bargain. If the other seven clubs in the league will agree to it I will agree not to pitch another shutout as long as I live."

How Society Men Hold Their Pipes

LOTS OF OPPOSITION FOR MASON TOMORROW

Frankie Mason is going to meet all kinds of opposition tomorrow night when he steps into the ring to clean out the Zulu Kid. The latter is set up along the toughest sort of lines for a bantam and he is out to make additions to his string of wins.

The local boy is working hard right up to the final minute and is in better condition than was ever the case before. Saturday he tipped the scale at 107 pounds, five pounds below the requirements. He will not be lonesome on the condition stuff, however, as word from Brooklyn is to the effect tha tthe easterner is trained right up to th eminute and will be in first-class condition Tuesday.

The remainder of the card for the show is of the highest order. In the opening two rivals, Battling Hess and Artie Wellsbacher, will mix, while in the semi-windup Young Brown, who took Holzhauer over the road in the last meeting, will scrap Eddie Austin, of Chicago.

WEEGHMAN AT OPENER.

Chicago, May 21.—Charles H. Weeghman, Cub president, will toss out the first ball in the opening Central league game at Richmond, Ind., this afternoon. Mr. Weeghman is a native of Richmond, and used his influence, also some capital, in placing that town in the Central circuit. This will be a gala day in the "old home town" and the Cub prexy expects to play a prominent part in the big doings.

DISTRICT TRACK MEET TAKEN BY HUNTINGTON

Huntington, Ind., May 21.—Huntington high school won the district track meet here Saturday, getting a total of 37 points. Other schools finished as follows: Kendallville, 24; Columbia City, 14; Angola, 9; Fort Wayne, 8; Washington Center, 5; Laketon, 1; Wabash, 0; Bluffton, 0. Wabash had but one man in competition and Bluffton, discouraged by an overwhelming defeat of the previous week, failed to have a team at the meet.

Four Huntington men, Kacy, Johnson, Wygant, Morgan and Grayston, will go to Lafayette to the state meet next Saturday. There is a fine chance for this quintet of athletes to take first honors since over sixty schools will be represented, and not many points are needed to land in that position.

Warriner and Watt were the only scorers for Fort Wayne, the former getting first place in the half-mile which was run in 2:17. Watt took third place in the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash and broad jump. Summary:

100 yard dash—First, Johnson, Huntington; second, Orstadt, Kendallville; third, Watt, Fort Wayne. Time—10 2-5 seconds.

(By Charles H. Newcomb, for National Sports Syndicate.)

(Mr. Newcomb is in business in Philadelphia. He won the Pennsylvania state trapshooting championship and the national amateur championship in 1915. He is also a member of the world's record squad that broke 497 out of 500 targets at Maplewood in 1916. He is a student of the game and one of the best trapshots in the United states).

Why did I take up trapshooting? Primarily because it seemed to fit into my business, at the time I took it up, better than other forms of recreation that I considered.

After dropping athletic work I wanted some form of outdoor recreation, and as club shoots were always held on Saturday afternoons and holidays, I adopted trapshooting. Furthermore, the fascination of trying to reduce the little clay "blue rocks" to dust increased every time I tried.

It probably is difficult for one who is not a trapshooter to realize this, but all trapshooters know that this idea of reducing the elusive clap targets to dust develops to such a degree that it would seem as if we were simply breaking them for spite. It is this fascination that holds me in the game.

The one element around which the whole success of the sport of trapshooting is centered, and the one thing that holds us all after once thoroughly initiated, is the sportmanship of the game, and those connected with it. There is no question but that there is more true sportsmanship exhibited daily in this sport than in any other in the world, and it is this feeling that is now responsible for the wonderful increase in this, the sport of all sports, for a red-blooded man, during the past year or two.

The rules governing trapshooting are few, but decisive, and to the point. We do not see every few weeks where some trapshooter is before the governing association for transgressing the amateur ruling as in other lines. The rule is so clear that there can be no misunderstanding as to what constitutes a professional or an amateur. He is either one or the other, and shoots as such. This is another reason why trapshooters are so enthusiastic about the sport. They have a rascinating game, where they meet good clean sportsmen and good fellows, and it makes a combination hard to beat.

In trapshooting, like in all other games that are worth while, a high degree of efficiency cannot be reached except through diligent practice, and application which makes the winning of a big event or tournament worth the effort. Take for instance the national amateur championship. To be eligible to compete in this event it is first necessary for the shooter to win the championship of his state. This is a great feat in itself.

CHARLES H. NEWCOMB.

Beginners are always welcome at trapshooting clubs. The regulars are only too glad to give all the assistance they can to every new convert. While the veterans can give the beginners some of the basic principles of trapshooting, it is a case of continual application, combined with bull dog tenacity that brings results for this as well as other games is very discouraging at times.

Keeping everlastingly at it, however, will bring success, and with victory past trials are forgotten. It is a sport worthy of the effort.

GERMANY HUGS A VAST PLOT

HOLDS HER ALLIES IN SUBJECTION

Peace Proposals Are in Fact Moves in Her War Scheme.

The following important review of Germany's aspirations in the world war is issued from the office of the Associated Press in Washington by authority. It furnishes the most explicit statement that has been uttered bearing upon the propaganda of conquest directed by the imperial government at Berlin and makes clear the dream of a great Germany that led the kaiser to begin the war.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, May 21.—Germany's next peace declaration, expected to suggest a program of territorial renunciation on the east and the west, is regarded here as largely answered beforehand by information revealing for the first time the full scope of the imperial government's aspirations for conquest in the south.

This information discloses as one of the primary aims of the war a plan for consolidation of an impregnable military and economic unit stretching from the North sea to the Mediterranean, cutting Europe permanently in half, controlling the Dardanelles, the Aegan and the Baltic, and eventually forming the backbone of a Prussian world empire.

In the light of German history, the plan shows how implicity the kaiser has followed out the blood and iron politico-economic methods of Bismarck for developing of Prussian power. Considered in view of the present war map, it shows that the major portion of the kaiser's war program has been accomplished, regardless of what disposition is made of conquered territory in France, Belgium and Russia.

Greater War Seen.

A full realization of this situation which will form a sinister background for consideration of whatever renunciation proposals the imperial chancellor may make, adds a new force to the repeated declarations of allied statesmen that the German peace maneuvers are in reality war moves, and that a premature truce only would give Germany a resting period in which to further Prussianize and prepare for a greater world war the territory to the southeast, which she has conquered under the guise of a friendly alliance.

Although officials have refrained from definite public expressions of what the United States might demand as a peace guarantee, these possibilities recall with recurring emphasis President Wilson's declaration that America might fight until "the world is made safe for democracy."

They bring into relief Foreign Minister Balfour's warning that hard fighting still must win the war, the conviction of the American army general staff that the country must prepare for at least three years of war and the fact that predictions of an early peace have been discredited as visionary in virtually every allied capital.

Policy Now Explained.

How minutely defined is the German plan and how accurately it is being carried out have become fully apparent only with the opening up, during the last few weeks, of several new avenues of information.

The return of American diplomatic agents from the central empires, the visit of the British and French war mission, detailed confidential reports of the recent frank expressions in the reichstag and in the German press, and the deductions of alert American agents abroad watching the newest peace moves have supplied the explanation of more than one hitherto obscured feature of the German policy.

In her southeastern conquests, it now is apparent, Germany has followed almost in toto the long-established plan of the pan-German league, whose propaganda has been regarded outside of Germany as the harmless activity of extremists, too radical to be taken seriously.

Coupled with this plan, as an instrument of economic consolidation, the German officials have used, with only slight modifications, the system of customs union expansion which aided Prussia in other years to extend her dominion over the other German states now making up the empire.

Lines Are Held Today.

As early as 1911 the pan-German league is said to have circulated a definite propaganda of conquest, with printed appeals containing maps of a greater Germany whose sway from Hamburg to Constantinople and then southeastward through Asiatic Turkey was marked out by boundaries virtually coincident with the military lines held today under German officers, by the troops of Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey.

Adhesion of the German government itself to such a plan was not suspected by the other powers, although the propagandists were permitted to continue their activities unhindered and to spread their appeals in a country of strict press supervision through the pan-German Gazette and other radical publications.

How closely the German government did adhere to the plan in reality has been demonstrated clearly, it is considered now, by the course of the war.

Bismarck as Example.

Following in the footsteps of Bismarck, who used the Franco-Prussian war alliance to bring Baden, Bavaria and Wurtemburg into the German confederacy and then into the German empire, Emperor William chose war as the means of establishing the broad pathway to the southeast which was essential for realization of the dream of a great Germany.

The subjugation of Austria-Hungary, which would have presented a difficult task under ordinary conditions, became in these circumstances comparatively simple. A polygot combination of states having little in common and apparently held together only by the decaying genius of the aged Emperor Franz Joseph, the dual monarchy was regarded everywhere as on the verge of dissolution. Her helplessness before Russia's armies became apparent early in the war, and the eagerness with which Germany seized the opportunity thus presented is pointed to as emphasizing the farsightedness of the German plans.

Hold Austria-Hungary.

Austria-Hungary's submission now is declared to be complete, both in a military and economic sense. The German officers commanding her armies, abetted by political and industrial agents scattered through the country by Germany, evidently are holding the Austrian and Hungarian population in a union which neither the hardships of war, the death of the emperor nor the inspiration of outside influences such as the Russian revolution, can break.

Bulgaria's declaration of war on the side of Germany was actuated by a German diplomatic coup which in itself is regarded now as a further evidence that a clear road through to the Dardanelles was considered in Berlin as a primary and imperative purpose of the war.

It is pointed out that the only concrete cause for action set forth in the Bulgarian war proclamation is that "the central powers have promised us parts of Serbia, creating an Austro-Bulgarian border line." Creation of such a junction, now well established by the Austro-German-Bulgarian armies, breaks down a hitherto formidable barrier to German expansion southeastward.

Turkey Under Control.

In the case of Turkey, German domination is believed here to be even more complete than in Austria-Hungary and Bulgaria. Not only have German officers led in defending Turkish territory and in eradicating inharmonious elements such as the Armenians and Syrians but it has been learned that German industrial organizers have taken a firm grip on Turkish industry, and a large delegation of German professors has been sent to spread German kultur among the population.

These developments throw a new light on many events before the war. Among them is the long unexplained declaration of Emperor William at Damascus in 1898 that all Mohammedans might confidently regard the German emperor as "their friend forever." There also is a complete understanding now of Germany's eagerness to secure in 1899 a concession for the Bagdad railroad, an artery of communication now indespensable to the German operations.

All Obstacles Overcome.

Fitting in squarely with an actuating desire for conquest to the southeast is the general German military policy during the entire war. It is noted that even at the expense of recessions on the eastern and western fronts, Germany has taken pains to overrun quickly Serbia, Montenegro and Rumania, and to keep in check all allied attempts to strike at the southeastern pathway from the Dardanelles or Saloniki. Not until the present British advances in Asiatic Turkey has there been any serious danger to any part of the greater stretch from the Baltic to the Persian gulf.

In consolidating this territory, it is revealed, the economic element has been given a conspicuous place. This work was going on before the war, although it had not reached a maturity comparable with the economic effort by which Prussia bound the German states in the customs union of 1828, forty years before she brought them under the empire.

A comprehension of the present danger prompted the allied economic conference at Paris, where plans were made for meeting the German trade war after the war.

Plans Custom Union.

It is problematical to officials here how far Germany might go, should peace be made now, with renunciation of all territory on the east and west, in political consolidation of the great territory in the southeast.

It is pointed out that any German peace offer would be expected to demand at least some expansion for Bulgaria, and retention of enough of the conquered Balkan territory to insure the route to Constantinople.

That it is the intention to bring Austro-Hungaria, Bulgaria and Turkey into a customs union, Germanizing their industries, and to surround the whole economic entity thus established with a formidable tariff wall, has been made clear by the declarations of Frederich Naumann and other exponents of an economic Mittel Europe.

Want Joint Chancellory.

Some influential men of this group even have suggested that Germany go so far immediately as to establish a joint chancellory for Germany, Austria and Hungary to conduct foreign affairs.

All of this is taken as revealing the peril of a premature peace which would leave the German southeastern domains unbroken.

The disclosures are regarded as giving a sinister color to recent movements for a separate peace for Austria-Hungary or Bulgaria, in the region where German conquest is most safe; to the eagerness with which German leaders have taken up the cry of "no annexation" so far as the great northern powers are concerned; to the German chancellor's recent reichstag speech indicating that the government was not yet ready to renounce its territorial gains in France, Belgium and Russia, "while all other matters are left in suspense."

Any renunciation of territory, it is expected, would exclude Poland, which would be made a "free state" under the German plan, but would remain wholly under German domination.

Could Cut "Pathway."

The turn of affairs is accepted, too, as bringing Austria-Hungary more clearly into relief as the area of possible operations to impose a barrier between Berlin and Constantinople. In that connection is recalled the declaration of the allies replying to President Wilson's peace note in the light of knowledge which only now has become available here, that the war must accomplish "the liberation of Italians, of Slavs, of Rumanians and of Tzecho-Slovacs from foreign domination; the enfranchisement of populations subject to the bloody tyranny of the Turk; the expulsion from Europe of the Ottoman empire," and the restoration of Serbia, Montenegro and Rumania.

Such a program, it is pointed out, would effectually break up the greater Germany now established as the nucleus of a world Germany. It would impose a Rumanian-Serbian barrier between Austria and Bulgaria, would further enlarge this barrier by restoring to Rumania her 3,500,000 nationals in eastern Hungary and probably to Serbia 5,500,000 Serbo-Croatians in southern Austria and a large section of Bulgaria.

Make Dardanelles Free.

The suggestion of the allies would also establish at the crucial southern point of the dual empire a free nation of 7,000,000 Tzecho-Slovacs and in the north a free Poland by the addition of five million Poles now under Austrian rule, and would restore 1,000,000 Italians to Italy and upward of 2,000,000 Slavs to Russia. In addition it would dismember the then detached Turkish territory to the south by liberating the Armenians and Syrians and removing the Dardanelles from German domination.

American officials have made it clear that in co-operating with the allies the United States was not entering a binding alliance to accomplish definite and detailed territorial aims, but there is every evidence that the government understands in concrete form the crucial southeastern element of the situation and realizes the enormity of the struggle that must be won before the world is made "safe for democracy."

Business Is Going--- Strong

Business is going—in the East, the West, the North, the South. The country is prosperous. Last month's increase in business was very large. People may pause temporarily in their outfitting to arrange to meet the new conditions. But the unloosing of billions of dollars will unloose a flow of prosperity absolutely necessary to sustain the world's burden.

Our industries can be made more prolific only if the people buy and use the merchandise produced by our industries. Manufacturing slackens when business slackens. Manufacturing grows in a prolific way when business grows. And business can grow and remain healthful only when the people buy and keep money in circulation.

Keep business going — for our country's sake. War cannot be waged and won without the sinews of war. Do your part by buying what you can afford. You help us, we help the next one and he helps a third and so on, so we are all prosperous.

RED MEN IN ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICE

The annual memorial services were held Sunday by Mechecannochqua tribe, No. 106, Improved Order of Red Men. The graves of the departed members in the various cemeteries were decorated by committees appointed for that purpose after which services were held at the Plymouth Congregational church, where the Rev. Arthur J. Folsom delivered the memorial address.

"Your brothers still live," Rev. Folsom said. "Their voices still proclaim those sacred truths wrapped up in freedom, friendship and charity. With inspiring, quickening power they still lift us heavenward. And may it be said of us when we are gone that we loved much, served well, honored God and glorified Jesus Christ, who is the author and finisher of our faith."

LIBERTY BONDS FOR EXPRESS EMPLOYES

An announcement conveying the intelligence that the American Express company had purchased a large block of the government bonds of the Liberty loan of 1917, and would give an opportunity to all its employes to purchase such bonds at actual cost, has been received by J. H. Wort, local agent for that company. The announcement further stated that in order to facilitate the sale of the bonds that company would extend privileges to the public to subscribe for the bonds as well as to its own employes. The company statement said that if a sufficient number of employes wished to subscribe for a larger amount of bonds than they would be able to pay for by August 30, the company would consider a plan of providing for payment by monthly installments. If the bonds are sold with such rapidity that the block becomes exhausted before June 15, the company will purchase as many more bonds as are required. Particular emphasis is placed upon the fact that these negotiations will be made without profit to the express company, and that the Liberty bonds will be free from federal, state or local taxes, except estate and inheritance taxes. The subscription books will close on or before June 15, and purchasers are notified that all subscriptions should be sent to the company's treasurer at 65 Broadway, New York, through the office of the local agents. The cost will be at par, unless the bonds are delivered after June 15, when interest of 3½ per cent. will be charged for the time beyond that date until payment is made.

CALLED TO SPECIAL WORK.

Frank Ray Receives Promotion on the Pennsylvania.

A change in the ranks of road foreman of engines of the Pennsylvania overlooked by The Sentinel last week affects Frank Ray, who was road foreman of engines of the Eastern division and who was succeeded by John H. Hanna. Mr. Ray has been assigned to special work under the direct control of the motive power superintendent and he assumed that duty this morning. Mr. Ray served as road foreman of engines of the Western division immediately following the death of A. H. Polhamus and in that capacity instructed C. R. Colmey, who a few months later became the road foreman of engines on this division. While holding that position, Mr. Ray became acquainted with all the road and yard men then on the pay rolls and many are still in the service who remember him and entertain high regard for him.

This meeting will be open to all who care to attend and Nickel Plate employes are particularly invited. The speakers will be A. W. Johnston, assistant to President Bernet; R. W. Mitener, superintendent of transportation; W. S. Blair, superintendent of telegraph, and others. The general safety movements as related to the handling of trains in connection with the changed condition incident to the war will be the topic of discussion.

RE-OPENED THE CHARTER.

With a view of facilitating a campaign for membership inaugurated a few days ago, the charter of the Linemen's union has been re-opened and will not be closed until June 15. In the meantime the members and the deputies will hustle for applicants, giving attractive entertainments each week. A fish fry is on the docket for next Friday night, providing the half dozen or more members who went to the lakes Saturday are successful in getting the requisite number and pounds of fish. Arthur Bennet, the organizer, who was at Louisville a few days ago, is here to get "things going" and will probably remain here three or four days.

WELTON ON THE JOB.

Samuel A. Welton, the newly appointed assistant road foreman of engines of the Pennsylvania Western division, arrived in the city last night and this morning assumed the duties of the office. He said he would bring his family here as soon as he could find a suitable house to live in. Mr. Welton is well known to all the engineers and firemen running in and out of Crestline, having met them frequently at that place, which was a terminal for him when he was running on the Eastern division.

VISITED GERALD LEEPER.

Gerald A. Leeper, former clerk in the Pennsylvania tin and pipefitting shop of the Pennsylvania, did not take a position in Texas, as expected when he left this city two or three weeks ago. Instead he is working in the offices of the Illinois Central at Chicago, where he was induced to take employment by the offer of a good salary. Robert Penfold, clerk for Foreman Harry Emmerson, of the Pennsy lathe room, visited Mr. Leeper yesterday. The latter sends his regards to his former shop associates.

TO HAVE IMPORTANT MEETING.

No. 513, Nickel Plate division, Grand International Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, announce an important meeting at Vorhees hall Thursday afternoon. The management states that business of importance will be transacted and it is necessary that there be a full attendance.

ATTENDED TOM GORDON'S FUNERAL.

A number of Pennsylvania office and shop employes laid off this morning to attend the funeral of Thomas Gordon, who died in Chicago Friday. Mr. Gordon worked in the Pennsylvania master mechanic's office several years before he went to Chicago to work in the board of trade offices.

BLACKSMITHS RESUME WORK.

Fred Muehlenbruch, Pennsylvania blacksmith, resumed his duties this morning after an illness covering a period of three months. E. H. Rehling, who had a hand hurt a week ago, also reported for duty at the blacksmith shop this morning.

CLERK'S PROMOTED.

B. C. Derck has been appointed price clerk at the store keeper's room of the Wabash in this city, assuming the new duties this morning. Leo Heersche, of the local Wabash store room, has been transferred to Peru as storekeeper for the company. Both changes are promotions for the men affected.

BOOK OF RULES SCHOOL.

Trainmaster R. E. Casey, of the G. R. & I., opened his school on the book of rules this morning. Classes will be held at 8:30 o'clock in the morning of Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and at 9 o'clock Sunday morning.

H. J. Rooney has gone to Baraboo, Wis., to attend the funeral of his father-in-law, who died last Saturday, aged 80 years. Mrs. Rooney went to the home of her father last Friday. Two or three weeks later Mr. Rooney wil assume a responsible position at Baraboo and the family will reside there. He is a tester at the General Electric works.

A post card to A. L. Hadley, of the engineering department of the General Electric works, carried the best wishes of Leslie Jeffers to his friends in the plant and the information that he is having a good time and working hard at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Mr. Jeffers was employed as a tester in the General Electric general testing room.

The G. E. storehouse ball club was defeated yesterday by the Fort Wayne Dodgers, the score being 11 to 7. The storehouse team will have two games next Sunday, the first at Foster park with the office force at 9 o'clock in the morning and the second at Weisser park diamond at 2:30 o'clock with the Nationals.

Machinist John Offner, who figured in two accidents Friday, was able to hobble to the Pennsylvania vise shop and work today, despite the painfulness of the injuries. He was struck in the side by a sledgehammer and when on his way home, was run down by an automobile. By grabbing and clinging to the fender of the machine, Mr. Offner prevented more serious and possibly fatal injuries. The bicycle he was riding was totally demolished.

FINAL SETTLEMENT OF EIGHT HOUR LAW

New York, May 21.—A settlement is expected to be reached this week between the national conference committee of the railroads and the heads of the four railway brotherhoods on all points at issue over the application of the eight hour day, members of both sides announced today. Conferences have been in progress here for two weeks. While the dispute, which has twice brought the country to the verge of a national railroad strike was settled officially in March when the railroads granted the eight hour day, on the eve of the supreme court's decision upholding the Adamson law, there remained many points of difference over the application of the law. The railroads contended that some concessions under the old ten hour day should be surrendered on an eight hour schedule, which gave the men $60,000,000 more wages a year. This was opposed by the unions as a general proposition.

Fine crepe silk Shirts, $7.00 quality for $5.00; $5.00 tub silks, $3.95.

Braving the threat of cattle rustlers, escaped convicts and other sinister skulkers of the desert stretches.

Waging a losing fight against hordes of jack rabbits, invading her garden.

Forced by circumstances to provide for herself, Mrs. Whitehead saw her chance in government land. She endured all the hardships of frontier life and has now fulfilled the requirements of the homestead law. She is about to prove up on her half-section of fine land that will some day yield her a fortune.

"My mother and I were in California when I decided to take up the land," she explained. "Mother felt she couldn't stand the life, so I struck out alone.

"We had very little money. The entry fee, my shack, the digging of a well, freight payments on equipment and the like made a frightful hole in our bank account."

Mrs. Whitehead has for a few months been enjoying a respite from her ranch labors, at the same time earning more money for improvements. Oregon legislators heared of her pluck and made a position for her as bill clerk during the last session of the state senate.

"There were many times when I was tempted to back out," she went on. "The loneliness of the desert is terrifying at times. It was all so different from old Kentucky and the things I had been used to that it took a lot of courage to keep from crying.

"My ranch is 140 miles from anywhere. On the trip to my land, after we had driven 115 miles in a bumpy, buckboard stage, the driver pulled up his horses in front of a dismal, unpainted building, bounded by distant horizon, gray sage brush and desert air.

"I had been told that Viewpoint was my 'nearest town.' Imagine my dismay at the dreariness of the spot. I choked down my disappointment as we rambled twenty-six miles further on from Viewpoint to my claim.

"My nearest neighbors, a family six miles away, helped me build my shack.

Mrs. Frances H. Whitehead and Her "Shack" on Her Christmas Lake Valley Claim.

A well digger was found and the water problem settled. Soon I was quite comfortably housed under my own roof.

"After that the hardest part began—staying there. I went to work to keep from getting lonesome. The first summer I cleared 22 acres of sage brush with my own hands and put in a crop of rye. It came up beautifully—and made an excellent meal for a multitude of jack rabbits which swooped down on it in spite of volleys from my shotgun. I lost my rye crop. I planted a garden near the shack. A herd of cattle stampeded one night and trampled it in the ground.

"That was rather discouraging. The money question was serious. The war has brought up the price on coyote and wildcat pelts, so I turned trapper for profit. It seemed astounding that I could shoot and trap as many as I did. I cured the pelts and made a tidy sum of money.

"I managed to get quite a flock of chickens and raised a number of sheep from two strays given me by a herdsman who considered them worthless. So I didn't do so badly after all.

"Christmas Lake Valley is far off the road to civilization these days, but sooner or later a railroad will come, and we folk in the desert will get our reward for being there first. Almost everything nowadays depends on getting in ahead of the crowd.

"I have been making a careful study of dry farming, and this year, if I can kill those pesky rabbits, I will have a crop of grain. I have almost 80 acres seeded now—did it all myself.

"I don't feel that I have done anything that any other woman with good health could not do. I hardly think I am to be classed as a heroine, for the desert life has its good features. The loneliness is the great objection. You can't realize how it is unless you've tried it and gone 'outside' again.

"After I had been on my claim for fifteen months I went out on a business errand. I slept one night in a hotel with another woman. When the breakfast bell rang, I thought it must be a fire alarm. I jumped out of bed and tried to rouse my roommate. She didn't rouse and as the bell kept ringing, I just dragged her bodily into the hall.

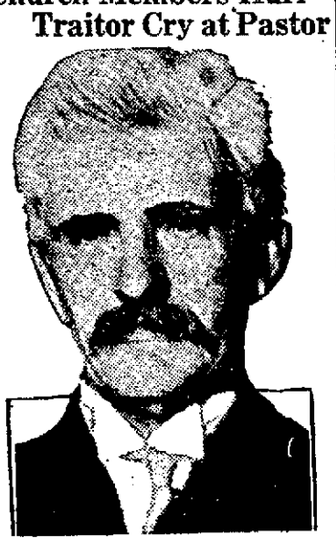
This tiny bottle holds the wonder of wonders. It contains an almost magical drug discovered by a Cincinnati man. It is called freezone. It is a compound made from ether.

Apply a few drops of this freezone upon a tender, aching corn or a hardened callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and loose that you just lift it off with the fingers.

You feel no pain or soreness when applying freezone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the skin.

Just ask in any drug store for a small bottle of freezone. This will cost but a few cents but will positively rid your poor, suffering feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, or the tough calluses on bottom of feet. Genuine freezone has a yellow label. Look for yellow label.—Advertisement.

Church Members Hurl Traitor Cry at Pastor



The Rev. I. F. Tanner, accused of treason by a church congregation because of a sermon he preached recently in Los Angeles, Cal.

Members hurled the charge of "traitor" at him and the majority of the congregation left.

The minister is now seeking court-martial in order to explain his statements. He says his father and older brothers were in the civil war and that he wants a place in the United States army.

"TIZ" GLADDENS SORE, TIRED FEET

THE ALARMIST.

Watch out for this bird. When this feather-brained candle starts to flicker, snuff 'im quick. Put a damper on his yodle while it's a whisper. He's a dangerous boiler with a bum safety valve. When something happens that means tight sitting and cool noodle work this egg rears in the harness and kicks in all colors, causing weak thinkers to follow suit, drop the breakfast pancake and start running, not knowing where they're ankling, but ten time out of nine right in the wrong direction. The alarmist is worse than a horse in a barn fire, because the horse is chalked up as not knowing any better. In these war times the alarmist's act is to yell "Fire!" in a packed house. He's more deadly than the danger. So when war cinders are floating keep ice on the brow, lasso the alarmist, pull his emergency brake, spike it, then chuck chloroform under his beek and meet the danger with clear lubricating oil in your think mechanism.

To Prevent Old Age Coming Too Soon!

"Toxic poisons in the blood are thrown out by the kidneys. The kidneys act as filters for such products. If we wish to prevent old age coming too soon and increase our chances for a long life, we should drink plenty of pure water and take a little Anuric," says the world-famed Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y.

When suffering from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired worn-out feeling, the simple way to overcome these disorders is merely to obtain a little Anuric (double strength) from your nearest druggist and you will quickly notice the grand results. You will find it many times more potent than lithia, and that it dissolves uric acid almost as hot water does sugar.

ADVICE TO WOMEN.

New Albany, Ind.—"I had been suffering from woman's trouble for several years. Have used several patent medicines which seemed to do me no good. At times I would lose consciousness and fall over on the floor I suffered so. I tried several doctors but they did not do me any good — they would only relieve me for the time being. My husband's mother told me about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I took several bottles of it and am glad to say that I am now sound and well. I certainly think it is a great medicine and recommend it to anyone suffering as I did."—Mrs. Charles E. Welch, 414 W. 6th St.

WHEAT MAKES JUMP OF EIGHTEEN CENTS

Wheat started a jump of 18c here Monday morning, landing once more above the $3 mark. The price here as it now stands is $3.02 and $3.04 per bushel. Changes have not been made in flour prices, since most of the dealers had not reduced their prices with the recent drop in the wheat quotations.

Receipts remained in the "fair" class here on the opening day of the week. Twenty-five loads were weighed at the city scales, with fourteen of them hay, which dropped in price. The figures paid were $17.50@18.50, this being from 50c to $1.50 lower than Saturday's prices.

Six loads of corn brought $1.61@1.70 per bushel, while five loads of oats were taken at 73@75c.

Speculation in Imperial Grain is Practically Eliminated.

Chicago, May 21.—Wheat was deposed today as the king of the grain trade. Instead, the plebian cereal oats took first place in the amount of grain business transacted on the board of trade. So decided was the change that the dealings in oats were transferred to the big pit from which until today the quotations went out that largely determined the price of breadstuffs throughout the world. After opening 3c to 10c lower, with July at $2.30 and September at $2.14, wheat prices rallied to nearly Saturday's finish but then underwent a fresh sag to about 3c or 4c beneath that level.

Lowness of prices, lack of restrictions on trading and the magnitude of recent export dealings all helped to widen out the business in oats. Advances, however, hardly exceeded 1c, with July inclined to steady at 68c.

WALL STREET OPENS WEEK WITH ADVANCE

Industrials and War Issues Lead to Way to Big Trading.

New York, May 21.—The week on the stock exchange opened with a resumption of the recent advance, industrials and war issues again leading. United States Steel was conspicuous for its rise of two points to the new current maximum of 124⅜. Other stocks of the same class gained one to two points in the first half hour's operations. Shippings rallied from last week's setback and important rails made fractional gains. Specialties and utilities were featured by Industrial Acohol and Ohio Gas at advances of two to three points. Aside from a further moderate decline in Denver and Rio Grande preferred there were virtually no exceptions to the higher trend.

Metals, oils and sugars joined in the broad trading of the first hour. The turnover of that period aggregated almost 300,000 shares, of which U. S. Steel supplied about 30 per cent. Short covering and fresh buying fully offset profit taking. A temporary lull and moderate recessions in leaders proved to be in the nature of a breathing spell, prices mounting higher towards midday. Equipments and associated specialties continued to dominate the market. Another reversal in motors and accessories and the heaviness of People's Gas and United Fruit exerted little adverse effect. Bonds were firm.

Eugene, Ore., May 18.—Eating is the least important feature in getting an education. The less you eat the better your brain works.

FRED COLEY.

Fred Coley, minister-to-be, has evolved this entertaining information during three years of actual experience as a student in the University of Oregon and the Eugene Bible school.

The high cost of living has no terrors for Coley. He has been doing so well on next to nothing at all during his college career he has decided that food is a minor requisite in man's welfare.

In spite of his limited menu, Coley is no anaemic. He stands five feet, ten inches, weighs 167 pounds and has the appearance of a well-fed athlete. So keen are his mental faculties, as a result of his eating system, that he easily keeps a high rank in his studies and on Sundays "supplies" for pastors in small towns near Eugene.

His daily rations have about this range: Breakfast—An apple and a glass of milk. Lunch—Two potatoes and a glass of buttermilk. Dinner—Macaroni, rice and an apple.

He buys his food in quantities, securing a price cut. Each spring he plants a garden to supply new vegetables for his table. Cabbages, turnips, carrots and such, he buys to add variety.

"When I could buy bread three loaves for a dime, I ate it," said Coley, "but now that the price has gone up, I usually do without bread. I boil wheat, salt it a little and make hominy. I never eat meat. Cheese is also too expensive. I boil my macaroni, salt it and eat it like a cereal.

"I manage to get along quite satisfactorily. I know my food system aids my mental development. When I first started to school I worked at a place where I got rich food. I did not study as well as I do now. I could not concentrate.

"It is easier to study when I am a little hungry or have not eaten too much. I enjoy meat, pie and cake, but I have become accustomed to my fare and never miss the things I do without."

B. J. GRISWOLD

Never in the history of Fort Wayne has the word "home" meant so much as it does today. With the minds of thousands centered upon the production of vegetables and grains to meet, in a unique way, the demands of the hour, every home in Fort Wayne has risen in untold value in the mind of the man who has any degree of appreciation of his possession. Sorry, indeed, is the condition of him who has every opportunity and the means to own a home and who still lives in a rented place with no garden of his own, no place he can refer to truly as "home."

The story is told of one man employed in a Fort Wayne manufacturing plant, who became so wrapped up in the beauties of his own back yard that his fellow-employes were not allowed to remain in ignorance of the man's pride. Evening after evening—even before the hands of the clock were turned forward—he spent his spare time in the back yard improving it in every way and directing the growth of every green thing which had been placed there by his own hands. In the meantime, the men in the shop became interested in the description of that back yard, and one of the number decided to take a look at it and gain some pointers on how to improve his own place. So, one evening, he took the time to make the visit. The owner, full of enthusiasm, explained this feature and that, described in detail how this result was accomplished and just what knowledge of soil and planting conditions were necessary to reach certain ends. The owner of the home, surrounded by a happy family, explained eloquently many features of his back-yard gardening and other interesting work which he had done about his home.

The next day, one of the other men employed in the factory said to his friends who had made the visit of the evening before: "Well, I suppose Brown has got a great back yard—he talks about it so much."

"No," responded the other, "It's just an ordinary, well-kept yard. He has his house in good repair and they're a mighty happy family. But as far as the place is concerned, I can't see that it's any better than the ordinary run of good homes of moderate price."

"Well, why the dickens does he keep talking about it, then? I had an idea it was the garden spot of Fort Wayne."

"I've got an idea why it is," responded the other. "Brown is in love with his home simply because he has made it what it is. With his own hands he has planted the trees and the shrubbery. The lawn was made by him. He has learned to love flowers and the care of vegetables. When he looks at the place or any part of it, he can say, 'I did it.' I believe it's just like a mother with her own children. The work, the care, the thought, the trouble and all, make her children more beautiful to her than any other children, although they may be the homeliest, most freckled kids in the whole town. The only way to fall in love with any kind of work is to go at it, and if that work means the adding of beauty or liveableness to the home then the home becomes a thing of growing value as the days and weeks and years go by. I've made up my mind to buy a place, too, and begin to get out of life some of the real joy that Brown does."

Build While You're Young.

The account of the experiences of another man is of interest as a guide and incentive to the young man, even though he has not reached the matrimonial stage of his career. In some way, the subject of the example was induced, some time before his marriage, to buy a lot in a growing neighborhood and to build thereon a moderate-sized home of the modern type. At first it was to him only a house on a plat of ground, and he looked upon it merely as a piece of property for investment. He planned to rent the place for a time and to sell it whenever the right opportunity presented it self. But one day Cupid happened over in his neighborhood and made him a call which changed his entire plans. Immediately the house took on a different appearance. The lot seemed to change magically from a piece of ground to the beginning of a beautiful lawn, with shrubbery, while the rear portion invited immediate attention for development into a vegetable garden with a portion devoted to flowers and shrubbery. He found time from his usual routine of living to spend hours every week on this house which now became a home, and between this time and the day of the wedding his affections were divided between "her" and the home which was to become theirs. With loving care, their hands joined in designing that back yard as well as the front expanse of grass and shrubbery. The home—now that it was a real home instead of something for rent and income—was found to need some revision to accommodate their individual ideas, and these were made in accordance with those ideas, so that they, themselves, were soon a part of the place which now reflected their personality. The weeks brought the time of the wedding, and then all memories of the "house" faded and the real home blossomed into its real fullness. The story of those early months and years, as the husband and wife turned from their early individual courses of entertainment—much of it representing wasted time—is one of the development of the home in its every interest. Said the man one day:

"I see so many young fellows these days doing just as I used to do—try to find amusement here, there and everywhere, blinded to the fact that the most profitable entertainment a man can gain is to be found in the development of his own home. My advice to every one of them is to buy a home and do it now. Home meant so much to me at the time we were married that I didn't think it could take on an added value; but since the children came there is an element about it that never before came in to show me the true value of a home. The family that lives in a rented house has been robbed of the true joy of living, and I'm everlastingly grateful to the real estate man who turned my mind toward the right thing to do."

Today the real estate men of Fort Wayne are asking every citizen of Fort Wayne who does not own a home to do it now. There are many reasons why it should be done now. Lumber has not advanced in price like steel or the building materials used in large commercial structures—only about $10 per thousand feet—but there's no telling what the future has in store for those who may choose to delay indefinitely the ownership of a home.

LODGE NOTES

A large class of candidates was initiated by Fort Wayne lodge, Moose-heart Legion of the World, Sunday afternoon, after which it was decided that the present initiation fee should remain in force for sixty days and during which time a membership campaign of the entire district would be held.

Reports of the delegates to the recent state encampment of the Indiana G. A. R. were made Saturday afternoon at the regular meeting of Lawton-Wayne post, No. 271. Attention was called to the fact that in addition to the election of Judge Samuel M. Hench to the office of department commander, Fort Wayne has furnished five department officers. They are Col. D. N. Foster, who served as department commander some years ago; Dr. John J. Ogle and B. W. Skelton, who served as senior vice commander and Captain W. A. Kelsey and Amos Walter as department junior vice commander.

ADDITIONAL DEATHS

CLEARY.

Mrs. Johanna Cleary, aged 83 years, died Monday morning at the home of her daughter, 229 East Woodland avenue. She was the widow of Patrick Cleary, who died in Ireland thirty years ago. The deceased had been a patient in the St. Rochus hospital for nearly six years.

Mrs. Cleary was born and reared in Watterford county, Ireland. She came to America when she was 57 years old, and came directly to Allen county, where she has lived ever since. She was one of the old members of the St. Patrick's church. Surviving are three sons, John, Edward and Dennis Cleary, and one daughter, Mrs. P. J. Oddou, all of this city. Funeral announcement later.

LAWRENS FUNERAL HELD.

The funeral of Godfrey Lawrens, who dropped dead in the office of Dr. Macbeth last week, was held Saturday afternoon from the chapel of Chalfant & Egley, with the Rev. Neal, of the First M. E. church officiating. Interment was made at Lindenwood. The home of the deceased was at St. John's. Surviving are the widow and a daughter, 5 years old, two brothers-in-law, Thomas F. Collins, of Dunfee, and Clyde Collins, of this city. Mrs. George Craw, of the Portland apartments, is a sister of the widow. Lawrens was a member of Cedar camp No. 1, Modern Woodmen of the World, of Columbus, O.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Schele.—Funeral services for Howard E. Schele will be held Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the residence, 1712 East Wayne street, and at 9:00 o'clock from the Cathedral. Interment in the Catholic cemetery.

Cohn.—Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Cohn will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence. Interment at Lindenwood. Auto funeral.

Athens, May 21.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Devoted exclusively to the use of the British, Russian, Serbian, Belgian and Rumanian legations which withdrew from Athens, a vessel anchored at a point half an hour's sail from Piraeus, in the direction of Salamis, fulfils a novel purpose as a diplomatic ship. "His Majesty's Legation E-620" reads the giant metal sign attached to her hull, and round her foremast-top there clings a Union Jack, bearing in its center the British royal arms surrounded by a wreath.

The ministers and their staffs have been on board this vessel for more than ninety days. They boarded it at Piraeus when the entente ministers had delivered their ultimatum to King Constantine's government last December and had to leave Athens till full reparation had been given. After a short stay in Piraeus harbor, the E-620 sailed out toward Salamis and has been there ever since.

Never, perhaps in the whole course of diplomacy has there been such competitions with Noah or such diplomatic life as is lived on board the E-620. When the ministers quitted Athens the French envoy boarded a French cruiser, and the Italian minister also had a cruiser at his disposal, but E-620 had to house all the remaining legations. And a legation means not only minister, counselor, attaches and secretaries, but also their wives and families and a large body of secretaries and councilors, attendants, stewards, sailors, signalmen and the humbler members of a diplomatic establishment.

The central saloon is the most important part of the ship for it receives almost everyone who comes on board. By some secret of construction all gangways, passages, staircases, appear to lead into it, and the traffic across the breadth of the vessel passes through it.

Difficult and important work has been carried on in this room. In the days of the Greek crisis, round the dark table in the far right corner were the ministers of Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy, Belgium, Rumania and Serbia, in deep conference; at the table beside them were the military attaches, plunged in papers; facing the ministers, across the saloon, round another table, debated tired-looking commercial and shipping authorities; from the tables in the center rose the incessant batter and rasp of massed typewriters of the secretaries.

In all this was a medley of languages and amid the confusion of murmurs and continuous noise a woman or two ever seemed to be seated in the foreground, knitting or doing some unending piece of embroidery, looking across quizzically at the statesmen from time to time, as though to say, "Well, well, this is all very important and triumphant, of course, but it is we women who watch over you through it all and keep the world trim."

Communication is kept up with Athens, the diplomatists going back and forth in motorboats and hoping for the day when they will be able to return to shore life.

Mrs. Edith Cain Attempts Suicide When He Threatened to Enlist.

Mrs. Edith Cain attempted to commit suicide Sunday afternoon, when her husband said he was going to war. She slashed her left wrist with a sharp knife. For a time it was thought that she might bleed to death. She was removed to the St. Josepuh hospital. Later she was taken to police headquarters on an intoxication charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Cain quarreled, while seated at a table in the Fort Wayne restaurant, 1501 Calhoun street. When the husband attempted to gain a vantage by threatening to face the German cannons his wife tried to take her life. She had been drinking heavily, police were told. She was released from the drunk charge on Monday.

Used a Razor.

George Williams, colored, who lives in the rolling mill district, is in the St. Joseph hospital with a long cut across his abdomen as the result of an altercation with Henry Smith, colored, Sunday night. Smith is alleged to have cut Williams with a razor when Williams objected to the attentions which Smith paid to a woman in the company. Smith is held under $500 bond on a charge of assault and battery, with intent to kill. The case will be tried on Friday, when conditions of Williams is fully understood.

Attracted Attention.

Alvin McKinnis, living in the 900 block on Herman street, caused much excitement in his immediate neighborhood Saturday afternoon and moved a woman living near his house to send in a riot call. Police found the street near the house lined with women, who had been attracted from their homes by the vocal disturbance hoisted by McKinnis.

It is alleged that the man drove his wife fro mhome. She fled to the house of a neighbor. McKinnis started in search for her. He announced his mission in stentorian tones. He was fined $10 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge.

Tore His Shirt.

Peter Craig grew boisterous in the saloon at the corner of Gay and Hayden streets Saturday night, when three Italians tore o ffhis shirt, it is stated. The bartender in the saloon called for police when the fray was under way. Craig opposed attentions of the officers. He was fined $1 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge Monday morning. He is said to be the brother of Arthur Craig, the man who escaped form the parole officer last Friday when being conducted to the Jeffersonville reformatory after pleading guilty to stealing $210 from the Kaough Coal company.

Wanted the Knife.

Minnie Cannon, colored, was staying with a man named McGee at 2615 Savannah street last week. They were supposed to be man and wife. They fought on Saturday, it is alleged. The woman fled. Later she returned to obtain possession of the knife. Police were called by the colored occupants of the house. Police say that they found much blood on the floor where the struggle between the pair had taken place. Minnie Cannon was locked up on a drunk charge. The man could not be found. The woman was released Monday.

Bright Headlights.

Joe Coboney, jitney driver, pleaded guilty to a charge of displaying bright headlights. He was arrested Saturday night at the corner of Calhoun and Washington streets. Police testified that his lights throw a glare as far as Lewis street. He was fined $5 and costs.

Other Police Court Cases.

Commodore Keek, charged with intoxication, wanted to show Judge Kerr that he had signed the temperance pledge.

"You don't need a pledge," said the judge. "You need to quit soaking your hide with booze." Keek was discharged.

Ed Scott, 1415 Clinton street, took a walk Sunday morning. He wandered along the railroad tracks. He was accompanied by a whisky bottle. Police were afraid he would stumble in front of a train. He was fined $5 and costs on a drunk charge Monday morning.

Cutting off curls of little girls, trying to put his false teeth in their mouths, hugging the children, who played about his concession stand, in Weisser park, brought a change of occupation to Henry Lauer, 42, who came to Fort Wayne from Wabash to operate the refreshment booth in the park. Lauer was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 180 days at the state farm, by Judge Kerr, in police court, Monday morning on a charge of assault and battery.

Women living in the neighborhood of Weisser park notified the police on Saturday of Lauer's misconduct towards small girls. Detective Sergeant Peter Junk was sent to investigate the case. He learned that Lauer had cut off one of the prettiest curls of a little girl, living in the neighborhood. The curl was removed from Louer's packet.

The tent in which Lauer had operated his stand was taken down by the police. The goods which he had secured on credit, was returned to the wholesale establishments. Lauer was held on a disorderly conduct charge, which was afterwards changed to assault and battery.

Lauer admitted caressing the children and calling them "My girls," but had no evil intentions, he testified in the hearing, held in the rear room of the basement court.

AUTOMOBILES FOR TRAVELING PURPOSES.

Detroit, Mich., May 14, 1917.

When the government cuts down railroad passenger service to meet the nation's military needs this will, in the opinion of T. J. Toner, director of sales of the Maxwell Motor company, give a tremendous impetus to the use of automobiles for traveling purposes.

"This is not merely a theory I have evolved," said Mr. Toner in his office at Detroit the other day. "Plans to this end are already tentatively under way in the big centers.

"I have been advised by business men in New York, for instance, that they expect to be thrown back on the motor car as almost the only method of making short trips. The automobile, they believe, will soon be an absolute necessity for one who has to do much travelling.

"With a million or two men under arms in this country—being moved frequently from one camp to another or to the seaboard for transportation to Europe—the government will have to commandeer a large part of the railroad passenger facilities. How far this will affect the general public it is impossible to predict, but railroad traveling facilities are going to be greatly reduced.

"The automobile offers the only substitute and I look for its extensive use by men and women who have to go from one city to another and cannot get railroad accommodations.

"If this situation had arisen a few years ago the automobile might not have been equal to the emergency. But great strides have been made in motor car efficiency and no fear of the automobile falling down on the job need be entertained now.

"Just to illustrate motor car dependability today I cite that Maxwell stock car which traveled 22,022 miles at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour, without once stopping the engine.

"Only a few of the fastest trains equal that run-time, and railroad trains have to change engines every few hours. Locomotives can't go 2,200 miles—let alone 22,000—without stopping.

"I might cite, too, Mrs. Miriam Thayer Seeley, professor in the Oregon Agriculture college, who drove her Maxwell across the continent and back—9,700 miles—at an average cost of 1½ cents a mile for gasoline, oil and repairs.

That was 25 per cent less than the lowest railroad fares, 2 cents a mile, which does not include Pullman charges and extras.

"The motor car therefore is faster and cheaper than the train as a passenger conveyance. And not only, in my opinion, will many of the cars now in use be put in this service, but also conditions will greatly stimulate automobile sales.

"The automobile has become, already, a necessity in our American life. War, it appears, is to make it even more so."

Patriotic Council Sends Telegram to Chief of Army Board.

The general committee of the Fort Wayne Council of Patriotic Service expressed itself as practically unanimous in the desire to bring a military training camp to Fort Wayne at a meeting held at the Commercial club Saturday night. President William H. Schelman, at the request of the committee, sent a telegram to Edward M. Lewis, chairman of the army board, whose associates are Colonel Orin R. Meyers, of the cavalry; Major E. K. Rufner, chief medical officer of the officers' training camp at Indianapolis; Captain F. B. Willy, of the engineers corps, and Captain Perry M. Shepard, of the quartermasters' corps. The telegram outlines the advantages which Fort Wayne enjoys as a location for the camp, and invited the officers to visit the city for an inspection.

Announcement Extraordinary on Pianos and Player-Pianos

THE United States Government has a War Tax Bill under consideration. This bill is now receiving its final touches by Congress--and in all likelihood, will become a law within the next two weeks.

This bill provides as follows: (this is the exact language)

(b) "upon all musical instruments sold by the manufacturer, producer or importer, for more than $10 each, and upon pianos, players, phonographs, graphophones, talking machines and records used in connection with any musical instrument, piano-player, graphophone, phonograph or talking machine sold by the manufacturer, producer, or importer, a tax equivalent to 5 per centum of the price for which so sold."

The bill further provides: (in exact language)

"That upon all the articles enumerated in subdivision (B) which are on the day this act is passed held by other than the manufacturer, producer or importer, and intended for sale, there shall be levied, assessed, collected and paid, a tax equivalent to 5 per centum of the price for which sold by the manufacturer, producer, or importer. This tax shall be paid by the person, corporation, partnership, or association so holding such articles."

This means, in plain language, that all pianos and player-pianos offered for sale will be taxed 5 per cent., whether the instruments are now in our hands or whether they are bought from manufacturers after the bill is passed.

It means that pianos and player-pianos will cost US 5 per cent more than they now cost on account of the tax, and in consequence, must sell for 5 per cent more.

This is not all.
The bill provides for from 20 to 30 per cent increased duty on tuning pins, ivory, felts, varnish gums, shellac, rubber and other imported raw materials entering into the manufacture of pianos.

Thus the proposed 5 per cent tax and the increased cost of almost every item entering into piano construction, will immediately increase the selling price of pianos and player-pianos from $50 to over $100 each, and this applies alike to pianos, player-pianos and grands.

This advertisement is published in the interest of the many persons who are known to us as having in mind to purchase a piano within the next few months. For only those who buy a piano NOW, before the proposed bill becomes a law, can hope to get the advantage of the present low prices, which are, on the whole, the lowest ever known to the American piano industry.

ANGOLA IS VISITED BY TERRIFIC HAIL STORM

[Special to The Sentinel.]

Angola, Ind., May 21.—Hail stones, many of them said to measure nine inches around, fell here Saturday about midnight during the worst hail storm that ever visited this section, doing damage estimated at several thousand dollars. Many roofs were totally destroyed, practically all skylights in the city were broken, together with hundreds of window panes. Farmers living in the path of the storm report considerable damage to growing crops.

The skylights in the Freeman and Virgil Cline photograph galleries were badly shattered, as was a skylight in the J. A. Croxton building occupied by the Love cigar factory. The roof on the Waller building was completely ruined.

THE OLD WAY

THE NEW WAY

Industrious women buckle down bravely to the task of cleaning silver, like Mother used to clean it. They just hate the task, which takes hours, musses up the kitchen and plays havoc with their hands.

At last the silver is finished, but not well cleaned. It is the best they can do. The tarnish in crevices and other places hard to reach is not removed. The paste and powder is packed in engravings and embossings like a white grey cement. They know it should not be thus, but they cannot do any better. They have rubbed away all the tarnished silver which they could get at, and a scratched, shiny surface is the only reward for their efforts.

POOR GIRLS!
POOR HANDS!
POOR SILVER!

This lady actually likes to clean silver.
She places the Lightning Silver-Cleaner into a solution of table salt and baking soda. "The solution is the same as she often uses for cooking." Then silver is placed upon the wire in a position that it is covered by the solution.

The Lightning Silver-Cleaner produces an electric energy, which purifies the silver and removes the tarnish from every single piece, out of crevices, from inside of hollow-ware, in fact, all the tarnish in a minute or two without scratching or rubbing. The silver is not abused and rubbed off, and looks brighter, whiter and more silvery than ever.

For your sake and for the sake of your silver use
